Report of the Compensation and Stock Committee

The Compensation and Stock Committee (the Compensation Committee) has furnished the following report on compensation for fiscal year 2006 for the Chief Executive Officer and the other executive officers listed on the Summary Compensation Table (the Named Executive Officers) of this report. The Compensation Committee is composed of independent members of the Board of Directors. The primary mission of the Compensation Committee is to assist the Board of Directors in fulfilling its oversight responsibilities relating to the compensation of the company's senior executives. In that regard, the Compensation Committee establishes executive compensation policies and administers the company's executive compensation programs, including the compensation of the Named Executive Officers. The Compensation Committee is also responsible for administering the company's incentive compensation as well as equity-based incentive plans.

The Compensation Committee has retained an independent consulting firm, Towers Perrin, to assist it in fulfilling its responsibilities. The independent consultant is engaged by, and reports to, the Compensation Committee. In 2006, the independent consultant was engaged for the purpose of conducting a review of the competitiveness of the executive compensation program for members of MedImmune's executive management team, presenting data on industry compensation trends, specific data relative to each member of senior management and compiling tally sheets that provided the Compensation Committee with detailed information on the total compensation and benefits provided to the Named Executive Officers.

The Compensation Committee has reviewed and discussed the Compensation Discussion and Analysis section provided below. Based on such review and discussions with the independent consultant and the company's management, the Compensation Committee has recommended to the Board of Directors that the Compensation Discussion and Analysis should be included in this Amendment No. 1 to MedImmune's annual report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2006.

Compensation Discussion and Analysis

Overall Executive Compensation Objectives

MedImmune has five key objectives for its executive compensation program:

- Attracting, motivating and retaining talented executives with significant industry experience by targeting total compensation opportunities at the 50th percentile of our comparator groups, with an opportunity to earn above the 50th percentile based on company and individual performance;
- Delivering the majority of senior executives' compensation through performance-based pay, no significant perquisites and limited use of supplemental executive benefits;
- Emphasizing long-term equity awards to link compensation to shareholder returns as evidenced by a compensation program in which long-term equity represents more than 70% of the annual compensation opportunity for senior executives;
- Providing performance-based annual incentive awards tied to the successful progress toward and achievement of the company's long-term strategic objectives, individual objectives and the attainment of annual goals; and
- Maintaining a program that supports the company's core values, is easy for participants to understand and does not present unusual complexities to administer.

Peer Group and Targeted Competitiveness

In order to attract and retain a highly skilled executive team, the Compensation Committee believes that MedImmune's compensation practices must remain competitive with those of other employers for which MedImmune competes for talent. In evaluating compensation levels, the Compensation Committee relies on compensation data from two peer groups: (i) leading biotechnology companies (the "Top Biotech" peers) and (ii) a broader group of biotechnology, pharmaceutical and life sciences companies (the "All Bio/Pharma" sample). The Top Biotech peers include both "core" peers which are the largest biotech companies in terms of market capitalization and sales, and "emerging" peers which are other biotech companies, which over time are expected to increasingly compete with us for executive talent. For 2006,

- The "core" peers were: Amgen Inc., Genentech, Inc., Genzyme Corporation, Biogen Idec Inc., Gilead Sciences, Inc., Shire PLC, Cephalon, Inc., Sepracor Inc., Millennium Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Celgene Corporation, and Imclone Systems Inc.
- The "emerging" peers were: PDL Biopharma, Inc., OSI Pharmaceuticals, Inc., Alkermes, Inc., Vertex Pharmaceuticals Inc., Amylin Pharmaceuticals, Inc., and Human Genome Sciences, Inc.

Additionally, we collect data from the "All Bio/Pharma" sample, which included forty-nine biotechnology, pharmaceutical and life sciences companies. The "All Bio/Pharma" sample provides us with perspective on compensation levels and trends beyond the direct biotechnology industry, including perspective on levels and trends among pharmaceutical companies against which MedImmune periodically competes for executive talent.

