AMR EAGLE EYE

December 19, 2008

Statements in this report contain various forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, which represent the Company's expectations or beliefs concerning future events. When used in this document, the words "expects", "plans," "anticipates," "indicates," "believes," "forecast," "guidance," "outlook", "may," "will," "should" and similar are intended to identify forward-looking statements. Similarly, statements that describe our objectives, plans or goals are forward-looking statements. Forward-looking statements include, without limitation, the Company's expectations concerning operations and financial conditions, including changes in capacity, revenues and costs; future financing plans and needs; overall economic conditions; plans and objectives for future operations; and the impact on the Company of its results of operations in recent years and the sufficiency of its financial resources to absorb that impact. Other forward-looking statements include statements which do not relate solely to historical facts, such as, without limitation, statements which discuss the possible future effects of current known trends or uncertainties, or which indicate that the future effects of known trends or uncertainties cannot be predicted, guaranteed or assured. All forward-looking statements in this report are based upon information available to the Company on the date of this report. The Company undertakes no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of new information, future events, or otherwise. This document includes forecasts of unit cost and revenue performance, fuel prices and fuel hedging, capacity and traffic estimates, other income/expense estimates, share count, and statements regarding the Company's liquidity, each of which is a forward-looking statement. Forward-looking statements are subject to a number of factors that could cause the Company's actual results to differ materially from the Company's expectations. The following factors, in addition to other possible factors not listed, could cause the Company's actual results to differ materially from those expressed in forward-looking statements: the materially weakened financial condition of the Company, resulting from its significant losses in recent years; the ability of the Company to generate additional revenues and reduce its costs; changes in economic and other conditions beyond the Company's control, and the volatile results of the Company's operations; the Company's substantial indebtedness and other obligations; the ability of the Company to satisfy existing financial or other covenants in certain of its credit agreements; continued high and volatile fuel prices and further increases in the price of fuel, and the availability of fuel; the fiercely and increasingly competitive business environment faced by the Company; industry consolidation; competition with reorganized and reorganizing carriers; low fare levels by historical standards and the Company's reduced pricing power; the Company's need to raise substantial additional funds and its ability to do so on acceptable terms; changes in the Company's corporate or business strategy; government regulation of the Company's business; conflicts overseas or terrorist attacks; uncertainties with respect to the Company's international operations; outbreaks of a disease (such as SARS or avian flu) that affects travel behavior; labor costs that are higher than those of the Company's competitors; uncertainties with respect to the Company's relationships with unionized and other employee work groups; increased insurance costs and potential reductions of available insurance coverage; the Company's ability to retain key management personnel; potential failures or disruptions of the Company's computer, communications or other technology systems; changes in the price of the Company's common stock; and the ability of the Company to reach acceptable agreements with third parties. Additional information concerning these and other factors is contained in the Company's Securities and Exchange Commission filings, including but not limited to the Company's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2007.

This Eagle Eye provides updated guidance for the fourth quarter and the full year 2008.

Performance Update

Costs: Unit cost forecasts are attached.

Revenue: In the fourth quarter of 2007, AMR recognized a $39 million one-time gain to Passenger Revenue reflecting the positive impact of the change to an 18-month expiration of AAdvantage miles. Excluding this special item, fourth quarter mainline unit revenue is expected to increase between 4.7% and 5.7% year over year. Fourth quarter consolidated unit revenue is expected to increase between 4.3% and 5.3%. In total, Cargo and Other Revenue is anticipated to increase between 4% and 5% relative to fourth quarter 2007.

Liquidity: At the end of the third quarter 2008 we held approximately $240 million of hedge collateral from counterparties; however, due to the decline in the price of oil during the fourth quarter we expect that by the end of the fourth quarter we will have posted approximately $550 million in hedge collateral with counterparties (based on the 12/12/08 forward curve). Taking this into account, we expect to end the fourth quarter with a cash and short-term investment balance of approximately $3.6 billion, including approximately $460 million in restricted cash and short-term investments.

AA Cost per ASM (ex-fuel and special items) 1/ 2/	8.50	8.44	8.39	8.44	8.16

Notes: 4Q08 and FY2008 unit cost estimates incorporate effects of capacity reductions as announced in the second quarter. The increase in ex-fuel unit cost versus last year is primarily due to cost headwinds associated with reduced capacity and increased foreign exchange charges.

1/ The Company believes that unit costs excluding fuel and/or special items is a useful measurement to investors in monitoring the Company's ongoing cost performance.

2/ Special items for the fourth quarter are expected to total approximately $107 million; these are non-cash items resulting from pension charges associated with pilot early retirements as well as aircraft and facility charges associated with capacity reductions.
