ALTANA completes another phase III study on Roflumilast in COPD patients

Bad Homburg, September 10, 2003 ALTANA AG (NYSE: AAA; FSE: ALT), Bad Homburg, Germany, announced today the completion of another phase III study on Roflumilast in patients suffering from COPD (chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, smoker's lung). A review of the data shows positive results in accordance to previous results. The international study involved more than 1,400 patients suffering from chronic obstructive pulmonary disease. Detailed results of the study are expected to be presented at the upcoming scientific ERS meeting in Vienna (September 27. – October 1.). Until then, no further data from the study will be published.

Roflumilast is a selective phosphodiesterase-4-inhibitor for the treatment of asthma and COPD. Roflumilast is being developed worldwide – with the exception of Japan – together with Pfizer Inc. Our partner in Japan is Tanabe Seiyaku Co., Ltd. Roflumilast is intended for oral, once daily administration and shall be marketed worldwide after approval under the brand name Daxas®. ALTANA intends to file an application for approval in Europe towards the end of 2003.