The Compensation Committee targets the median pay levels of the corresponding positions as a guideline for setting base salaries, annual incentives and equity-based long-term incentives. To the extent information about a specific position is not disclosed by peers or proxy data is insufficient, survey data is acquired by the Compensation Committee as an alternative tool for evaluating levels of executive compensation.

Elements of the Compensation Program

Base Salary

We choose to pay base salaries based on competitive practice and to provide executives with an annual income based on the services they provide to the company. Base salaries are generally targeted at the median of the peer groups identified above. However, actual base salary levels may be adjusted above or below the median based on a variety of factors, including an executive's past performance and supply and demand for the executive's position in light of the skills required to carry out the job function. Additionally, MedImmune believes that individual performance of senior executives can have significant impact on overall company results. Therefore, when making salary increase decisions, the Compensation Committee considers both individual performance and the company's overall results for the prior year in relation to our specified goals and objectives. While there is no formula to determine the magnitude of salary increases, both individual and overall company performance factor explicitly into salary increase decisions (in addition to the peer compensation and economic data).

Performance-based Annual Incentive Awards

We choose to pay performance-based annual incentive awards in order to motivate and reward executive officers for the achievement of MedImmune's strategic and financial goals. MedImmune establishes these performance-based incentive award targets, expressed as a percentage of salary, that range from 40% to 80% for senior executives and 100% for the Chief Executive Officer. The performance-based incentive award targets are set based on median peer group data. Actual awards can be above or below the target incentive award opportunity, based on the extent to which MedImmune achieves its performance objectives and the individual executive achieves his or her personal goals.

For the Chief Executive Officer, 60% of the target incentive opportunity is based on overall company results and the remainder 40% is based on individual performance; for the other Named Executive Officers, 40% to 50% of the target incentive opportunity is based on overall company results with the remainder based on individual performance. For the 2007 fiscal year, the weight given to company results to determine target incentive will be increased to 70% for the Chief Executive Officer and 50% to 60% for the other Named Executive Officers.

In terms of company goals used in the annual incentive plan, MedImmune's philosophy is that progress against long-term strategic goals is the most critical objective for the company and its executive officers. Thus, performance against long-term strategic goals receives the greatest weight, although there is still significant weighting on annual financial goals such as sales growth, expense management and earnings performance. The long-term strategic focus of the company is generally represented by the following categories of objectives:

- Commercial Objectives: increasing product sales, improving margins, identifying markets and expanding capabilities, and improving manufacturing, distribution and supply chains for marketed products;
- Research & Development (R&D) Objectives: achieving regulatory and development milestones for critical late-stage clinical programs, initiating new preclinical and clinical studies, expanding strategic alliances, and expanding and securing intellectual property protection; and
- Infrastructure and Organizational Objectives: streamlining business processes to create sustainability and scalability, managing capital investments, operational budgets and corporate expansion, including human resource and capital asset growth.

More specifically, the annual objectives that MedImmune focused on for fiscal 2006 to support the strategic direction of the company included:

- Supporting the growth of Synagis, Ethyol, FluMist and CytoGam;
- Developing FluMist as a better influenza vaccine;
- Developing Numax as a differentiated successor to Synagis;
- Bringing two additional products to market by 2010;
- Elevating science and evolving R&D governance; and
- Continuing to develop our people, processes and culture.

Payout amounts are based on the Compensation Committee's final evaluation of the company's overall progress against these specified long-term strategic goals, key metrics and individual executives' contributions to that progress. Each year, the evaluation process is facilitated through the use of a company rating scorecard. Early in the year, management consults with the Compensation Committee to establish the goals and metrics identified in the scorecard. At year-end, progress against the pre-established scorecard is evaluated and approved by the Compensation Committee.

