CALCULATION OF FILING FEE

Transaction Valuation* US$874,908,963.76

Amount of Filing Fee US$93,615.26

* Estimated for purposes of calculating the filing fee pursuant to Rule 0 11(d) only. The Transaction Valuation was calculated assuming the purchase of all outstanding Common Shares, no par value, and all Preferred Shares, no par value (including Preferred Shares represented by American Depositary Shares), other than shares owned directly or indirectly by the Filing Persons, at a purchase price of R$6.95 in cash per 1,000 Common Shares or Preferred Shares. As of June 30, 2006 there were 512,480,331,944 Common Shares and 475,257,755,286 Preferred Shares outstanding (including Preferred Shares represented by American Depositary Shares), of which 498,785,936,670 Common Shares and 216,232,326,229 Preferred Shares are owned directly or indirectly by the Filing Persons. As a result, this calculation assumes the purchase of 13,694,395,274 outstanding Common Shares and 259,025,429,057 outstanding Preferred Shares. The Transaction Value was calculated in Brazilian reais (R$) and converted into U.S. dollars at the noon buying rate as published by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York on September 29, 2006 of US$1 = R$2.1664.

 The filing fee, calculated in accordance with Rule 0 11 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and Fee Rate Advisory No. 5 for fiscal year 2006, is US$107.00 per US$1 million (prorated for amounts less than US$1 million) of the aggregate Transaction Valuation. Accordingly, the filing fee is calculated by multiplying the aggregate Transaction Valuation by 0.000107.

x Check the box if any part of the fee is offset as provided by Rule 0 11(a)(2) and identify the filing with which the offsetting fee was previously paid. Identify the previous filing by registration statement number, or the Form or Schedule and the date of its filing.

Certain Projections Prepared by Embratel Holdings

Embratel Holdings does not as a matter of course make public forecasts as to future revenues, earnings or other financial information. Embratel Holdings did, however, prepare certain projections that it provided to Telmex and to ABN AMRO in connection with the preparation of its valuation report. The projections set forth below are included in this document solely because such information was provided to Telmex and ABN AMRO.

The projections summarized below were not prepared by Embratel Holdings with a view to public disclosure or compliance with published guidelines of the SEC or the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants regarding prospective financial information. In addition, the projections were not prepared with the assistance of or reviewed, compiled or examined by independent accountants. While prepared with numerical specificity, the projections were not prepared in the ordinary course and the projections reflect numerous estimates and hypothetical assumptions, all made by Embratel Holdings, with respect to industry performance, general business, economic, market, interest rate and financial conditions and other matters, which may not be accurate, may not be realized, and are inherently subject to significant business, economic and competitive uncertainties and contingencies, all of which are difficult to predict and many of which are beyond Embratel Holdings control. Generally, the further out the period to which forecasts relate, the more unreliable those forecasts become due to the difficulty in making accurate predictions of future events. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that the assumptions made in preparing the projections set forth below will prove to be accurate, and actual results may be materially different from those contained in the projections set forth below.

In light of the uncertainties inherent in forward-looking information of any kind, we caution against undue reliance on this information. The inclusion of this information should not be regarded as an indication that anyone who received this information considered it a reliable predictor of future events, and this information should not be relied on as such. While Embratel Holdings has prepared these projections with numerical specificity and has provided them to Telmex and ABN AMRO in connection with this proposed transaction, Embratel Holdings has not made any representation to any person that the projections will be met. Embratel Holdings does not intend to update or revise such projections to reflect circumstances existing after the date they were prepared or to reflect the occurrence of future events, unless required by law.

Set forth below is a summary of these projections.

Certain Discussion Materials Prepared by Goldman Sachs

In connection with its role as financial advisor to Telmex, Goldman Sachs was requested by Telmex to assist in coordinating the implementation and structuring of the tender offer. As financial advisor to Telmex, Goldman Sachs, on March 30, April 25 and May 6, 2006, also prepared certain discussion materials for the purpose of assisting the management of Telmex in connection with the tender offer. The discussion materials prepared by Goldman Sachs, which include the analyses summarized below, have been filed as an exhibit to combined Schedule TO and Schedule 13e-3 of which this offer to purchase is a part filed by us in connection with the tender offer. Neither the discussion materials nor this summary constitutes a recommendation as to how any Embratel Holdings shareholder should act on any matter relating to the tender offer. Goldman Sachs was not engaged to, nor did it render any opinion as to the fairness of the transaction either to Telmex, Telmex Solutions or to Embratel Holdings or any of their respective shareholders.

