PROXY STATEMENT

This proxy statement is furnished to stockholders by the Board of Directors of the Company for solicitation of proxies for use at the Annual Meeting of Stockholders on Friday, April 25, 2003. The proxies may also be voted at any adjournment or postponement of the meeting. The expense of this solicitation will be paid by the Company.

The Company's principal executive offices are located at 630 West Germantown Pike, Suite 450, Plymouth Meeting, Pennsylvania 19462. This proxy statement and the enclosed form of proxy were mailed to stockholders approximately on March 24, 2003.

In addition to use of the mail, some directors, officers and regular employees of the Company may solicit proxies personally by telephone, facsimile, electronic mail, telegram or personal interview. The shares represented by each proxy will be voted in accordance with the instructions in the proxy, unless the proxy is revoked before the meeting. Any proxy may be revoked before it is exercised by providing written notice to the Secretary of the Company or by submitting a new proxy. If no voting instructions are given in the proxy, the shares represented by the proxy will be voted for the election as directors of the nominees listed on pages 3 and 4 and for the ratification of the appointment of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, independent accountants, as the Company's auditors for the fiscal year ending December 28, 2003.

Only stockholders of record at the close of business on March 7, 2003 are entitled to vote at the Annual Meeting or at adjournments or postponements of the meeting. Each owner of record on the record date is entitled to one vote for each share of common stock held. On March 7, 2003, the Company had outstanding and entitled to vote 39,439,625 shares of common stock.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1. What is a proxy ?

It is your way of legally designating another person to vote for you. That other person is called a proxy. If you designate another person as your proxy in writing, the written document is called a proxy or proxy card.

2. What is a proxy statement ?

It is a document required by the Securities and Exchange Commission which explains to you why we are asking you to sign a proxy card.

3. What is a quorum ?

A quorum is the minimum number of shareholders who must be present or voting by proxy in order to conduct business at the meeting. A majority of the outstanding shares, whether present in person or represented by proxy, will constitute a quorum at the Annual Meeting. Shares represented by proxies marked to abstain from voting for a proposal or to withhold voting for one or more nominees (abstentions) and broker non-votes are counted for purposes of determining the presence of a quorum.

4. What is a broker non-vote ?

When brokers and banks which are holding shares on behalf of beneficial owners do not receive voting instructions from the beneficial owners by the tenth day before the Annual Meeting, such brokers and banks may vote those shares only on matters deemed routine by the New York Stock Exchange, such as the election of directors and ratification of the appointment of independent accountants. On non-routine matters, such brokers and banks cannot vote, and there is a so-called broker non-vote on that matter.

5. Who is entitled to vote at the Annual Meeting?

Stockholders of record at the close of business on March 7, 2003 (the Record Date) are entitled to vote at the Annual Meeting. Each owner of record on the Record Date is entitled to one vote for each share of common stock held.

6. What is the Record Date ?

It is the date established by the Board of Directors, as required by law, as the last date for eligibility to vote your shares at the upcoming Annual Meeting. You must be a shareholder of record on that date to vote at the Annual Meeting.

7. How many votes are required to elect directors or approve any proposals?

A plurality of the votes cast at the meeting is required to elect directors; that is, the four nominees receiving the highest number of votes will be elected. The affirmative vote of a majority of outstanding shares present, in person or by proxy, is necessary to approve any other proposal. Abstentions will be included in the vote count and have the same effect as voting against a proposal. Broker non-votes will not be included in the vote count and will have no effect on the vote.

8. How do I vote?

Please sign and date each proxy card which you receive and return it in the prepaid envelope included with your proxy package. Any proxy card which is returned without any markings indicating how you wish to vote will be counted as a vote FOR the election of directors and ratification of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP as auditors for 2003. You may revoke your proxy at any time before the meeting by (a) notifying Steven K. Chance, Secretary, (b) voting in person or by telephone, or (c) returning a second, later-dated, proxy card.

ELECTION OF DIRECTORS

The Company's Bylaws provide that the Board of Directors shall be composed of not fewer than six nor more than fifteen directors, as fixed by a majority of the entire board from time to time. Effective as of the 2003 Annual Meeting, the board has fixed at ten the number of directors which shall constitute the entire board.