While evaluating performance, the Compensation Committee took into consideration the factors and results outlined below prior to awarding 2006 performance-based incentive awards. Highlights included:

- Progress against the pre-established goals articulated in the company scorecard.
- Supporting continued growth of marketed products

Upgraded and strengthened the sales and marketing infrastructure for Synagis; commercial execution - successfully transitioned promotional efforts from the Ross Products Division of Abbott Laboratories to MedImmune, achieved $300 million milestone of international end user Synagis sales, initiated end-to-end optimization of supply chain, and successfully completed new Cytogam manufacturing licensure

- Developing Numax as a differentiated successor to Synagis

Met targets focused on delivering a differentiated product and continued optimization of the product development process

- Developing FluMist as a better flu vaccine

Secured cell culture contract with the United States Department of Health & Human Services, substantially met targets focused on delivering US launch in 2007, and submitted sBLA for expanded indication

- Bringing two additional products to market by 2010

Merck's human papillomavirus vaccine (HPV) was approved by the Food and Drug Administration in June 2006, utilizing MedImmune's virus-like particle technology

Successfully managed the MedImmune Ventures portfolio, strategically targeted new investments and liquidated certain existing investments, strategically invested in facilities, and effectively managed product portfolio through in-licensing new programs and out-licensing existing programs

- Elevating science and evolving R&D governance

Implemented a portfolio management strategy and new evaluation processes, and enhanced R&D governance infrastructure through re-staffing/restructuring and redefining roles internally

- Developing people, process and culture

Significant strides implemented strategies targeting the development of enterprise-wide talent, initiated revamp of publications process and Phase 4 design and execution processes

- Key Metrics/Targets
- Grow revenue to $1.4 billion actual revenue was $1.3 billion
- Achieve diluted earnings per share (excluding share-based compensation) of $0.40 - 0.50 actual diluted earnings per share (excluding share-based compensation) was $0.30
- Manage capital investment of $175 million actual capital investment was $133 million
- Manage headcount growth to 8-10% - actual headcount growth was 7%

Product sales volume results for the 2005/2006 RSV (respiratory syncytial virus) season as reported at mid-year were approximately 92% of the target plan. As a result, commission payouts to the field sales force employees were reduced by approximately 50% on average as compared to the target. In addition, several sales managers received no commission payout following the 2005/2006 RSV season. Further, several actions were taken by executive management to address the shortfall and reposition the company's sales and marketing organization, including leadership and organizational changes. Where appropriate, 2006 performance-based incentive award payouts to the Named Executive Officers also reflect a discount to target.

Two additional items to note in relation to 2006 performance relate to: (i) the substantially better than expected returns generated by the MedImmune Ventures portfolio in 2006, and (ii) the decisions made by our Board of Directors to execute several discretionary business development transactions which negatively impacted our earnings per share. The alliances we entered into with Infinity Pharmaceuticals, Inc. and BioWa, Inc. alone resulted in up-front expenditures of $85 million, thereby lowering our diluted earnings per share.

Based on these accomplishments and factors, we awarded performance-based incentive awards to the Named Executive Officers as follows:

Name	Target Award as a % of Base	Actual Payout	Actual Payout as a % of Target Award
David M. Mott	100 %	$ 650,000	62 %
Lota S. Zoth	40 %	$ 140,000	100 %
James F. Young, Ph.D.	80 %	$ 400,000	83 %
Wayne T. Hockmeyer, Ph.D.	60 %	$ 340,000	99 %
Edward M. Connor, M.D.	60 %	$ 250,000	95 %

Annual objectives to evaluate the performance of the company's executives were established in early 2007 to further the company's progress against its long-term strategic goals. Highlights include:

- Deliver on commercial commitments
- Achieve sales goals for marketed products
- Advance expansion efforts for the influenza vaccine franchise
- Prepare for the launch of Numax

- Achieve financial objectives
- Total revenues of $1.5 billion
- Gross profit of 74%
- Pre-tax income of $340-$360 million
- Earnings per share (excluding share-based compensation) of $0.90-95
- Cash flows from operations of $200-250 million
- Enhance the value of product candidate portfolio
- Strengthen late stage pipeline and advance key programs through pipeline
- Develop strategy to ensure pipeline delivers long-term revenue growth for the enterprise
- Enhance enterprise value through operational excellence
- Reduce cost of goods sold
- Enhance yields
- Optimize sales and marketing processes
- Build organizational capabilities
- Enhance talent management strategies enterprise wide
- Identify and pursue enabling infrastructure technologies

