The following communication was first sent to clients of Covance on November 3, 2014:

Dear [CLIENT NAME] –

I am writing to share that this morning we announced that Covance will combine with Laboratory Corporation of America® Holdings. Together, the combined company will be the leading provider of medical testing as well as the premier full-service drug development organization that partners with clients across a broad continuum from biopharmaceutical research to drug and diagnostic development to commercialization.

I will be reaching out to you later today with a call to discuss some of the specifics and answer any questions you may have. We're very excited by the potential this creates to bring you even stronger solutions and I think you will agree that this is a great opportunity to create even more value for our clients.

We want to reassure you that Covance, as the drug development division of the combined company, will remain a strong, solution-focused organization with our mission continuing to be centered on helping bring new medicines to market sooner and delivering operational, scientific and service excellence to our clients. We will continue to operate under the Covance brand you know and trust.

Together, the combined company will be the leading provider of medical testing as well as the premier full-service drug development organization partnering with clients across a broad continuum from biopharmaceutical research to drug and diagnostic development to commercialization. As a combined company, we will be very well positioned to continue to lead in a rapidly changing healthcare environment, including payment for outcomes, pharmaceutical outsourcing, global trial support, trends in pharmaceutical R&D spending, personalized medicine, and big data and informatics.

Please know that we are committed to the continuity of your projects. The two companies have largely adjacent services today with little overlap. As a result, we expect the transition to be smooth. While we transition company ownership over the next several months, your day-to-day operations, sales, and executive management contacts will stay the same and Covance will continue to deliver operational and service excellence that exceeds your expectations.

Please be assured that we'll continue to stay in close contact with you and your teams in the coming weeks and months to ensure you remain fully satisfied with our quality and delivery.

As always, thank you for being such a valued client. I look forward to speaking with you later today to discuss this exciting news.

Sincerely,

Joe Herring
Chairman and CEO, Covance