The Company's Bylaws also provide for the division of the Board of Directors into three classes as equal in number as possible, with members of each class having a term of office of three years. Accordingly, at the 2003 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, four directors will be elected for three-year terms expiring at the Annual Meeting of Stockholders of the Company in 2006. The board, on recommendation of the Nominating Committee, has nominated Mrs. von Seldeneck and Messrs. J. Black, Lubsen and Yoh for election for three-year terms.

It is intended that shares represented by properly executed proxies will be voted for the election of Mrs. von Seldeneck and Messrs. J. Black, Lubsen and Yoh for terms expiring in 2006. If any nominee becomes unavailable to serve (which is not now anticipated), the persons named in the proxy may vote it for another nominee selected by the Board of Directors. Mr. Lubsen and the continuing directors were elected by the stockholders of the Company.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION ABOUT THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The Board of Directors of the Company met seven times in 2002. Each of the nominees and continuing directors attended at least seventy-five percent of the combined total of board meetings and meetings held in 2002 by committees on which he or she served.

As provided in the Company's Bylaws, the Board of Directors has established an Audit Committee, Compensation Committee, Nominating Committee and Executive Committee, as follows:

The Audit Committee, currently composed of Messrs. Cook and Stratton and Dr. Gonnella, held six meetings in 2002. The Board of Directors has adopted a written charter for the Audit Committee (the Charter). Pursuant to the Charter, the Audit Committee reviews with the Company's financial officers and independent accountants the financial statements of the Company and related matters preliminary to the consideration of the financial statements by the full Board of Directors. The members of the Audit Committee are independent (as independence is defined in Sections 303.01(B)(2)(a) and (3) of the New York Stock Exchange's listing standards).

The Compensation Committee currently consists of four members: Mrs. Barron and Messrs. Beckman, Lubsen, and Stratton. The Compensation Committee held four meetings in 2002. The Compensation Committee makes recommendations to the Company's Board of Directors regarding the Company's compensation policies, compensation plans and specific compensation arrangements for management executives and directors. The Committee is also authorized to grant options and restricted stock awards under the Company's Stock Compensation Plans. Only a subcommittee of the Compensation Committee, however, comprised solely of directors who qualify as Non-Employee Directors under SEC Rule 16b-3, is authorized to approve compensation arrangements for senior officers and directors, including the grant of stock options and restricted stock. In 2002, the subcommittee was comprised of Mrs. Barron and Mr. Lubsen.

The Nominating Committee, currently composed of Mrs. Barron and Messrs. Lubsen and Stratton, held three meetings in 2002. The Nominating Committee considers and makes recommendations to the board regarding nominees for election to the board. The Committee will consider stockholders' suggestions for candidates if mailed to: Secretary, Teleflex Incorporated, 155 South Limerick Road, Limerick, PA 19468 by January 2, 2004.

The Executive Committee is currently composed of Messrs. L.K. Black, Beckman and Palmer E. Retzlaff. (Mr. Retzlaff will be retiring as of the Annual Meeting.) Subject to certain exceptions, the Executive Committee may exercise the powers of the Board of Directors in the management of the business and affairs of the Company when the board is not in session.

WILLIAM R. COOK, CHAIRMAN JOSEPH S. GONNELLA, M.D. JAMES W. STRATTON

COMPENSATION COMMITTEE REPORT ON EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

The Company's compensation policy with respect to its senior management is to offer competitive compensation opportunities based on individual and corporate performance. Compensation of senior managers is fixed by the Board of Directors upon the recommendations of the Compensation Committee, which are developed in consultation with the Chief Executive Officer. The compensation package for senior management is composed of three parts, Salaries, Bonuses and Long-term Incentive Compensation, as follows:

Table of Contents

Salaries are set in amounts comparable to base salaries of executives with similar responsibilities in comparable companies engaged in similar businesses. Comparative data is drawn from independent surveys of executive compensation of manufacturing companies on average comparable in size to the Company. There is no material correlation between the companies included in the surveys and the companies included in the indices shown in the graph of Market Performance at page 9. Generally, the Company fixes salaries at approximately the midpoint of the average compensation for positions of comparable responsibility reported by the surveyed companies. While individual performance of each executive has some effect on his or her salary determination, in the case of executive officers, it is of relatively modest consequence. Nor is corporate financial performance a material factor in setting executive salaries. The Company regards salaries as a base for compensation and relies on the annual bonus and long-term incentive compensation to reward fairly and to provide an incentive for excellence of service and loyalty.