Stock Options

The Compensation Committee has evaluated a variety of long-term incentive vehicles and has determined that stock options continue to be the long-term equity vehicle that best aligns executive officers' interests with long-term shareholder value creation. With stock options, executives do not receive any reward unless the stock price increases above the exercise price of the option at the time it is granted. Additionally, due to the imposition of a four-year ratable vesting requirement, executives must remain employed by the company through the four-year vesting period in order to fully realize any option gains. The Compensation Committee will continue to monitor the appropriateness of stock options as the sole long-term incentive vehicle in light of the cost to the company, changing practices among industry peers, dilution levels, and the company's overall compensation philosophy.

MedImmune's philosophy is to determine the size and eligibility for annual option grants based explicitly on the company's performance in the prior year relative to specified goals and objectives. In addition, in setting grant sizes for individual executives, the company also considers each individual executive's contributions toward the company's goals as well as peer group compensation data.

Annual stock options are generally granted in the first quarter of each year, during the Compensation Committee meeting in which decisions are made with respect to salary increases and incentive award payments for the prior year's performance. All stock options are granted with an exercise price equal to the closing price on the day preceding the grant date. The approval of grants of stock options associated with the hiring or promotion of new executives during the course of the year generally occurs at the next scheduled meeting of the Compensation Committee following such new hire or promotion. The grant date for the stock options granted to the newly hired or promoted executives will be such meeting date of the Compensation Committee. Even if the granting of stock options to newly hired or promoted executives will await the next meeting of the Compensation Committee, the Compensation Committee, in consultation with management, is actively involved in determining the positions, compensation levels and other relevant factors for the newly hired or promoted executives.

Mix of Compensation Elements

Given MedImmune's stated objectives, the company believes that it is necessary to provide a balanced compensation program that includes both current compensation in the form of cash and long-term compensation in the form of equity. Salaries and the annual performance-based incentive award program constitute the current cash component of the program while stock options constitute the long-term, non-cash component of the overall program. No other forms of long-term incentives are awarded.

There is no specific policy with regard to the allocation between current versus long-term and cash versus non-cash compensation. Rather, the compensation mix is primarily a function of targeted competitive positioning on the major elements of each executive's annual compensation opportunity with an appropriate mix of salary, performance-based incentive award and long-term incentives through stock options. Although desired competitive positioning is a primary driver in compensation mix, an executive's mix between current versus long-term compensation can also be driven by internal factors that affect the executive's targeted compensation opportunity. These factors may include results achieved by the executive, future potential and the scope of responsibilities and experience.

For purposes of 2006 compensation to our Named Executive Officers, the mix of current cash compensation (salary and target performance-based incentive award) versus long-term equity compensation (based on the present value of stock options) was approximately as follows:

- Chief Executive Officer: 20% in current cash compensation and 80% in long-term equity compensation
- Other Named Executive Officers: 30% in current cash compensation and 70% in long-term equity compensation

Changes in Compensation Elements

There are several factors that MedImmune evaluates in determining increases or decreases in compensation. These may include, promotions, performance-based increases to salary, compensation trends in the market (such as changes in typical target annual incentive levels or changes in market long-term incentive values), internal considerations such as changes in the executive's responsibilities and actual performance achieved compared to performance targets.

Severance and Change-in-Control Severance Practices

MedImmune has entered into employment agreements with all of the Named Executive Officers as well as other senior officers of the company. Termination payments are provided to these officers under two scenarios: involuntary termination without cause or an involuntary termination following a change-in-control.

The rationale for providing severance benefits under these two scenarios is based on competitive market practice and MedImmune's desire to provide some level of income continuity should an executive's employment be terminated in either of the above circumstances. The company believes that providing for such income continuity results in greater management stability and minimized costs to address unwanted management turnover. Additionally, the company has established termination provisions designed to ensure that executives' interests remain aligned with the interests of shareholders should a potential change-in-control occur.

