Section 1 - Registrant's Business and Operations

Item 1.01 Entry into a Material Definitive Agreement

On December 8, 2015, Yum! Brands, Inc. (“Yum”) executed a credit agreement providing for an unsecured term loan facility (the “Short-Term Credit Facility”) in an amount up to $1.50 billion. Goldman Sachs Bank USA, J.P. Morgan Securities LLC and Citigroup Global Markets Inc. arranged the Short-Term Credit Facility and Goldman Sachs Bank USA will serve as Administrative Agent for the Short-Term Credit Facility.

Under the terms of the Short-Term Credit Facility, Yum may borrow up to the full amount of the facility in up to three draws. The interest rate for most borrowings under the Short-Term Credit Facility ranges from 1.00% to 1.75% over the London interbank offered rate for specified interest periods based upon the credit rating for Yum’s senior revolving credit facility, with an expected initial margin of 1.25%. Interest on any outstanding borrowings under the Short-Term Credit Facility is payable at least quarterly. The Short-Term Credit Facility matures on June 8, 2016, with an option for Yum to extend maturity for an additional three months.

The Short-Term Credit Facility is unconditionally guaranteed by Yum’s principal domestic subsidiaries and contains financial covenants relating to the maintenance of leverage and fixed charge coverage ratios. The documentation for the Short-Term Credit Facility also contains affirmative and negative covenants including, among other things, limitations on certain additional liens and subsidiary indebtedness, and customary events of default, including (subject to certain materiality thresholds and grace periods) payment default, failure to comply with covenants, material inaccuracy of representation or warranty, bankruptcy or insolvency proceedings, change of control, certain material ERISA events and cross-acceleration in respect of other material debt agreements.

The representations and warranties, covenants and events of default governing the Short-Term Credit Facility, including the covenants and events of default and described above, are substantially the same as the corresponding provisions governing Yum’s existing revolving credit facility. The Short-Term Credit Facility will be filed as an exhibit to our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ending December 26, 2015.