Bonuses are awarded shortly after the close of each year to selected managerial personnel based upon the Company's financial performance and the executive's individual performance and contributions in that year. In the case of bonus participants below the level of executive officer, allocations are made on predetermined formulae, which vary among the Company's divisions, designed to reflect primarily the contribution to the Company's profits for that year by the division or other unit of which the participant is a member. The primary factor considered is the relative profitability of the division or unit of the Company's operations for which the manager is responsible. This factor generally accounts for approximately 60% of the award. Another approximately 20% of the award is based on other measures of improvements in the operations of the division or unit (such as return on average assets or improvement of working capital as a percentage of sales). The remaining approximately 20% of the award is based on the executive's individual achievement of specific objectives or goals. Such goals are set early in each year in consultation with the senior officer to whom the executive reports and generally relate to specific profitability, sales, product quality or productivity standards which are objectively measurable. Bonus awards to executive officers, however, are based on a subjective evaluation and determination by the Compensation Committee in consultation with the Chief Executive Officer. A principal consideration is the relative profitability in the preceding year of the Company and any division or other unit for which an executive officer has responsibility, but factors other than corporate financial performance may be given equal or even greater weight in individual cases. These factors include consideration of the accomplishment of operational missions, such as expansion of product lines or market shares or geographical or industry penetration, new product development, improvements in efficiency of operations, accomplishment of strategically significant corporate acquisitions and other matters. Many of these corporate missions or objectives are identified in the preceding year, but others develop during the course of time, responding to often unanticipated outside influences which affect the Company's business. Accordingly, the Committee does not measure performance against preset goals in the case of bonus awards to executive officers. No executive is assured of any minimum bonus, and the Company's present policy is that an executive's bonus may not exceed 50% of his or her salary except in the case of senior officers (whose bonus limitation is 80% of salary) and the chief executive officer (whose bonus limitation is 90% of salary).

Table of Contents

Long-term incentive compensation consists of awards of stock options and restricted stock under the Company's Stock Compensation Plans. Awards have been granted to recognize and reward exceptional individual performance or to directly link a portion of an executive's compensation to shareholder returns over a future period of continued service. Typically, awards have not been based on any preset formulae or entitlement standard but have reflected the Compensation Committee's subjective perception of specific executives' individual contributions to the Company's successful performance in the preceding year or the Committee's determination that specific executives who undertake new or special responsibilities should receive a portion of their compensation over a period of time dependent on the increase in value of the Company's shares. The Compensation Committee, however, has granted restricted stock awards to a limited number of senior executives pursuant to a plan adopted at the beginning of a multi-year period, which entitled the executives to awards of specified numbers of shares, contingent upon the Company's achievement of specified goals for increased revenue, operating margins, return on equity and earnings per share during such period.

Lennox K. Black, Chairman of the Company, served as Chief Executive Officer in 2002 until May 9th when Jeffrey P. Black, President of the Company, was appointed Chief Executive Officer. Lennox K. Black's salary for 2002 was fixed at $703,000 plus, during the period when he served as Chief Executive Officer, a monthly stipend of $30,000. This represented no change from his 2001 salary, in accordance with the Company's decision to make no annual increases in senior officers' salaries for 2002. Upon Jeffrey P. Black's assuming the duties of Chief Executive Officer, his salary was increased from $421,500 to $530,000 to reflect the change in his responsibilities. In fixing his salary, the Company applied its policy, described above, to set salaries of executives at an amount comparable to the salaries of executives with similar responsibilities in comparable companies engaged in similar business. In addition, two special stock option grants were made to Jeffrey P. Black in 2002 of 50,000 shares each in consideration of his assumption of the responsibilities of Chief Executive Officer.

Section 162(m) of the Internal Revenue Code limits to $1 million the deductibility of compensation received in a year by each of the Company's five most highly compensated executive officers, exclusive of compensation which qualifies as performance-based or falls within other exceptions provided in the statute. Awards under the Company's Stock Compensation Plan may be made on terms which will qualify for exception from the deductibility limit. The Committee, however, retains discretion to make awards which are not fully deductible. Compensation paid in 2002 did not exceed the deductible limit.

