Corning Announces Third-Quarter Results

LCD volume strong

CORNING, N.Y. -- Corning Incorporated (NYSE: GLW) today announced third-quarter sales of $1.28 billion and net income of $438 million, or $0.27 per share.

Corning's third-quarter results include a charge of $13 million, or $0.01 per share, primarily reflecting the increase in market value of Corning common stock to be contributed to settle the asbestos litigation related to Pittsburgh Corning Corporation. Excluding this charge, Corning's third-quarter net income would have been $451 million, or $0.28 per share. These are non-GAAP financial measures. These and all non-GAAP financial measures are reconciled on the company's investor relations Web site and in attachments to this news release.

"This was an excellent quarter for Corning," Wendell P. Weeks, president and chief executive officer, said. "At the beginning of the third quarter, we were uncertain about the pace of the recovery from the excess panel inventory correction in the liquid crystal display (LCD) supply chain. We were pleased that glass demand improved each month throughout the quarter as our customers geared up to meet the anticipated fourth-quarter demand for LCD televisions, notebook computers and desktop monitors," he said.

Third-Quarter Operating Results

Corning's third-quarter sales of $1.28 billion increased slightly over second-quarter sales of $1.26 billion and by 8 percent over last year's third-quarter sales of $1.19 billion. Gross margin for the third quarter remained strong at 44 percent.

Equity earnings for the third quarter were $232 million compared to second-quarter equity earnings of $256 million, which included a $33 million tax gain at Dow Corning Corporation. Dow Corning's third-quarter equity earnings were $78 million.

Third-quarter sales for Corning's Display Technologies segment were $506 million, a 3 percent increase over 2005 third-quarter sales of $489 million. Year-over-year LCD glass volume increased 31 percent in the third quarter, largely offset by price declines and the impact of foreign exchange rates. Sequentially, third-quarter sales increased 10 percent from second-quarter sales of $461 million as volume increases of 16 percent were offset somewhat by price declines and the impact of foreign exchange rates.

Samsung Corning Precision Glass Co., Ltd.'s (SCP) third-quarter volume increased 38 percent year-over-year and 11 percent sequentially. Equity earnings from SCP were $135 million, up 18 percent over last year and up about 2 percent compared with the second quarter.

Total LCD glass volume, including both Corning's wholly owned business and SCP, increased 35 percent year-over-year and 13 percent sequentially.

Edgar Filing: CORNING INC /NY - Form 8-K

Telecommunications segment sales for the third quarter were $456 million, declining 3 percent from the previous quarter but in line with expectations. The decline was primarily due to lower volume of fiber-to-the-premises (FTTP) products and price declines.

The company's Environmental Technologies segment had sales of $153 million compared to second-quarter sales of $152 million, reflecting relatively flat sales of both automotive and diesel products. In early October, Corning announced its first long-term diesel emissions-control products supply agreement with Cummins Emissions Solutions, a business unit of Cummins Inc. Sales in Corning's Life Sciences segment declined sequentially primarily due to a softer market in North America and Europe.

Cash Flow/Liquidity Update

Corning ended the third quarter with $2.8 billion in cash and short-term investments, an increase from $2.5 billion in the previous quarter. The increase in cash and short-term investments is primarily due to the issuance of $250 million of long-term debt to replace debt repurchased in the second quarter. "Maintaining significant cash is important to Corning's long-term financial health and to enable us to invest in new business opportunities that emerge from our research laboratories," James B. Flaws, vice chairman and chief financial officer, said.

In the third quarter, Corning had positive free cash flow of $76 million and remains on track to be free cash flow positive for the year. Free cash flow is a non-GAAP financial measure.

Fourth-Quarter Outlook

Corning expects fourth-quarter sales to be in the range of $1.28 billion to $1.33 billion and EPS in the range of $0.26 to $0.29, before special items. This EPS estimate is a non-GAAP financial measure and excludes any special items.

Gross margin for the fourth quarter is expected to be in the range of 44 percent to 46 percent and selling, general and administrative expenses are expected to be in the range of 17 percent to 18 percent of sales. The fourth-quarter tax rate is expected to be in the range of 13 percent to 15 percent.

In its Display Technologies segment, Corning expects that fourth-quarter sequential volume growth for its wholly owned business will be in the range of 20 percent to 30 percent as the strong demand experienced at the end of the third quarter continues into the fourth quarter. Samsung Corning Precision's fourth-quarter volume is expected to increase sequentially between 8 percent and 12 percent. Corning expects that fourth-quarter price declines will be consistent with the third quarter.

"We are expecting our display segment to perform well in the fourth quarter," Flaws said. "We anticipate that LCD TV sales will exceed 20 percent of the global television market this year," he said.