Specific payment and benefit provisions related to both involuntary termination without cause or following a change-in-control are described in detail in the tables under Potential Payments Upon Termination or Change-in-Control below. However, with regard to selecting our triggering events for payment of benefits upon change-in-control MedImmune has adopted the following philosophy:

- MedImmune believes that executives should receive some level of income continuation. Therefore, upon involuntary termination following a change-in-control, executives would receive continuation of salary and performance-based incentive award for a three-year period, in the case of Mr. Mott, Dr. Hockmeyer and Dr. Young and for a two-year period, in the case of Ms. Zoth and Dr. Connor. Benefits would also be continued for a period commensurate with the salary and performance-based incentive award continuation period, except that in the case of Dr. Hockmeyer, as our Founder, will be entitled to lifetime medical coverage.
- With regard to acceleration of unvested equity, MedImmune's philosophy is that people are a key asset of the firm and broad use of a single trigger vesting would potentially diminish the company's value to a potential acquirer. Therefore, at present, only MedImmune's top three executives (Mr. Mott, Dr. Hockmeyer, and Dr. Young) are eligible to receive automatic acceleration in vesting of unvested equity at the time of a change-in-control. The remaining MedImmune officers with change-in-control severance agreements receive acceleration in vesting of unvested equity only if they are terminated following a change-in-control.

Accounting and Tax Considerations

Accounting and tax issues are explicitly considered in setting compensation policies, especially with regard to MedImmune's choice of long-term incentive types. MedImmune utilizes stock options based partly on the accounting treatment these options receive under FAS 123R. The expense per share granted is determinable at grant date and reflects the expected impact of forfeitures.

In addition to the impact accounting treatment has had in selection of long-term incentive types, MedImmune also regularly quantifies the overall expense arising from the compensation program. With regard to MedImmune's policies on Section 162(m), the Compensation Committee generally seeks to maximize the deductibility of compensation paid to executive officers. However, it also recognizes that the payment of non-deductible compensation under Section 162(m) may at times be in the best interests of the company and therefore the Compensation Committee maintains flexibility to pay compensation that is non-deductible.

Consideration of Compensation from Prior Awards

The Compensation Committee does not explicitly consider compensation realized or potentially realizable from prior compensation awards when setting current year's compensation levels. However, the Compensation Committee engages an independent consultant to compile tally sheets that provide the Compensation Committee with detailed information on the total compensation and benefits provided to MedImmune's Named Executive Officers as well as the value of each executive's equity holdings. Upon the Compensation Committee's request, this information is available for any meeting in which the Compensation Committee makes compensation decisions for individual executives.

Stock Ownership Requirements and Hedging Policies

MedImmune does not currently maintain any formal policy regarding stock ownership or the hedging of economic risk related to such stock ownership.

Role of Executive Officers in the Compensation Process

The Chief Executive Officer and Senior Vice President, Human Resources, prepare compensation recommendations for the Named Executive Officers (other than the Chief Executive Officer) and for the other executive officers of the company and present these recommendations to the Compensation Committee. The compensation package for each of the Chief Executive Officer and the Chairman is determined by the Compensation Committee and approved by the independent members of the Board of Directors.

Policy with Regard to Impact of Financial Restatements on Previously-Awarded Compensation

Currently, we do not have a policy of reclaiming previously-awarded compensation in the event of a financial restatement.

- (1) The base salary earned by each executive during fiscal year 2006.
- (2) Amounts reportable in this column include any cash award that is based on satisfaction of a performance target that is not pre-established and communicated, or the outcome of which is not substantially uncertain. MedImmune did not award any such bonuses in fiscal year 2006.
- (3) The FAS 123R expense recorded for each executive in 2006, including a portion of the FAS 123R expense arising from 2006 grants and any expense recorded in 2006 for prior year s grants.
- (4) The value of all non-equity incentive plan awards earned during the 2006 fiscal year, which includes awards earned under our performance-based annual incentive plan.
- (5) Information reported in this column relates to company contributions to the qualified defined contribution retirement plan for each Named Executive Officer (i.e., the 401(k) plan). We do not provide additional perquisites or supplemental benefits, except in cases of newly hired or transferred executives, in which case we provide reasonable relocation assistance payments. None of the Named Executive Officers were provided such relocation assistance in 2006.