Pension Plans

The company sponsors the Teleflex Incorporated Retirement Income Plan (TRIP), a qualified defined benefit pension plan, as well as the Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan (SERP), a non-qualified defined benefit pension plan that provides benefits that would otherwise be denied participants by reason of certain Internal Revenue Code limitations on qualified plan compensation and benefits.

A participant accumulates units of annual pension benefit for each year of service. For each of the first thirty-five years of service, a participant's unit is equal to 1.375% of his or her prior year's annual plan compensation up to the social security integration level, plus 2.0% of such compensation in excess of the social security integration level. For each year of service in excess of thirty-five, a participant's unit is equal to 1.833% of his or her prior year's annual plan compensation. The TRIP only recognizes annual plan compensation that does not exceed the Maximum Recognizable Compensation Limit determined by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). The SERP only recognizes base pay in excess of the IRS limit.

The estimated annual benefits, assuming no future increase in base salary, payable as a life annuity upon retirement (age 65 or current age, if greater) for each of the named executives is: Mr. L.K. Black, $217,494; Mr. J.P. Black, $210,020; Dr. Carriker, $91,720 [Dr. Carriker retired December 31, 2002]; Mr. Zuber, $148,944; and Mr. Sickler, $121,656.

Employment Contracts and Termination, Severance and Change-of-Control Arrangements

The Company's employment agreement with Lennox K. Black provides that Mr. Black may continue to serve the Company on a full-time basis or, at his election, as a consultant on a reduced-time basis until December 31, 2005. During the period of his full-time service, his salary will not be less than $574,000, and while serving as a consultant, his annual compensation will be at least 75% of his last full-time service salary but not less than $300,000, subject to adjustment for inflation. Mr. Black's agreement also provides for death and disability benefits, compensation continuation for up to two years in case of termination of employment under certain circumstances, and payment of deferred compensation for fifteen years, commencing in 1995, at the rate of $100,000 per year. The Company has purchased insurance on Mr. Black's life which will provide the Company with funds at least equal to the amount of such deferred compensation paid. In the event of termination of Mr. Black's employment, other life insurance which the Company is providing to him as an employment benefit will be continued for his lifetime.

Director Compensation

Directors of the Company who are also employees of the Company or any of its subsidiaries receive no additional compensation for their services as directors. Directors of the Company who are not employees of the Company or any of its subsidiaries (outside directors) are paid an annual fee at the rate of $20,000 per year and a $1,000 fee for each board or committee meeting attended, plus expenses. In addition, outside directors, on their first election or appointment to the board, receive a 5,000 share stock option under the Company's Stock Compensation Plan, and each outside director in office receives each year a 2,000 share stock option grant under the Plan. The Company provides no pension benefits to the outside directors.

ALL OTHER FEES

The aggregate fees billed to the Company by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP for all non-audit services, including fees for acquisition and tax-related services, during 2002 were $1,331,000. Such non-audit services did not include any financial information systems design or implementation services. The Audit Committee considered whether the provision of non-audit services by PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP is compatible with maintaining PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP's independence with respect to the Company.

RATIFICATION OF APPOINTMENT OF AUDITORS

The selection of auditors by the Board of Directors will be presented to the stockholders for ratification or rejection at the Annual Meeting. The Audit Committee has recommended and the board has, subject to stockholder ratification, appointed PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP to examine and report on the financial statements of the Company for its fiscal year ending December 28, 2003. PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP (the Firm) has audited the Company's books for more than 30 years and has served as its independent accountant for 2002. The Firm has offices in or near most of the places in the United States and foreign countries where the Company operates.

Before making its recommendation for appointment to the entire board, the Audit Committee carefully considered the qualifications for auditors of the Company. In the case of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP, this consideration included a review of its performance in prior years, as well as its reputation for integrity and for competence in the fields of accounting and auditing. The Audit Committee has expressed its satisfaction with the Firm in all respects.

A representative of the Firm is expected to be present at the Annual Meeting and will be available to respond to appropriate questions. The representative will also have the opportunity to make a statement if he or she desires to do so.

The Board of Directors recommends that the stockholders vote FOR the proposal to ratify its selection of PricewaterhouseCoopers LLP as the auditors of the Company for the fiscal year ending December 28, 2003.
