RYANAIR ORDERS 1OO NEW BOEING 737-800s TO A VALUE OF

$6 BILLION AS TRAFFIC GROWTH RISES TO 35%

Ryanair, Europe's No.1 low fares airline and Boeing, the world's biggest manufacturer of commercial aircraft, today (Friday, 31st January 2003) announced that Ryanair have ordered an additional 100 new Boeing 737-800 series aircraft to facilitate Ryanair's rapid European growth plans.

The news comes less than a year after both Ryanair and Boeing announced the record aircraft order of 150 737-800's - the largest single firm order for Next Generation 737's ever made.

In addition to the 103 firm orders already placed, Ryanair have added 22 further firm orders and increased its option orders by 78 to 125. This will, over the next 8 years, give Ryanair a total fleet of 250 Boeing 737-800's, giving Ryanair the youngest aircraft fleet in Europe and the second largest operator of the most successful jetliner in the world, behind Southwest in the U.S.

Ryanair was the pioneer of low fare air travel in Europe, and is the No.1 low fares carrier with over 100 destinations across 15 countries. In the year ending March 03, Ryanair will carry over 15 million passengers, an increase of 35% on the pervious year, making Ryanair the 4th largest international scheduled airline in Europe. Ryanair currently operates a fleet of 50 Boeing 737's and this new order will enable Ryanair to grow to more than 50 million passengers per annum, which will make Ryanair Europe's No.1 international scheduled airline.

These new aircraft will create 3000 new jobs in Ryanair, with over 800 pilots, more than 2000 cabin crew and over 200 engineering and operational people.

Announcing details of this order today in London, Ryanair's Chief Executive, Michael O'Leary said:

> "Ryanair and Boeing started this European low fares air travel revolution in 1990 - but that was just the beginning. Today the Ryanair low fares revolution continues as millions of European consumers are now discovering that they can fly all over Europe for just EUR48.00, and with Ryanair they get the best on time services and brand new Boeing 737-800 aircraft - the best short haul jet aircraft in the world".

To celebrate today's announcement of 100 new aircraft, Ryanair are giving away 100,000 seats at just GBP1! - See attached release for full details.

Ends. Friday, 31st January 2003

RYANAIR CELEBRATES 100 NEW AIRCRAFT

ORDER BY GIVING AWAY 100,000 SEATS AT JUST GBP1!

Ryanair, Europe's No.1 low fares airline today (Friday, 31st January 2003) celebrated its new order for 100 next generation Boeing 737-800 aircraft by offering 100,000 seats for sale from London to ten routes in Austria, Italy, Sweden, France and Belgium at GBP1 plus taxes and charges.

Launching the seat sale today in London, Ryanair's Deputy Chief Executive, Michael Cawley said:

"Ryanair has many landmarks days, but this 100 new aircraft order is a significant milestone. What better way to celebrate it than in the traditional Ryanair way by offering our customers a fantastic seat sale - the choice of 100,000 seats across ten different routes from London for just GBP1 one way plus taxes and charges. No other airline has ever offered their passengers lower fares or wider availability or greater choice of destinations than Ryanair. These100 new Boeing aircraft will enable us to carry many more millions at our lowest fares in Europe and we are offering passengers the opportunity to sample those fares by offering 100,000 seats across ten routes from London in February and March for just GBP1.

"This is a phenomenal low fares offer and we expect demand to be overwhelming so book early at Europe's No1 travel website, www.ryanair.com.