Employment Agreements

We entered into an employment agreement with each of Mr. Mott, Ms. Zoth, Dr. Young and Dr. Connor in December 2005, and with Dr. Hockmeyer in March 2006, that supersede the former agreements with these executive officers. The terms of the employment agreement are for a period of three years in the case of Mr. Mott, Dr. Hockmeyer and Dr. Young and two years in the case of Ms. Zoth and Dr. Connor. Each employment agreement renews automatically for additional one-year terms unless either party provides notice of intent not to renew.

If the executive is terminated within 36 months, in the case of Mr. Mott, Dr. Hockmeyer and Dr. Young, or 24 months, in the case of Ms. Zoth and Dr. Connor, following a change-in-control of MedImmune, he or she will be entitled to receive (1) a severance payment equal to the sum of his or her semi-monthly base salary and the pro-rata performance-based incentive award amount multiplied by 72, in the case of Mr. Mott, Dr. Young and Dr. Hockmeyer, or 48 in the case of Ms. Zoth and Dr. Connor, discounted, in each case, to the present value and (2) continuation of medical benefits coverage following the date of termination for 36 months, in the case of Mr. Mott and Dr. Young, or 24 months, in the case of Ms. Zoth and Dr. Connor. As the Founder of MedImmune, Dr. Hockmeyer is entitled to lifetime medical coverage that would continue upon a change-in-control of MedImmune. In addition, upon a change-in-control of MedImmune, all unvested stock options then held by Mr. Mott, Dr. Hockmeyer and Dr. Young will become immediately exercisable and in the event of a termination of employment within 24 months following a change-in-control of MedImmune, all unvested stock options then held by Ms. Zoth and Dr. Connor will become immediately exercisable.

In the event that any payment under the employment agreement would be subject to the excise tax imposed by Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, the executive will be entitled to receive additional gross-up payments in an amount such that after payment by the executive of all federal, state and local taxes (including any interest or penalties imposed with respect to such taxes), including, without limitation, any income or excise taxes imposed upon the gross-up payments, the executive retains an amount of the gross-up payments equal to any excise tax imposed upon payments made to the executive.

Each employment agreement provides for a base salary of the executive during the term, with such base salary to be reviewed for a possible increase each year by the Compensation Committee. The current base salaries (last adjusted as of February 15, 2007) for the Named Executive Officers currently employed by MedImmune are $1,092,000 for Mr. Mott, $395,000 for Ms. Zoth, $598,000 for Dr. Hockmeyer, $624,000 for Dr. Young and $458,000 for Dr. Connor. Under the employment agreements, each executive has an opportunity to earn an annual non-equity incentive plan compensation upon pre-determined performance standards of MedImmune, is entitled to participate in such employee benefit and fringe benefit plans or programs as are made available from time to time to our similarly situated executives and is eligible for the grant of stock options, as determined in the sole discretion of the Compensation Committee.

The employment agreements all include certain restrictive covenants for our benefit relating to non-disclosure by the executives of our confidential business information, our right to inventions and intellectual property, nonsolicitation of our employees and customers and noncompetition by the executives with our business. In the event that, subsequent to termination of employment, an employee breaches any of the restrictive covenants or directly or indirectly makes any adverse public statement or disclosure with respect to our business or securities, all payments and benefits to which the employee may otherwise be due under these agreements shall immediately terminate and be forfeited.

The form of employment agreements (or the actual agreement, in the case of Dr. Hockmeyer) have been included in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission as referenced by exhibit numbers 10.28, 10.29 and 10.30 of the Exhibit Index to our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2006.

