Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Principal Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Principal Officers.

(c) On February 28, 2006, Lucent Technologies Inc. (the "Company") announced that John A. Kritzmacher, 45, has been appointed the company's chief financial officer (CFO). Mr. Kritzmacher, who had been Lucent's corporate controller since 2001, succeeds Frank D'Amelio, who took on a new role as Lucent's chief operating officer in January. The appointment is effective immediately and is for an indefinite term.

As CFO, Mr. Kritzmacher will be responsible for all of Lucent's financial operations, including corporate accounting, external reporting, financial planning, treasury, tax and investor relations. In addition, he will oversee internal audit, real estate, and mergers and acquisitions. He will report directly to Chairman and CEO Patricia Russo.

Mr. Kritzmacher joined an accelerated leadership development program at Bell Labs in 1982, and has progressed through a number of positions in finance, product marketing and operations at Lucent and its predecessor, AT&T. Prior assignments included finance leadership for the Switching Solutions Group, planning and analysis for the former Network Systems Group, merger and acquisition development, and market unit business management within North America. Among his most recent financial roles, Mr. Kritzmacher was responsible for providing financial leadership across all of Lucent's products units.

Mr. Kritzmacher earned a bachelor's degree in math and economics from Dartmouth College and an MBA from New York University's Stern School of Business.
