Business Report for the Year Ended March 31, 2004 (April 1, 2003 - March 31, 2004)

I. Business Activities of Holding Company

1. Progress and Achievement of Business Activities

Adoption of Committee System

With the approval of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders held on June 26, 2003, the Company has adopted the Committee System. Under the Committee System, the management oversight functions were separated from the business operation functions, delegating many of the powers to execute business activities from directors to executive officers. Simultaneously three committees were established, the Nomination Committee, the Audit Committee, and the Compensation Committee. Outside directors make up the majority of each Committee. The Company is conducting integrated management activities with more speed and transparency under the new management structure.

Business Purpose of Holding Company

The main business purpose of the Company is to hold shares of domestic and overseas companies which engage in securities and securities-related businesses and manage their business activities. The Company and its subsidiaries in Japan and overseas such as Nomura Securities Co., Ltd. constitute the Nomura Group and pursue integrated business operations under the unified strategic focus of the Nomura Group.

Management Policy and Structure of Business Operations

The Nomura Group's vision is to firmly establish its status as a globally competitive Japanese financial institution. The Japanese securities market is expected to grow rapidly. In this environment, the Company will seek to realize its vision by strengthening its base in the domestic securities businesses and by consolidating the Nomura Group's comprehensive capabilities domestically and overseas.

The Company intends to maintain an average consolidated ROE of 10 to 15% over the medium- to long-term as a management target to increase shareholders' value.

In executing its business strategy, the Company focuses on business lines, which are linked globally, rather than individual legal entities. Nomura Group's business lines are comprised of Domestic Retail, Global Wholesale and Asset Management. Global Wholesale consists of four businesses: Fixed Income, Equity, Investment Banking and Merchant Banking.

Table of Contents

The Nomura Group is establishing a competitive structure of business operations by delegating the powers to execute business activities to each division as adequate and enhancing the professional skills of each of these business lines, while strengthening linkages among these business lines.

Business Line:

Subsidiary Company Management

The Company manages its subsidiaries in line with the Nomura Group strategy. The Nomura Group, with its core businesses of the securities and closely related businesses, aims to achieve its management objectives by concentrating management resources in these areas and building multi-faceted and substantive business portfolios.

A specific example of a business measure we took this year has been strengthening our service structure oriented toward individual investors, who primarily consist of employment income earners. We launched the Hotto-Direct Department to meet the needs of such asset builders by providing Internet and telephone services, a continuation of Nomura Fundnet Securities' investment trust sales business. We have also merged Nomura Fundnet's defined pension contribution telephone services with Nomura DC Planning and Nomura Human Capital Solutions to create Nomura Pension Support and Services. Nomura DC Planning had previously provided administrative service for defined pension contribution plans, and Nomura Human Capital Solutions had previously provided pension-related and other consulting services. Thus, we have consolidated our pension-related functions under one company.

Nomura Institute of Capital Markets Research was established to provide neutral advice for the sound development of Japan's financial and capital markets, as well as policy suggestions (operation commenced on April 1, 2004). We will also respond to changes in the China market more effectively by making the consulting company joint venture Nomura-CITIC International Economic Consultants Co., Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary with the new name Nomura Corporate Advisory (China) Co., Ltd., which now has stronger relations with the Nomura Group.

Corporate Governance Structure

The Company is actively strengthening its corporate governance measures, most notably with the adoption last year of the Committee System. All the thirteen domestic subsidiaries have adopted this system. With this change, the group management has become more uniform, and a more functional administrative structure has been put in place. The Company has endeavored to strengthen its management oversight functions and increase transparency.

Under the Committee System, the Audit Committee mainly comprised of outside directors handles the core audit function. In this way, the Company is striving to strengthen and improve its internal control system in order to enhance the effectiveness of the Audit Committee.

Specifically, audit functions conducted by the Audit Committee are supplemented by non-executive but full-time two directors (Audit Mission Directors) who are familiar with Nomura Group business and its organization. Internal audit results are reported not only to the President & Chief Executive Officer but also to the Audit Committee and Audit Mission Directors. The Office of Audit Committee falls under the Audit Committee, and its purpose is to assist the Audit Committee members and Audit Mission Directors.