NOTES:

(1) Each Named Executive Officer participates in one non-equity incentive plan: our performance-based annual incentive plan. In Columns C, D, and E of the above table, the first row of data for each executive shows the threshold, target and maximum award under the annual incentive plan. For the Chief Executive Officer, the threshold is equal to 50% of the target award, and the maximum award is equal to 200% of the target award. For the other Named Executive Officers, the threshold is equal to 70% of the target award, and the maximum award is equal to 150% of the target award. The extent to which awards are payable depends upon MedImmune's performance against strategic and financial goals established at the beginning of the fiscal year. Awards were payable following completion of fiscal year 2006.

(2) Each Named Executive Officer receives stock option grants under our long-term incentive plan. The number of stock options granted to each executive is shown in column J of the above table. Column K indicates the exercise price at which each stock option award was granted. MedImmune sets the stock option exercise price equal to the closing price of our common stock on the day prior to the grant date. Stock options become exercisable in equal quarterly installments over a four-year period following the date of grant.

(3) The fair value of stock options that were granted to each Named Executive Officer in 2006 was estimated by using a binomial lattice-based valuation model with the following assumptions: dividend yield of 0%, volatility equal to 31%, interest rate equal to 4.6% and an expected option life as derived from the binomial model of 4.6 years.

NOTES:

(1) Under voluntary termination or in the case of termination for cause, all executives do not receive cash severance or any other payments or benefits contingent on the termination (but may be entitled to any earned base salary and/or accrued and unpaid compensation or benefits up to the date of termination). As our Founder, Dr. Hockmeyer is entitled to lifetime continuation of medical benefits, eligibility for which is not affected by termination under any scenario. Additionally, Dr. Hockmeyer is entitled to administrative support services for a two year period following a voluntary termination. The values of these benefits are reflected in the termination payment tables.

(2) Upon a termination without cause, Mr. Mott and Dr. Young would be entitled to the following payments and benefits: base salary and accrued/unpaid compensation or benefits through date of termination; semi-monthly severance payments totaling two times salary plus two times the greater of the most recent performance-based incentive award paid or the average of the last three awards paid; and continued medical benefits for two years (which applies to the plan in which the executive was participating on the date of termination, if any). Upon a termination without cause, Dr. Hockmeyer would be entitled to the following payments and benefits: base salary and accrued/unpaid compensation or benefits through date of termination; semi-monthly severance payments totaling two times salary plus two times the greater of the most recent performance-based incentive award paid or $300,000; administrative support services for two years following termination; and lifetime medical benefits. (3) Upon a termination following a change-in-control, Mr. Mott and Dr. Young would be entitled to the following payments and benefits: base salary and accrued/unpaid compensation or benefits through date of termination; present value lump sum severance amount equal to three times salary plus three times the greater of the most recent performance-based incentive award paid or the average of the last three awards paid; all outstanding unexercisable options will become exercisable immediately upon the change-in-control; and continued medical benefits for three years (which applies to the plan in which the executive was participating on the date of termination, if any).

If payments and benefits received by the executive are subject to excise tax imposed by Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, the executive would be entitled to an additional gross-up payment such that the executive would retain the same amount, net of all taxes including excise taxes and income taxes imposed on the gross-up payment, that would have been retained had the excise tax not been triggered.

Upon a termination following a change-in-control, Dr. Hockmeyer would be entitled to the following payments and benefits: base salary and accrued/unpaid compensation or benefits through date of termination; present value lump sum severance amount equal to three times salary plus three times the greater of the most recent performance-based incentive award paid or $300,000; all outstanding unexercisable options will become exercisable immediately upon the change-in-control; continued medical benefits for life (which applies to the plan in which he was participating on the date of termination, if any). If payments and benefits received by the executive are subject to excise tax imposed by Section 4999 of the Internal Revenue Code, Dr. Hockmeyer would be entitled to an additional gross-up payment such that he would retain the same amount, net of all taxes including excise taxes and income taxes imposed on the gross-up payment, that would have been retained had the excise tax not been triggered.

