Sony Announces Impairment of Long-lived Assets Related to Camera Modules in the Devices Segment and Revision of Consolidated Results

Forecast for the Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 2016

Tokyo, April 21, 2016 – Sony Corporation recorded an impairment charge in operating income of 59.6 billion yen related to long-lived assets in the Devices segment. Incorporating this impairment charge, the consolidated results forecast announced on January 29, 2016 for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2016 (April 1, 2015 to March 31, 2016) has been revised as detailed below.

1. Background and Reason for the Impairment Charge

Due to a decrease in projected future demand, Sony has revised its Mid-Range Plan for the camera module business in the Devices segment from the period beginning with the fiscal year ending March 31, 2017. Given the decrease in projected future demand, Sony performed an impairment analysis during the quarter ended March 31, 2016 and determined that future cash flows would not be sufficient to recover the entire carrying amount of the long-lived assets, leading to the recording of an impairment charge of 59.6 billion yen.

2. Consolidated Results Forecast for the Fiscal Year Ended March 31, 2016

	(Billions of yen)		Change – April Forecast vs.
	April Forecast	January Forecast	March 31, 2015 Results	January Forecast	March 31, 2015 Results

Operating income	290	320	68.5	- 30 bil	-9.4 %	+ 221.5 bil +323.1 %
Income before income taxes	300	345	39.7	- 45 bil	-13.0 %	+ 260.3 bil +655.1 %
Net income (loss) attributable to Sony Corporation's stockholders	145	140	(126.0)	+ 5 bil	+3.6 %	+ 271.0 bil -

All amounts are presented on the basis of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles in the U.S. ("U.S. GAAP").

The forecast for consolidated results for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2016, as announced on January 29, 2016, was based on assumed foreign currency exchange rates for the fourth quarter (from January 1, 2016 to March 31, 2016) of approximately 120 yen to one U.S. dollar and approximately 129 yen to one euro. The actual average rates for the fourth quarter were 115.4 yen to one U.S. dollar and 127.2 yen to one euro.

The forecast for sales and operating revenue is approximately 8,100 billion yen.

The forecast for operating income has been revised downward due to negative factors including a deterioration of results in the Devices segment, mainly resulting from the above-mentioned impairment charge related to camera modules, and a significant decrease in interest rates in the Financial Services segment, partially offset by cost reductions in the Home Entertainment & Sound and Imaging Products & Solutions segments. The above-mentioned negative factors were also partially offset by an allocation for downward revision risk previously incorporated in All Other, Corporate and Elimination.

The forecast for income before income taxes was revised downward primarily due to the above-mentioned downward revision in operating income and an anticipated increase in foreign exchange losses compared with the January forecast.
