Item 2.03 Creation of a Direct Financial Obligation or an Obligation under an Off-Balance Sheet Arrangement of a Registrant.

The Company filed a patent infringement lawsuit against eBay Inc. in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts in December 2013. The Company was represented in its lawsuit on a contingency basis by Hunton & Williams LLP ("Hunton"). To fund the expenses of the lawsuit not covered by Hunton, the Company simultaneously entered into a financing arrangement to cover all remainder fees and costs of the lawsuit out of proceeds from the lawsuit and other licensing. To secure its payment obligations to the financier, the Company granted a security interest in the personal property of the Company, including the subject patents and all lawsuits, judgments and proceeds therefrom.

As of March 11, 2016, the Company entered into a Confidential Settlement and License Agreement with eBay whereby the Company was paid a one-time settlement and royalty payment. The Company received $53,500 after costs as full and final payment for such settlement of the lawsuit and non-exclusive licensing of the Company's patents, and all obligations to the financier were terminated, with full releases from the parties, including a termination of the security interest in the Company's personal property.

Item 8.01 Other Events.

The Company filed a patent infringement lawsuit against eBay Inc. in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts in December 2013 related to Company patents for real-time calculation of shipping, insurance and taxes online. The case is now settled pursuant to a Confidential Settlement and License Agreement. Under the agreement, the Company received $53,500 after costs as full and final payment for such settlement of the lawsuit and non-exclusive licensing of the Company's patents.