Table of Contents

The Nomura Group has established the Internal Controls Committee in order to monitor the Group's overall internal controls. The six members are comprised of four executive officers including the President & Chief Executive Officer as well as an outside director and an Audit Mission Director.

In these ways, the Company has established a structure to promote more effective monitoring by the Audit Committee and strives to strengthen the corporate governance.

The fiscal year ended March 2000 (from April 1, 1999 to March 31, 2000)

During the fiscal year ended March 2000, the international capital markets were basically stable due in large part to the continued economic growth of the United States and recovering Asian economies. In Japan, the stock market rose steadily throughout the fiscal year ended March 2000 as expectations of a recovery from the country's recession relieved investors' anxieties. The government's pursuit of a zero interest rate policy and other government programs intended to stimulate the economy has generated increased confidence in the country's fiscal outlook. Since the summer of 1999, the performance of Japan's stock market has closely correlated with the market activities in the United States, primarily because of the rise in the value of technology related stocks. The market has shown a clear tendency to be polarized into two groups, technology shares and non-technology shares. In contrast, the bond market in Japan became temporarily sluggish due to supply and demand imbalance concerns. Generally, bond prices moved within a box range because of government policies to control long-term interest rates, such as maintaining a near zero interest rate environment and diversifying the maturities of government bonds. Under such circumstances, the Company endeavored to offer high quality advice, information and services and posted ordinary income of 303.3 billion yen.

The fiscal year ended March 2001 (from April 1, 2000 to March 31, 2001)

During the fiscal year ended March 2001, there was a modest recovery in the Japanese economy from the beginning of the fiscal year to the autumn of 2000 triggered by expanded capital investment, however, further stagnation occurred afterwards, reflecting slowdowns in the U.S. and Asian economies, as well as a slowdown in IT-related demands and investment. Japan's stock markets continued their sluggish performance since the beginning of the fiscal year, however, the Nikkei Stock Average rallied slightly toward the end of March 2001, as prospects improved for Japan's fundamental restructuring to solve its bad loan problems. The bond markets declined temporarily caused by the lifting of the zero-interest rate policy in August 2000, but recovered steadily afterwards. From February to March 2001, due to the reduction of the official discount rate to 0.25%, the bond futures market rallied and achieved an all-time high. Regarding trading activities, the Company built an organization which provided the most efficient order execution services in the country. The Company's customer-based business was unified on a global basis, and the unification led to higher order matching opportunities, especially with orders from overseas customers. As a result of the foregoing, the Company's ordinary income amounted to 244.1 billion yen.

(1) Summary

Japan's economy continued to improve throughout the year, driven by strong international markets in particular China's and domestic capital expenditure. Deflationary pressures on prices of goods and land values seem to be easing as well. The stock market has shown signs of recovery backed by strong economic recovery and corporate earnings, and the TOPIX was at a two-and-a-half-year high as of the end of March 2004. Currently, digital consumer products, China's growing economy, and Japan's emergence from deflationary trends, among other themes, have been the focus of attention in the stock market. Furthermore, from a demand and supply standpoint, foreign investors were a major driver in the period as net buyers to the tune of more than 10 trillion yen. The debt market, on the other hand, saw the yield on the benchmark 10-year JGB fall to 0.4% due to concerns over deflation at home and overseas. It subsequently rebounded and were back up to 1.2-1.6% from fall 2003 through the end of March 2004.

As a result of the foregoing, Nomura Holdings, Inc. and its consolidated entities (Nomura) reported net revenue of 803.1 billion yen for the year ended March 31, 2004, an increase of 42% from the prior year. Non-interest expenses were 520.4 billion yen for the year ended March 31, 2004, an increase of 0.3% from the prior year.

Income before income taxes was 282.7 billion yen for the year ended March 31, 2004, up 496.2% from the prior year. Net income was 172.3 billion yen for the year ended March 31, 2004, 43.7% above the prior year.