As part of its March 30, 2006 discussion materials, Goldman Sachs provided Telmex management with a comparison of projections prepared by the management of Embratel Holdings and estimates made by certain securities research analysts, for calendar years 2006 through 2008. In this analysis, Goldman Sachs compared the Embratel Holdings management projections and the analysts' estimates of Embratel Holdings' revenue growth, earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization, or EBITDA, margin (which is equal to EBITDA divided by revenue) and EBITDA growth. For purposes of this comparison, Goldman Sachs set forth in the discussion materials (i) projections taken from an Embratel Holdings management business plan that had been furnished to ABN AMRO in connection with its preparation of an independent valuation report of Embratel Holdings in October 2005 in connection with Embratel Holdings' acquisition of Telmex do Brasil Ltda. and Telmex's equity interest in Net (the October 2005 Valuation Report) and (ii) revised projections taken from an Embratel Holdings management business plan prepared in March 2006.

The equity market capitalization for Embratel Holdings and the selected companies was calculated by multiplying each company's closing stock price as of April 24, 2006 by the number of that company's shares outstanding. For purposes of this analysis, Goldman Sachs excluded from Embratel Holdings' market capitalization its ownership stake at the time in Net at its then-current market capitalization. Historical financial results utilized by Goldman Sachs for purposes of this analysis were based upon information contained in the applicable company's latest publicly available financial statements. Estimates of future results for Embratel

Holdings and the selected companies used by Goldman Sachs in this analysis were based on estimates provided by Institutional Brokers Estimate System, referred to as IBES (a data service that compiles estimates issued by securities research analysts). Goldman Sachs analysis of the selected companies compared the following to the results for Embratel Holdings:

the April 24, 2006 closing stock price as a percentage of the 52-week closing high stock price;

the enterprise value as a multiple of sales for calendar years 2005 through 2007;

the enterprise value as a multiple of EBITDA for calendar years 2005 through 2007;

5-year earnings per share, or EPS, compounded annual growth rate, or CAGR; and 2005 EBITDA margin.

* Includes Embratel Holdings

In a related analysis, Goldman Sachs reviewed selected publicly available multiples for Embratel Holdings and compared that data to corresponding data for Brasil Telecom and Telemar. For purposes of this analysis, Goldman Sachs calculated various multiples for Embratel Holdings, based on enterprise values implied by (i) Embratel Holdings equity market capitalization as of April 24, 2006, (ii) R$6.40 per share, the price per share reflected in the October 2005 Valuation Report and (iii) R$7.00 per share, considering an approximate 30% market premium over the price of Embratel Holdings preferred shares as of April 24, 2006. For purposes of this analysis, Goldman Sachs excluded from Embratel Holdings market capitalization its ownership stake at the time in Net at its then-current market capitalization.

Goldman Sachs analysis of the selected companies compared the following to the results for Embratel Holdings:

the enterprise value as a multiple of revenue for calendar years 2006 and 2007; and the enterprise value as a multiple of EBITDA for calendar years 2006 and 2007.

The following table compares the relevant multiples referred to above calculated for two of the selected companies and Embratel Holdings:

As part of its April 25, 2006 discussion materials, Goldman Sachs calculated the total investment, in U.S. dollars and Brazilian reais, that Telmex would need to make to purchase all outstanding common shares and preferred shares of Embratel Holdings not owned by Telmex at the time, implied by per share prices for Embratel Holdings preferred shares ranging from R$5.47, the closing price for Embratel Holdings preferred shares on April 24, 2006, to R$7.00, representing an approximate 30% premium over the April 24, 2006 closing price. In addition, Goldman Sachs calculated the enterprise value for Embratel Holdings, implied by the range of per share prices for Embratel Holdings preferred shares, as a multiple of EBITDA for each of calendar years 2005 and 2006. Goldman Sachs also calculated the adjusted enterprise value for Embratel Holdings, derived by subtracting the market value of Embratel Holdings proportional stake in Net from Embratel Holdings equity market capitalization and adding net debt, implied by the same range of per share prices for Embratel Holdings preferred shares, as a multiple of EBITDA for each of calendar years 2005 and 2006.

In addition, Goldman Sachs provided Telmex management with a calculation of the premium implied by a range of implied share prices over the weighted average share price of Embratel Holdings common shares and preferred shares over certain periods. Goldman Sachs also derived the percentage of Embratel Holdings common shares and preferred shares that had traded at a price equal to or below the implied share prices for Embratel Holdings common shares and preferred shares for the three months, six months and twelve months ended April 24, 2006.

