GTECH TO ACQUIRE INTERLOTT

GTECH today announced that it will acquire Ohio-based Interlott Technologies, a leading provider of instant ticket vending machines (ITVMs) for the lottery industry worldwide. Interlott will operate as a subsidiary of GTECH and maintain its brand identity. An integration plan has been developed in order to assure customers of uninterrupted services and a seamless transition.

"The acquisition of Interlott is part of GTECH's strategy for growing the Company's core lottery business while creating sustainable long-term shareholder value," said GTECH President and CEO Bruce Turner. "It will expand GTECH's presence in the instant ticket distribution segment which will afford GTECH a comprehensive set of solution offerings along the entire lottery industry value chain."

"Interlott has had 32 consecutive quarters of sustained profitability and has been able to achieve significant market share. It is our intent to build on what has been created as a platform from which the synergies of the combined entities can achieve even higher returns," continued Bruce. "We are entering into this transaction in firm view of the mutual benefits to Interlott and GTECH to combine our knowledge and resources to drive even higher growth."

"In addition, we will be able to optimize the game mix for instant tickets, deliver broader access to lottery products for consumers, and, over time, add a wider range of capabilities and services for our customers and retailers," concluded Bruce.

The acquisition of Interlott gives GTECH the ability to provide customers with a comprehensive self-service solution for instant ticket distribution, and allows the Company to leverage its core competencies in lottery automation, logistics optimization, sales and marketing, and other operational areas.

Initially, the combined entities will benefit from significant efficiencies that will be derived from the realignment and integration of certain Interlott functions and the leveraging of GTECH's worldwide sales and government relations infrastructure. Over time, the revenue growth potential is substantial as Interlott's product offerings are combined into GTECH's offerings.

"The synergies gained by this integration into GTECH will accelerate the combined companies' ability to compete successfully in future lottery contract procurements," said Interlott President and CEO David F. Nichols.

Currently, 39 jurisdictions in the United States and 72 international jurisdictions sell instant tickets. To date, Interlott has supplied more than 30,000 ITVMs and related products to 28 domestic and 14 international lottery jurisdictions. GTECH plans to leverage its significant presence around the world to pursue additional sales opportunities among the jurisdictions that have not