Total assets were 29.8 trillion yen at March 31, 2004, an increase of 8.6 trillion yen from March 31, 2003 and total shareholders' equity increased by 143.4 billion yen from March 31, 2003 to 1,785.7 billion yen at March 31, 2004. Nomura's return on equity was 10.1% for the year ended March 31, 2004.

Proposal No.2: Issuance of Stock Acquisition Rights as Stock Options

1) Reason for Issuing Stock Acquisition Rights on Terms Especially Favorable to Persons Other than Shareholders

The Company is planning to issue without consideration the following two types of stock acquisition rights as stock options for the purpose of enhancing the incentives of the directors, executive officers and employees of the Company and its subsidiaries to improve their performances and of acquiring talented human resources.

The first is the stock acquisition rights with the condition that the amount to be paid upon exercise of stock acquisition rights at the time of issuance shall be determined based on the market price (Stock Option A Plan).

Table of Contents

The second is stock acquisition rights with the condition that the amount to be paid upon exercise of stock acquisition rights at the time of issuance shall be below the market price (one (1) yen per share) (Stock Option B Plan). The Stock Option B Plan will enable the Company to control cash payment for compensation through granting stock acquisition rights as a partial substitute for cash compensation. Furthermore, the Stock Option B Plan will enable the Company to make quasi-deferred payments of compensation by setting out the period during which the stock acquisition rights cannot be exercised (non-exercise period). Accordingly, the Stock Option B Plan will have the same economical effect as the Company granting restricted stocks. In principle, the non-exercise period will be not shorter than two (2) years.

2) Summary of the Issuance of Stock Acquisition Rights under Stock Option A Plan

(1) Type / Number of Shares Under Stock Acquisition Rights

Up to 2,500,000 shares of common stock of the Company.

In the event that the shares are split or consolidated, the number of shares for the unexercised stock acquisition rights at the time of the stock-split or stock-consolidation shall be adjusted in accordance with the following formula. Any fractions less than one (1) share shall be disregarded.

$$\text{Adjusted Number of Shares} = \frac{\text{Number of Shares Before Adjustment}}{\text{Ratio of Split or Consolidation}}$$

In the event that new shares are issued or the shares are disposed of at a price below the market price (excluding the exercise of stock acquisition rights and the exercise of stock subscription rights), the number of shares for the unexercised stock acquisition rights at the time of the issuance of new shares or disposition of shares shall be adjusted in accordance with the following formula. Any fractions less than one (1) share shall be disregarded.

Please refer to (4) for the adjusted exercise price.

In addition to the above, in the event of a merger, company split or capital reduction of the Company and in any other similar event where an adjustment of the number of shares shall be required, the number of shares shall be appropriately adjusted to a reasonable extent.

Edgar Filing: NOMURA HOLDINGS INC - Form 6-K

(2) Total Number of Stock Acquisition Rights to be Issued:

Up to 2,500 stock acquisition rights (the number of shares per stock acquisition right shall be 1,000 shares; provided, however, that the number of shares per stock acquisition right shall be adjusted accordingly in the events stated in item (1) above).

Table of Contents

(3) Issue Price of Stock Acquisition Rights:

To be issued without receipt of consideration.

(4) Amount to be Paid upon Exercise of Stock Acquisition Rights

The amount to be paid per share upon exercise of the stock acquisition rights (the Exercise Price) shall be the amount which is equal to the product of (i) the higher price of either the average of the daily closing prices of common stock of the Company in regular transactions at the Tokyo Stock Exchange during the calendar month immediately prior to the month including the issue date of the stock acquisition rights (excluding dates on which no trade is made) or the closing price of the issue date (if there is no closing price on the issue date, the most recent closing price prior to the issue date shall apply), and (ii) 1.05. Any fraction less than one (1) yen shall be rounded up to the nearest yen.

