Cautionary Note Regarding Forward Looking Statements

This document contains forward-looking statements. In some cases, forward-looking statements can be identified by words such as believe, expect, anticipate, plan, potential, continue or similar expressions. Such forward-looking statements are based upon current expectations and beliefs and are subject to a number of factors and uncertainties that could cause actual results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements. Some of the forward-looking statements contained in this document include statements about the proposed Stantec and TKC merger; including statements that: (i) the merger will allow the combined company to realize strategic goals; (ii) the merger is expected to be accretive to earnings of the combined company; (iii) the merger will allow Stantec to increase its revenues from its United States operations by approximately 70%; (iv) the combination with TKC will allow Stantec opportunities to cross sell services to TKC's client base; and (v) the TKC shareholders will realize a premium of approximately 30%. These statements are not guarantees of future performance, involve certain risks, uncertainties and assumptions that are difficult to predict, and are based upon assumptions as to future events that may not prove accurate. Therefore, actual outcomes and results may differ materially from what is expressed herein. For example, if TKC does not receive required shareholder approvals, if Stantec is unable to list its stock on a major US exchange or either party fails to satisfy other conditions to closing, the merger will not be consummated. In addition, the combined companies may not realize all or any of the expected benefits of the merger. The following factors, among others, could cause actual results to differ materially from those described in the forward-looking statements: global capital market activities, fluctuations in interest rates and currency values, the effects of war or terrorist activities, the effects of disease or illness on local, national, or international economies, the effects of disruptions to public infrastructure, such as transportation or communications, disruptions in power or water supply, industry and worldwide economic and political conditions, regulatory and statutory developments, the effects of competition in the geographic and business areas in which the companies operate, the actions of management, and technological changes. Actual results may differ materially from those contained in the forward-looking statements in this document.

Keen Engineering signs letter of intent to join Stantec

EDMONTON AB (August 26, 2005) TSX: STN; NYSE SXC

Stantec announced today that Keen Engineering (Keen) has signed a letter of intent to join with Stantec. Keen³/₄headquartered in Vancouver, British Columbia with approximately 275 employees and 10 offices in Canada and two in the United States³/₄is considered to be one of the leading sustainable building systems design firms in North America. The transaction is expected to close in October.

The addition of Keen is an important step in the evolution of Stantec's sustainable design capabilities, says Tony Franceschini, Stantec President & CEO. When Keen's 163 LEED® accredited professionals are combined with our existing capabilities in building systems as well as architecture, interior design and other related services, Stantec will have one of the largest sustainable design teams in North America with over 280 LEED® accredited professionals. Keen is a progressive consulting engineering firm specializing in sustainable mechanical, electrical, and plumbing design for buildings and facilities. The company is one of the leaders and advocates of the green building design movement throughout North America. Keen has provided professional services for over 45 years and has offices in Vancouver, Victoria, Abbotsford, Kamloops, and Kelowna, British Columbia; Calgary and Edmonton, Alberta; Toronto and Ottawa, Ontario; Montreal, Quebec; Seattle, Washington; and San Francisco, California.

Joining Stantec will accelerate our vision of being a top-tier integrated building design firm promoting sustainable development, says Kevin Hydes, Keen President & CEO. As a part of Stantec we will have access to resources that will immediately allow us to enhance the depth and breadth of services provided to our clients.

Stantec and Keen have worked together on a number of design projects including the Vancouver International Airport and the Winnipeg International Airport.
