Due to changes in the tax laws and regulations of the People's Republic of China (the PRC), individual shareholders who hold the Company's H shares and whose names appear on the register of members of H shares of the Company (the Individual H Shareholders) can no longer be exempted from personal income tax on the basis of the Notice on Matters Concerning Income Taxes on Profits on Transfer of Shares (Equity Interests) and on Dividends Received by Enterprises Invested by Foreigners, Foreign Enterprises and Individual Foreigners (Guo Shui Fa [1993] No. 45) () 的通知》(發[1993]45號)) which was

The State Administration of Taxation has recently clarified the tax arrangements for the distribution of H-share dividends by non-foreign invested enterprises inside China with shares issued in Hong Kong. Pursuant to the letter dated 28 June 2011 from the State Administration of Taxation to the Inland Revenue Department of Hong Kong, with respect to individual shareholders who are Chinese residing outside China and generate income from dividends shares issued in Hong Kong by non-foreign invested enterprises incorporated in China, the withholding agents are required to withhold personal income tax according to the law. However, individual shareholders who reside outside China and hold shares issued in Hong Kong by non-foreign invested enterprises incorporated in China are entitled to the relevant tax preferential treatments according to the tax agreements entered into between China and the countries to which they belong as well as the requirements under the tax arrangements between Mainland China and Hong Kong (Macau). To streamline tax collection and management, the State Administration of Taxation has clarified that when the non-foreign invested enterprises incorporated in China who issued shares in Hong Kong distribute dividends, they may generally withhold personal income tax at a tax rate of 10%, without having to require the individual shareholders residing outside China to handle any procedures for applying for the relevant tax preferential treatments to which they are entitled. However, if the applicable tax rates under Chinese tax regulations and/or relevant tax agreements are higher or lower than 10%, the enterprises are required to execute according to such Chinese tax regulations and/or relevant tax agreements.

As for holders of H shares who are non-resident enterprises, pursuant to the relevant PRC tax regulations, the Company will withhold corporate income tax on the dividends at a tax rate of 10%.

If holders of H shares of the Company have any questions regarding the aforesaid arrangements, please consult taxation advisors on the taxation impact in the PRC, Hong Kong and other countries (regions) for owning and disposing of H shares of the Company.

Other information in respect of the distribution of final dividends as disclosed in the Notice of 2010 Annual General Meeting and the announcement on Resolutions Passed at the 2010 Annual General Meeting remains unchanged.