In the event that the shares are split or consolidated after the issuance of the stock acquisition rights, the Exercise Price shall be adjusted in accordance with the following formula, and any fraction less than one (1) yen shall be rounded up to the nearest yen.

$$\text{Adjusted Exercise Price} = \text{Exercise Price Before Adjustment} \times \frac{1}{\text{Ratio of Split or Consolidation}}$$

In the event that new shares are issued or shares are disposed of at a price below the market price (excluding the exercise of stock acquisition rights and the exercise of stock subscription rights), the Exercise Price shall be adjusted in accordance with the following formula, and any fraction less than one (1) yen shall be rounded up to the nearest yen.

$$\text{Adjusted Exercise Price} = \text{Exercise Price Before Adjustment} \times \frac{\text{Number of Outstanding Shares} + \frac{\text{Number of Newly Issued Shares} \times \text{Paid-in Amount per Share}}{\text{Market Price per Share}}}{\text{Number of (Outstanding + Newly Issued) Shares}}$$

In the event of a merger, company split or capital reduction of the Company and in any other similar case where an adjustment of the Exercise Price shall be required, the Exercise Price shall be appropriately adjusted to a reasonable extent.

(5) Exercise Period of Stock Acquisition Rights:

Edgar Filing: NOMURA HOLDINGS INC - Form 6-K

To Our Shareholders

I am pleased to report the results for our 100th fiscal year, which began on April 1, 2003 and ended March 31, 2004.

During the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, Japan's real GDP expanded steadily and a recovery in corporate earnings pushed the stock market higher. Under accounting principles generally accepted in the United States (U.S. GAAP), net revenue (total revenue excluding interest expense) for the year ended March 31, 2004 was ¥803.1 billion, income before income taxes ¥282.7 billion, and net income ¥172.3 billion. Return on equity (ROE) was 10.1%, and we will pay a year-end cash dividend of ¥7.5 per share. (Beginning this fiscal year, we began paying dividends twice annually, so the total dividend for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, including the interim dividend, is ¥15 per share.)

We expect the operating environment to become more challenging, but we see evidence that the Japanese economy is rapidly recovering as corporate earnings remain strong and M&A activity related to industry realignments picks up. There are also signs of greater participation in the capital markets, the foundation of our business. Individual investors' share of stock trading is rising and Japanese government bonds for individuals have been selling well. Furthermore, companies are increasingly tapping the capital markets for financing. In this environment, we hope to provide our customers with high-quality financial services from a global perspective and respond to customer and market needs with agility and flexibility.

With the approval of the Ordinary General Meeting of Shareholders in June 2003, Nomura Holdings adopted the Committee System and applied it to 13 domestic subsidiaries. This change was implemented in order to strengthen oversight and promote transparency, while enabling unified yet agile management of the group as a whole. We intend to increase shareholder value while contributing to the revival of the Japanese economy and the development of the securities markets. As always, we look forward to your continued support.

Table of Contents

The Nomura Group intends to firmly establish its status as a globally competitive Japanese financial institution.

It has been one year since we put into place a new management system with the goal of realizing our collective strengths as a group. Below, President and Chief Executive Officer Nobuyuki Koga explains the results for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004 and describes the management strategy.

Q: Please summarize the results for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004.

A: Against a background of improving domestic and global economies, with especially strong growth in China and a recovery in domestic capital investment, the economic recovery remained solid throughout the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004. Furthermore, individual investors showed clear signs of gradually moving more of their financial assets into securities, as evident in their strong interest in Japanese government bonds for individuals and investment trusts.

In this environment, we were able to expand our business by offering our customers a variety of creative solutions or investment opportunities through the capital markets and by diversifying our revenue sources. As a result, in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, income before income taxes rose 496% to ¥282.7 billion and net income increased 43.7% to ¥172.3 billion. Return on equity (ROE) rose from 7.4% to 10.1%.

Table of Contents

Q: What are the management objectives of the Nomura Group?

A: The Nomura Group's vision is to firmly establish its status as a globally competitive Japanese financial institution. We intend to maintain an average consolidated ROE of 10-15% over the medium- to long-term as a management target to increase shareholders' value. The Japanese securities markets may grow dramatically in the coming years. We seek to realize our management vision and steadily increase shareholders' value by strengthening our business base in the Japanese securities markets and by consolidating Nomura Group's comprehensive capabilities domestically and overseas.

