Re: Put $4 billion in Verizon's Pocket

Dear Mr. Seidenberg:

I have a suggestion that will enable you to easily obtain at least $2 to $4 billion for Verizon.

Verizon Communications Inc. (Verizon of the East L.P.) is the 85% general and managing partner of the Orange County - Poughkeepsie Limited Partnership (OCP).

The OCP partnership is arguably one of the fastest growing, most profitable and financially strongest companies, in the world.

In 2003 OCP had Net Income of $121.6 million and revenue of $144.6 million. In the ten years 1993-2003, OCP Net Income recorded a CAGR of 43.6%, and in 2003 achieved an incredible 84% profit margin and a ROE of 215%. The ROE is extraordinary because the balance sheet was vastly over-capitalized. Partners' capital of $49.7 million was 98.6% of total assets of $50.4 million. EBITDA in 2003 was $125 million.

Clearly the OCP business is unique. It is a one of a kind entity.

Given your determination to shed some of Verizon's assets to raise cash and reduce debt, e.g. the sale of the Hawaiian operations to the Carlyle Group and the Canadian phone operations being on the block for a combined $2.7 billion, we would like to suggest you have an extraordinary opportunity with the OCP to raise similar if not greater $billions from the sale of a minuscule asset.

Investors and bankers with whom I have discussed the OCP have suggested that were Verizon to do an IPO of this partnership, it could command a P/E of 40 on an after tax basis. Based on the Q-1 2004 run rate of $147 million of pretax net income, which would equal about $96 million of net income (35% effective tax rate), a 40 multiple would place a valuation on the OCP of $3.8 billion.

Verizon's 85% share would be worth $3.26 billion.

Even were one to assume Verizon had to pay a full corporate tax on all of the $3.26 billion you would end up with $2.1 billion in cash.

Edgar Filing: VERIZON COMMUNICATIONS INC - Form SC 13D

On an EBITDA basis of the Q-1 2004, $149 million run rate, a 12 multiple would value the OCP at $1.8 billion. Verizon's share would amount to $1.5 billion.

If structured properly as a pass through vehicle, nearly all of the partnership's $149 million of EBITDA (less a small amount of capex) could be paid out in dividends.

In the current interest rate environment a 7% yield would be very attractive to investors. Especially so to pension funds, 401ks, IRAs, and the like. On a 7% earnings yield basis (14.3 multiple) you would have a $2.1 billion offering and Verizon's 85% stake would bring you $1.8 billion in cash.

Incidentally your two 7.5% limited partners in the OCP, FairPoint Communications and Warwick Valley Telephone Company, would each also undoubtedly be thrilled with their share of this grand and magnificent return on their very nominal investment.

While this may come to you as free advice, and we know that most folks say that such advice is often worth its cost, we think you have a very unusual asset that you today may be able to capitalize on in a very major way.

I share this suggestion with you with the hope that if used and if successful of being recognized with a normal and usual investment banking finders fee payment for the idea and suggestion, which I repeat and we will trust would be payable only in the event of successful deal.

I would appreciate and welcome discussing this further with you,

Warmly,

Lawrence J. Goldstein