Corning's LCD glass volume for the first three quarters, including both its wholly owned business and SCP, increased more than 50 percent versus last year. "With the expected fourth-quarter growth, Corning's full-year volume growth should be in line with our expectations for the year. Our capability to deliver larger-generation substrate solutions and environmentally green glass with our EAGLE XG(TM) composition has allowed us to maintain a market leadership position," Flaws said.

Corning's fourth-quarter Telecommunications segment sales are expected to decline sequentially by 20 percent to 25 percent due to normal seasonality, lower FTTP volume and price declines. Fourth-quarter sales in the company's Environmental Technologies segment are expected to be flat with the previous quarter. Fourth-quarter equity earnings are expected to be flat to down 5 percent.

Flaws also said that the company has been encouraged by its initial diesel products sales and expects that volume should continue to build as the industry gears up for the implementation of the stricter 2007 U.S. environmental emissions requirements for diesel engines. He said that the volume ramp should occur over several quarters into next year.

"An important goal for the long-term success of the company is the development of a more balanced product portfolio," Weeks said. "We continue to maintain an investment of approximately 10 percent of our sales into research, development and engineering. A highlight of our third quarter was the introduction of Corning's Epic(TM) system, the life science industry's first label-free, high-throughput drug screening system. Our exploration into new advanced displays such as single-crystal silicon-on-glass technology, green laser applications, carbon-based energy storage (fuel cells) and optical fiber-radio technology are a few examples of some of our more promising early-stage developments currently in our laboratories," Weeks said. He noted that these types of technology developments often take as long as 10 years before they are commercialized into the marketplace.

Presentation of Information in this News Release

Non-GAAP financial measures are not in accordance with, or an alternative to, GAAP. Corning's non-GAAP net income and EPS measure excludes restructuring, impairment and other charges and adjustments to prior estimates for such charges. Additionally, the company's non-GAAP measure excludes adjustments to asbestos settlement reserves required by movements in Corning's common stock price, gains and losses arising from debt retirements, charges resulting from the impairment of equity or cost method investments, or adjustments to deferred tax assets, and gains or losses recognized in equity earnings from restructuring, impairment or other charges or credits taken by equity method companies. Corning's free cash flow financial measures are also non-GAAP measures. The company believes presenting non-GAAP free cash flow; net income and EPS measures are helpful to analyze financial performance without the impact of unusual items that may obscure trends in the company's underlying performance. These non-GAAP measures are reconciled on the company's Web site at www.corning.com/investor_relations and accompany this news release.

NOTES TO CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

1. Asbestos Settlement

On March 28, 2003, Corning announced that it had reached agreement with the representatives of asbestos claimants for the settlement of all current and future asbestos claims against Corning and Pittsburgh Corning Corporation (PCC), which might arise from PCC products or operations. The proposed settlement, when the plan becomes effective, will require Corning to relinquish its equity interest in PCC, contribute its equity interest in Pittsburgh Corning Europe N.V. (PCE), a Belgian corporation, and contribute 25 million shares of Corning common stock. Corning also agreed to make cash payments with a value of $131 million, in March 2003, over six years from the effective date of the settlement and to assign insurance policy proceeds from its primary insurance and a portion of its excess insurance at the time of the settlement.

As a result of the proposed asbestos settlement, any changes in the estimated fair value of the components of the proposed settlement agreement will be recognized in Corning's quarterly results until the date of the contribution to the settlement trust.  This schedule will be updated as additional announcements occur.

- (a) From time to time, Corning may need to make adjustments to estimates used in the determination of prior year restructuring and impairment charges, which could result in a gain or loss during the quarter.
- (b) As part of Corning's asbestos settlement arrangement to be incorporated into the Pittsburgh Corning Corporation reorganization plan, Corning will contribute, when the reorganization plan becomes effective, 25 million shares of Corning common stock to a trust. The common stock will be contributed to the trust, after the plan has been approved by the asbestos claimants and bankruptcy court. The portion of the asbestos liability to be settled in common stock requires adjustment each quarter based upon movements in Corning's common stock price prior to contribution of the shares to the trust. In the fourth quarter of 2006, Corning will record a charge or credit for the change in its common stock price as of December 31, 2006 compared to $24.41, the common stock price at September 30, 2006. In addition, Corning will record an adjustment to the asbestos liability to reflect the change in fair value of any of the other components of the proposed asbestos settlement.

Please note that the company may pursue other financing, restructuring and divestiture activities at any time in the future, and that the potential impact of these events is not included within Corning's fourth quarter 2006 guidance.