Q: Describe the current business environment?

A: No longer are we questioning the ability of the Japanese economy to recover. Instead, we are wondering how long the current recovery can be sustained. In 2003, Japan's real GDP grew in excess of 2% in all four quarters, and a clear recovery trend is now emerging, driven by demand in the United States and China and rising capital spending in the private sector. Thanks to continued corporate restructuring, ROE is improving across the board: The NOMURA400 companies (excluding financials) are expected to generate ROE of 8.8% in the fiscal year ending March 31, 2005, a level that has not been reached since the collapse of the speculative bubble economy, and free cash flow is poised to improve sharply.

Furthermore, there are signs that individual investors are starting to move into stocks, attracted by improved corporate profitability. The percentage of stocks owned by individual investors, which had fallen steadily since the 1980s, bottomed out in March 2000 and has been rising for the past three years. Reflecting this virtuous cycle, average daily trading volume on the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange in 2003 set a new record of more than 1.2 billion shares, exceeding the previous high of 1 billion shares in a day in 1988. The stock market has clearly attracted investor attention and is once again assuming its original role as a system for attracting funds.

With caps on deposit insurance slated to be removed across the board in April 2005, a favorable environment for the expansion of the capital markets is now in place. Accordingly, the next two to three years will be a test of Nomura's ability to remain one of Japan's leading companies and become a globally competitive Japanese financial institution in the fullest sense.

Q: To manage the businesses in this environment, what do you intend to emphasize in the coming fiscal year?

A: Our task is to respond to changing customer and market needs. Regulatory and legal changes are clear cut, but changes in customer needs and preferences are harder to grasp and can occur without our being aware of them.

One thing I've noticed lately is that these subtler changes increasingly have a significant impact on our business. By nature, the securities industry is about dealing with change. In an era in which business is driven by intangible changes, we want to be a company that quickly identifies these changes and creates major business trends. To realize this, we need to give up our preconceptions and be ready to take on new challenges. We hope to do so in the coming fiscal year.

Table of Contents

Q: What strategies do you employ to deal with change?

A: By acting as a bridge between companies that are restructuring and individuals' financial assets overly concentrated in cash and deposits, we hope to expand our business while contributing to the sustained development of the Japanese economy. This remains our basic strategy to this day. Let me explain our strategies by business segment. In Domestic Retail, we will establish a service network focusing on the core values of our customers and thus expand our customer base and client assets. In Global Wholesale, we will flexibly respond to changes in market needs in financing business, M&A business and corporate revitalization business. Under Global Wholesale, we established Global Markets as a new sub-segment which is composed of Fixed Income and Equity in order to enhance specialty services and strengthen our global structure. In Asset Management, we will continue improving our asset management capabilities while increasing assets through links with other divisions. In our defined contribution pension plan business, we intend to enhance the value of our services, such as consulting, and improve our product offerings. The business environment provides us with major business opportunities and we are moving forward with confidence.

Q: What are you doing to strengthen the management system?

A: We manage the company with an emphasis on enhancing shareholders' value, and we have been strengthening our corporate governance in a number of ways. Last year, we shifted from a Statutory Auditor System to a Committee System. The goals of this move are threefold. First, we wanted to increase management oversight and further improve transparency. Toward this end, we established three committees, the Nomination Committee, the Audit Committee, and the Compensation Committee, each of which has a majority of outside directors. Second, we wanted to increase flexibility in our business execution. Under the Committee System, management oversight functions will be separated from business operation functions and many of the powers to execute business activities are delegated to executive officers. As a result, we will be able to make quicker management decisions. Third, we wanted to strengthen and expand our internal control systems. We are building a more effective internal control system and further enhancing its functions. We intend to strengthen our management system and increase shareholders' value further.

Results and Business Strategies

Domestic Retail

Operating Results

In Domestic Retail, net revenue (total revenue excluding interest expense) in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004 was ¥305.8 billion, up 23% from the previous year, and income before income taxes was ¥79.5 billion, up 123%, as we responded to customers' investment needs by offering stocks, investment trusts, foreign currency bonds, Japanese government bonds for individuals, and a variety of other financial products.

