PRESS RELEASE

Eni announces that it will appeal the ruling on Pieve Vergonte site (Syndial).

San Donato Milanese (Milan), July 16, 2008 - Following a meeting today, Eni Board of Directors has agreed with the decision by its subsidiary Syndial (former EniChem) to appeal the ruling of the District Court of Torino on July 8, 2008, ordering Syndial to pay the Italian Ministry of the Environment the sum of 1.9 billion Euros for damages to the environment caused when EniChem managed the facilities at Pieve Vergonte from 1990-1996.

An application requesting suspension of enforceability of the sentence will be presented as soon as possible. Syndial and its technical-legal consultants consider the sentence and the amount of the compensation to be without any basis. Syndial underlines its longstanding commitment to protecting and cleaning up the site from the contamination which took place well before than Pieve Vergonte's transfer to EniChem (now Syndial) as required by law in the 1980s, following the SIR Group's financial problems.