Item 13. CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS, AND DIRECTOR INDEPENDENCECertain Relationships and Related Party Transactions

The Board has determined that all members of the Board other than Dr. Hockmeyer and Mr. Mott qualify as independent directors under the Marketplace rules of Nasdaq. Accordingly, each Director who serves on the Compensation and Stock Committee, the Audit Committee and the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee is an independent director under the Nasdaq Marketplace rules. In addition, the Board has determined that each Director who serves on the Audit Committee is independent within the meaning of the rules of the SEC.

We employ two individuals who are deemed to be related persons to our directors or executive officers under the rules of the SEC:

- John T. Hockmeyer, the son of Wayne T. Hockmeyer, Ph.D., has been employed in our sales and marketing group since 1996. John Hockmeyer's total compensation in 2006, inclusive of salary, performance-based incentive award, fair value of stock options at grant date and employer-paid benefits was approximately $191,785.

- Richard L. Heddens, the brother-in-law of James F. Young, Ph.D., has been employed as a sales representative of MedImmune since 2000. Mr. Heddens' total compensation in 2006, inclusive of salary, commissions, fair value of stock options at grant and employer-paid benefits was approximately $133,884.

None of John Hockmeyer or Mr. Heddens are officers of, or perform policy making functions at, the company. The salary, performance-based incentive award, stock options and commissions received by Messrs. Hockmeyer and Heddens is commensurate with amounts paid to our similarly situated employees. We offer all similarly situated employees the same employer-paid benefits as these individuals. Dr. Hockmeyer does not review John Hockmeyer's performance or compensation and Dr. Young does not review Mr. Heddens' performance or compensation.

MedImmune, through its wholly owned subsidiary, MedImmune Ventures, Inc., invests from time to time in biotechnology or pharmaceutical companies seeking venture capital financing. Three members of our Board of Directors are partners in unrelated venture capital firms that also invest in biotechnology or pharmaceutical companies and, on occasion, funds managed by these three unrelated venture capital firms have invested in the same companies as MedImmune Ventures. In 2006, MedImmune Ventures made such investments in four new portfolio companies and purchased additional shares in three companies. In total, at the end of fiscal 2006, MedImmune Ventures held minority equity positions in six such portfolio companies in which one or the other of those venture capital firms has also invested. No member of our Board of Directors received any fee or other compensation from us as a result of these investments.

Review and Approval of Related Party Transactions

The Audit Committee reviews and approves any major related party transactions entered into between the company and related person, as required under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. The company's practice has always been for the company's management to present and seek approval of related party transactions, if any, from the Audit Committee. The Audit Committee reviews any proposed related party transaction to determine if such transaction is on terms and conditions that are comparable to or not less favorable than terms and conditions which would or could have been obtained from unaffiliated third parties. With the exception of those transactions that have been previously approved and disclosed above, since January 1, 2006, no related party transaction that is required to be disclosed under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 was presented for review and approval by the Audit Committee.

In February 2007, the Board of Directors adopted a written policy related to the review and approval of all related party transactions that reflects and is consistent with the company's past practices. Under the new written policy, any transaction in which the company was, is or will be a participant and in which any related person, had, has or will have a direct or indirect interest, including any transactions requiring disclosure under Item 404 of Regulation S-K under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934), other than transactions available to all employees generally and without discrimination and transactions involving less than $10,000, when aggregated with all similar transactions, will have to be (i) approved by the Audit Committee in accordance with the guidelines set forth in the policy, (ii) approved by the disinterested and independent members of the Board; or (iii) approved by the Compensation Committee, if the transaction relates to a compensation arrangement with the related person. The company's written policy on review and approval of related party transactions is set forth in Part VI of the Corporate Governance Guidelines, a copy of which is posted on the company's website at www.medimmune.com and is also attached as an exhibit to this Amendment No.1 to the Form 10-K.

Director Independence

The Board of Directors has determined that, except for Dr. Hockmeyer and Mr. Mott, each individual who served as a member of the Board of Directors in 2006 was an independent director within the meaning of the Nasdaq Marketplace Rules. Dr. Hockmeyer and Mr. Mott are not independent because they are employed and serve as executive of the company or one or more of its subsidiaries.