These results reflect our efforts to create a service delivery structure that is focused on core values, or the values that customers regard as the most important, and that enables us to provide high-quality financial services appropriate for each of our customers. Client assets (including those of financial institutions) in Domestic Retail totaled a record ¥40.8 trillion, and we are exerting our utmost efforts to further expand our customer base.

Table of Contents

Goals and Strategy

Our goals in Domestic Retail are to promote a shift of individuals' financial assets into securities products by providing high-quality financial services, and to further broaden our customer base.

At the end of December 2003, 56% of individuals' financial assets in Japan were still held as cash and deposits. The strong sales of foreign currency-denominated bonds and Japanese government bonds for individuals as well as the increase in the number of equity holding accounts indicate an emerging shift in individuals' financial assets into securities, but a disproportionately large proportion of these assets continues to be held as cash and deposits. Under these circumstances, in Domestic Retail we aim to promote a shift of individuals' financial assets into securities products by providing high-quality financial services that meet the needs of each of our customers, and to further broaden our customer base. Toward this end, this fiscal year we intend to expand our lineup of products and services and further train our staff with these objectives in mind.

Achievement 1: Increase in assets

Domestic Retail assets at a new high and moving into a new growth stage

The accompanying graph shows the trend in assets in Domestic Retail since 1985. Though the Nikkei Average is still down more than 70% from its all-time high, Domestic Retail assets as of March 31, 2004 totaled ¥40.8 trillion, exceeding the previous peak in 1989.

By offering domestic and foreign bonds, investment trusts, and a variety of other financial products suited to the needs of our customers, we minimized the decline in Domestic Retail assets during the stock market downturn through April 2003, and then succeeded in steadily increasing assets after the stock market turnaround.

Table of Contents

Achievement 2: Growth in equity holding accounts and retail stock investments

More than 1.37 million equity holding accounts, 1.1 million special accounts

Despite the challenging stock market conditions, we have made efforts to expand our customer base and increase the number of equity holding accounts. As a result, retail customers' investments in stocks as of March 31, 2004 recovered to ¥16.0 trillion, nearly the same level as the recent peak of ¥16.3 trillion, set during the information-technology bubble years.

As part of our efforts to offer greater convenience to customers, we began offering special accounts for simplified tax reporting in January 2003, and increased these accounts to more than 1.1 million as of March 31, 2004.

Table of Contents

Achievement 3: Promoting shift of individuals' financial assets from cash and deposits into securities products

Leading financial institution in terms of sales

Japanese government bonds for individuals, first offered in March 2003, have become an important investment product for our retail customers, since they feature both safety and convenience. Subscriptions for the six offerings so far, from March 2003 to April 2004, have totaled ¥4.8 trillion. Nomura Securities accounted for about 29% of offering, more than any other financial institution's share, including the postal savings system. Customers have been able to purchase the bonds from a variety of financial institutions, but chose Nomura due to our efforts to inform them about how the bonds are safe investments that can be easily converted into cash and can weather higher interest rates relatively well.

Table of Contents

Global Wholesale

Operating Results

In Global Wholesale, net revenue (total revenue excluding interest expense) for the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004 was ¥365.7 billion, up 23% from the previous year, and income before income taxes was ¥138.5 billion, up 52%.

In Fixed Income, underwritings and distributions of foreign bonds were strong due to our efforts to match top-tier overseas bond issuers drawn by the amount of individual financial assets in Japan with individual investors looking for attractive investments. Trading profits in Equity rose substantially as a result of our successful efforts to generate customer order flow. In Investment Banking, underwritings of initial, primary, and secondary equity offerings were strong.

Goals and Strategy

Our goals in Global Wholesale are to become more competitive by responding rapidly to changing market conditions and customers' needs.

Global Wholesale aims to play the leading role in establishing the Nomura Group's position as a globally competitive Japanese financial institution. To meet this goal, Global Wholesale will make maximum use of the Group's strengths to promote Japan-based globalization.