Goldman Sachs also performed an illustrative valuation analysis of Embratel Holdings to calculate an implied per share price for Embratel Holdings, as of April 24, 2006. To calculate the illustrative implied per share price for Embratel Holdings, Goldman Sachs began with R$6.40 per share, the price per share reflected in the October 2005 Valuation Report. To the R$6.40, Goldman Sachs added R$0.59, an amount that represents the per share increase in valuation of Embratel Holdings stake in Net, from Net's price per share of R$0.84 at the time of the October 2005 Valuation Report, to its market price of R$1.24, as of April 24, 2006. Goldman Sachs then added R$0.23, an amount that represents the per share value of the purchase price paid by Embratel Holdings for the acquisition of PrimeSys, as publicly disclosed in its notice of material fact on August 5, 2005, which was furnished to the SEC on a Form 6-K on August 8, 2005. Finally, Goldman Sachs added R$0.60, an amount which represents the increase in value per share of Embratel Holdings resulting from the tightening of the Brazilian country spreads. Based on this illustrative valuation analysis, Goldman Sachs derived an illustrative implied per share price for Embratel Holdings of R$7.86.

Goldman Sachs set forth in the discussion materials certain data from (i) the projections from the Embratel Holdings management business plan that had been furnished to ABN AMRO in connection with the October 2005 Valuation Report, (ii) revised projections taken from the then-current Embratel Holdings management business plan and (iii) Embratel Holdings 2006 Budget.

As part of its May 6, 2006 discussion materials, Goldman Sachs provided Telmex management with a calculation of the premium implied by a range of implied share prices over the market price per share of Embratel Holdings preferred shares at certain times. Goldman Sachs compared these implied Embratel Holdings share prices ranging from R$6.73 to R$7.15, the range of equity value per share derived by ABN AMRO in its May 1, 2006 valuation report, described above in Valuation Report of Banco ABN AMRO Real S.A., with the following trading prices for Embratel Holdings preferred shares:

the closing price of R$5.51 on May 5, 2006;

the weighted average price of R$5.14 for the 30 calendar days ending May 5, 2006;

the weighted average price of R$5.37 for the 90 calendar days ending May 5, 2006;

the weighted average price of R$5.65 for the 180 calendar days ending May 5, 2006; and the weighted average price of R$5.24 for the 360 calendar days ending May 5, 2006.

Applying the mid-point implied share price of R$6.94, the results of Goldman Sachs calculations are reflected below:

Period:	Implied Premium Based on Implied R$6.94 Share Price and then current Embratel Holdings Stock Price:
As of May 5, 2006	26.0%
30-day weighted average	34.9%
90-day weighted average	29.4%
180-day weighted average	22.9%
360-day weighted average	32.5%

Finally, Goldman Sachs calculated the enterprise value for Embratel Holdings implied by the May 1, 2006 valuation report price range of R$6.73 to R$7.15, as a multiple of EBITDA for each of calendar years 2006 and 2007. The enterprise value for Embratel Holdings utilized by Goldman Sachs was calculated by adding Embratel Holdings equity market capitalization implied by the valuation report share price range to net debt as of March 31, 2006, and subtracting Embratel Holdings proportional stake in Net, which the May 1, 2006 valuation report valued at R$1.13 per share. The EBITDA projections for 2006 and 2007 utilized by Goldman Sachs were based on the consensus of IBES, as of May 5, 2006. Applying the mid-point implied share price of R$6.94 derived from the range of prices provided by the ABN AMRO's May 1, 2006 valuation report, Goldman Sachs calculated an implied enterprise value/EBITDA multiple of 3.0x based on 2006 estimated EBITDA and an implied enterprise value/EBITDA multiple of 2.9x based on 2007 estimated EBITDA.

In preparing all of its discussion materials, Goldman Sachs relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial, accounting, legal, tax and other information discussed with or reviewed by it and assumed such accuracy and completeness for purposes of performing its financial analyses. Goldman Sachs was not asked to make, and did not assume responsibility for making, any independent verification of the information reviewed by it. Telmex engaged Goldman Sachs to act as its financial advisor because it is an internationally recognized investment banking firm that has substantial experience in transactions similar to the tender offer. Goldman Sachs and its affiliates, as part of their investment banking business, are continually engaged in performing financial analyses with respect to businesses and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions, negotiated underwritings, competitive biddings, secondary distributions of listed and unlisted securities, private placements and other transactions as well as for estate, corporate and other purposes. Goldman Sachs has provided in the past, and may continue to provide from time to time, investment banking advice and financial advisory services to Telmex and its affiliates (including Embratel Holdings). In connection with the above-described investment banking and other services, Goldman Sachs has received, and may receive, compensation. For investment banking services provided over the past two years, Goldman Sachs has been paid U.S.$1,445,375 in fees and expense reimbursements from Telmex and Embratel Holdings. Goldman Sachs is a full service securities firm engaged, either directly or indirectly through its affiliates, in securities trading, investment management, financial planning and benefits counseling, risk management, hedging, financing and brokerage activities for both companies and individuals. In the unlikely event that deregistration does occur on such a timetable, we will, and will cause Embratel Holdings to, comply with any notice requirements imposed by applicable Brazilian law relating to the mandatory redemption or the shareholder put right. The following text is hereby added after the first sentence of the second full paragraph on page 24:
