Sasol hedges 45 000 barrels per day of its South African synthetics fuels production

Sasol today, is pleased to announce that it has entered into hedging transactions (zero cost collars) for 45 000 barrels of oil per day (equivalent to approximately 30% of its South African synfuels production) for its 2008 financial year, which commences 1 July 2007. In terms of this hedge, Sasol has achieved an average floor price of US$62,40 per barrel (based on monthly average dated Brent crude oil prices) on the hedged portion of production, and conversely Sasol will forego the upside on the hedged volumes, should the monthly average dated Brent price exceed US$76,80 per barrel.

The zero cost collar structure is similar to the oil price hedging concluded for the 2007 financial year, when a floor price of US$63,00 per barrel was achieved and upside was limited to US$83,60 per barrel, also on 45 000 barrels of oil per day. Appropriate disclosure of this hedging will also be made in our 2007 annual report and Form 20-F.

Forward-looking statements: In this announcement we make certain statements that are not historical facts and relate to analyses and other information based on forecasts of future results not yet determinable, relating, amongst other things, to exchange rate fluctuations, volume growth, increases in market share, total shareholder return and cost reductions. These are forward-looking statements as defined in the United States Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. Words such as "believe", "anticipate", "intend", "seek", "will", "plan", "could", "may", "endeavour" and "project" and similar expressions are intended to identify such forward-looking statements, but are not the exclusive means of identifying such statements. Forward-looking statements involve inherent risks and uncertainties and, if one or more of these risks materialise, or should underlying assumptions prove incorrect, actual results may be very different from those anticipated. The factors that could cause our actual results to differ materially from such forward-looking statements are discussed more fully in our most recent annual report under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 on Form 20-F filed on 2 November 2006 and in other filings with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission. Forward-looking statements apply only as of the date on which they are made, and Sasol does not undertake any obligation to update or revise any of them, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise.