With the Japanese economy's recovery trend now clear, companies have growing demand for financing. At the same time, companies are reorganizing their corporate groups and operations, and global industry realignments are gaining pace. To steadily take advantage of these growing business opportunities and translate them into higher earnings, Global Wholesale has established a Global Markets operation, combined equity and fixed income trading, and taken other organizational steps to better respond to changing market conditions and become more competitive.

Achievement 1: Competitive in underwriting

Leader in the league tables in all three equity areas

Nomura took the top position in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004 league tables for investment banking/underwriting results in the areas of IPOs, primary and secondary offerings, and convertible bonds.

Among our more notable deals, we acted lead manager for domestic secondary offerings by Ito-Yokado and Sharp, which attracted attention as efforts to expand the companies' bases of individual shareholders. We were also co-lead manager for the initial public offerings by Shinsei Bank, a symbolic corporate revitalization deal, and Japan Petroleum Exploration Co., Ltd., which was privatized.

Achievement 2: Competitive in M&A

Advisory role in a number of high-profile M&A deals

Amid accelerated corporate group reorganizations and industry realignments, the need for M&A and financial advisory services related to business and corporate restructurings has grown.

We were able to play an advisory role in a number of high-profile deals in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, including Matsushita Electric Industrial's move to make Matsushita Electric Works a consolidated subsidiary and the integration of Omron and Hitachi's ATM operations. Among cross-border M&A deals (between Japanese companies and companies in other countries), we served as an adviser to Asahi Breweries and Itochu on their equity investments in a soft drink joint venture with Chinese food company Tingyi. This deal was the largest M&A deal involving Japanese and Chinese companies so far. These results reflect our strengthened efforts to expand our M&A advisory business in China and other parts of Asia, including making the former Nomura-CITIC International Economic Consultants, a joint venture in China, into a wholly owned subsidiary.

Achievement 3: Comprehensive strengths in the retail and wholesale businesses

Extensive sales of foreign bonds to individual investors

We increased sales of foreign currency bonds to individual investors through our efforts to match up top-tier overseas bond issuers attracted to the vast individual financial assets in Japan with individual investors willing to take currency risk to obtain attractive yields. Our distribution of foreign bonds denominated in U.S. dollars, euros, Australian dollars, and Canadian dollars totaled approximately ¥2 trillion in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004. This strong track record has led to our underwriting a number of new bond offerings by top-tier overseas issuers.

Nomura Principal Finance

Nomura Principal Finance (NPF) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of Nomura Holdings and is engaged in the principal finance business. Using Nomura Group's own capital, it invests in businesses that generate steady cash flow, companies with potential for growth and earnings improvement, and securitized assets, and seeks to generate returns on the investments over the long term by increasing the value of the investments and exiting through public equity offerings and other methods.

Established in July 2000 with a basic orientation toward long-term investment returns, NPF has built up a track record as a business partner that provides unprecedented solutions to diverse management problems, such as spin-offs of non-core businesses and MBOs (management buyouts), as well as the management succession of family-owned enterprises, restructurings of shareholder ownership, and the rebuilding of businesses.

In the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004, NPF structured a number of major deals, including Huis Ten Bosch and Toshiba Tungaloy, and also sold its equity stake in Daikuma, as a favorable cycle of new investments and returns on investments got under way.

The next two to three years should offer a number of good investment opportunities for NPF, as Japanese companies' efforts to restructure their businesses gain further momentum. NPF intends to structure an even greater number of deals than before, and strives to increase the value of its investments and their returns.

Toshiba Tungaloy

Tungaloy MBO

Tungaloy specializes in the manufacture and sale of tools including various kinds of metal cutting tools such as chip grinders.

Japan's cemented carbide tool industry has faced difficult times and heightened competition due to various factors, including the decentralization of production bases by its main customers, automakers. Given this environment, Japanese cutting tool manufacturers have stepped up their moves to form alliances with each other, and Tungaloy's further growth will require restructuring in the form of rearranged distribution networks, a reduction in the number of product lines, the development of new products in major fields, and strengthened manufacturing and distribution systems in Asia. NPF decided to implement the tender offer after consultations with Tungaloy's management, with the aim of dealing promptly with such issues, shifting to a management system that clearly promotes self-responsibility, and developing a quick decision-making process.

Tungaloy regards the management buyout as a second founding of the company and aims for further growth and development.

Asset Management

Operating Results

In Asset Management, net revenue (total revenue excluding interest expense) in the fiscal year ended March 31, 2004 was ¥36.0 billion, down 3% from the previous year due to a decline in asset management fees stemming from a reduction in assets in bond investment trusts. Losses before income taxes were ¥1 billion as a result of an increase in non-interest expenses, such as special premiums paid in conjunction with Nomura Asset Management's withdrawal from the Japan Securities Dealers Employees' Pension Fund.

The balance of assets in bond investment trusts continued to fall. The Bond Fund balance fell to ¥2.6 trillion as of March 31, 2004, from ¥6.3 trillion as of March 2002, 31. However, Nomura Asset Management's total assets under management turned around thanks to growth in investment advisory assets, increasing to ¥15.7 trillion as of March 31, 2004, from ¥14.2 trillion as of March 31, 2003.

Goals and Strategy

We have been working to increase our investment assets through enhanced asset management and marketing capabilities, and become more competitive in the defined contribution pension plan business.

Our goals in Asset Management are to increase assets in the investment management business, offer a wider variety of products and serve as a plan administrator and custodian to more companies in the defined contribution pension plan business.

In the asset management business, we have been developing a structure that allows us to offer value-added over the medium to long term, such as by consolidating investment management structures and strengthening corporate research. We continue to strive to further enhance our asset management capabilities in order to offer greater value-added in our asset management services.

In the defined contribution pension plan business, we are working to offer more competitive services by providing consulting and investor education as well as an increasing number of products. We also intend to serve as a plan administrator and custodian to more companies in cooperation with Domestic Retail and Global Wholesale.

Achievement 1: Strengthened asset management capabilities

Top share in stock and bond investment trusts

Assets managed by Nomura Asset Management (NAM), Nomura BlackRock Asset Management, and Nomura Corporate Research & Asset Management (NCRAM) have been increasing thanks to the turnaround in the investment environment and market conditions.

NAM's publicly offered investment trusts had approximately ¥11 trillion in assets as of March 31, 2004, placing the firm in the top position in the domestic market. NAM has maintained the industry-leading share in both stock and bond investment trusts by offering a broad range of products that meet diversified asset management needs, from money management funds (MMFs) and other products that focus on preserving principal to stock investment trusts and other high-risk/high-return products.

Achievement 2: Responding to changing asset management needs

Asset growth due to foreign bond funds

In addition to MMFs denominated in various major currencies, we have launched various foreign currency-denominated bonds such as the Nomura Australian Bond Fund. Assets in these funds have steadily grown, since the funds meet domestic investors' demand for foreign bonds. In particular, the Nomura U.S. High-Yield Bond Income Fund has grown to ¥178 billion in assets as of March 31, 2004, from ¥43.9 billion when it was launched in December 2003.*

As part of our effort to increase assets, we also launched a number of new products that meet a variety of asset management needs, including the World Genome Technology Open and the Nomura Fund Masters Japan Small-Caps Fund.

*Figures are based on the month-end average exchange rates publicized by Nomura.

Achievement 3: The defined contribution pension plan business

Offering an increasing number of products and serving as a plan administrator and custodian to more companies

Defined contribution pension plan participants numbered only 700,000 as of March 31, 2004, but more and more companies are likely to offer the plans as Japan's retirement plan system is revamped.

We offer a wide range of integrated services, ranging from support for plan implementation to supplying products. As of March 31, 2004, we were serving as plan administrator and custodian for 59 companies with a total of 180,000 participants in their defined contribution pension plans. We also offer a growing number of products to an increasing number of companies for which we do not serve as plan custodian, resulting in steady growth in our investment trust assets.
