LIBERTY ALL-STAR® GROWTH FUND

PRESIDENT'S LETTER

July 2007

FELLOW SHAREHOLDERS:

After a flat first quarter, the stock market advanced in the second quarter and recaptured the momentum that it showed throughout the second half of 2006. The widely followed S&P 500 Index gained 6.3 percent for the quarter, while the growth-oriented NASDAQ Composite Index advanced an even stronger 7.7 percent. The S&P 500 set a new record high during the quarter, finally breaking its previous record set in March 2000 on May 30. The quarter played out as a classic example of a strong stock market climbing a wall of worry.

Certainly, there was plenty to worry about, most of it emanating from higher interest rates. Much of the fallout was related to subprime loans. As interest rates rose, many adjustable rate mortgages were reset to higher rates, raising payments for borrowers and thus increasing the likelihood that defaults would rise. If severe enough, the problem was viewed as one that could spill over to the broader economy. Indeed, in June foreclosures ran 87 percent above the rate of June 2006.

Those rising interest rates were a source of concern to financial markets, as well. Rates on the benchmark 10-year Treasury hit a five-year intraday high of 5.3 percent in June. The Federal Reserve left its key Fed funds rate unchanged at 5.25 percent at its June meeting, but the Federal Open Market Committee is still concerned about potential inflationary pressures, and appears ready to raise short-term interest rates if that were to occur. There were also fears that rising rates might undercut the record-setting pace of merger and acquisition activity, as plentiful liquidity has encouraged acquirers particularly private equity firms to leverage their deals.

Liberty All-Star Growth Fund turned in a good second quarter but moderately lagged key comparables. For the quarter, the Fund rose 6.2 percent with shares valued at net asset value (NAV) and 6.3 percent with shares valued at NAV with dividends reinvested. The Fund's market price with dividends reinvested rose 6.8 percent for the quarter. By comparison, the Russell 3000 Growth Index returned 6.8 percent and the Lipper Multi-Cap Growth Mutual Fund Average rose 7.4 percent for the period.

Year to date through June 30, Fund results were competitive in both absolute and relative terms. Shares valued at NAV are ahead 8.8 percent, and 9.0 percent with shares valued at NAV with dividends reinvested. The Fund's market price return rose 11.9 percent for the first half. By comparison, both the NASDAQ Composite Index and the Russell 3000 Growth Index gained 8.2 percent. The Lipper Multi-Cap Growth Mutual Fund Average rose 9.8 percent for the period.

ASG

Edgar Filing: LIBERTY ALL STAR GROWTH FUND INC. - Form N-CSRS

Fund performance was weak early in the quarter. By quarter-end, however, the Fund's relative performance improved significantly. Growth outperformed value for the quarter, and encourages us to believe that the abnormally long period of value outperformance may be coming into better balance. Given the risks in the market as described earlier in this letter we are seeing investors focus not just on growth but quality growth, which plays to the Fund's emphasis on quality.

Our interview this quarter is with our large-cap growth manager, John Jostrand, CFA, Principal and Portfolio Manager of William Blair & Company, L.L.C. I believe you will find that John has some interesting comments on the stock market's first half, as well as some insights into the factors he and his associates look for in potential portfolio companies. Certainly, the market's growing preference for quality growth stocks is meaningful for this investment management firm.

We are encouraged that the stock market posted a solid second quarter, but not satisfied. While the Fund ranked in the top one-third of its peer universe in the first quarter of this year, it slipped below median in the second quarter despite good absolute returns. In a stock market facing so many cross currents, we believe as we have said in the past that the best path forward is to pursue the Fund's investment objectives and consistently adhere to its investment strategy and process.

Sincerely,

William R. Parmentier, Jr.

President and Chief Executive Officer

DISTRIBUTION POLICY

Liberty All-Star Growth Fund, Inc.'s current policy, in effect since 1997, is to pay distributions on its shares totaling approximately 10 percent of its net asset value per year, payable in four quarterly installments of 2.5 percent of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. The fixed distributions are not related to the amount of the Fund's net investment income or net realized capital gains or losses and may be taxed as ordinary income up to the amount of the Fund's current and accumulated earnings and profits. If, for any calendar year, the total distributions made under the 10 percent pay-out policy exceed the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains, the excess will generally be treated as a non-taxable return of capital, reducing the shareholder's adjusted basis in his or her shares. If the Fund's net investment income and net realized capital gains for any year exceed the amount distributed under the 10 percent pay-out policy, the Fund may, in its discretion, retain and not distribute net realized capital gains and pay income tax thereon to the extent of such excess.

DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT PLAN

Each registered shareholder of the Fund will automatically be a participant in the Fund's Automatic Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan unless the shareholder specifically elects otherwise by writing to the Plan Agent, Computershare Trust Company, N.A., P.O. Box 43078, Providence, RI 02940-3078 or by calling 1-800-LIB-FUND (1-800-542-3863). If your shares are held for you by a broker, bank or other nominee, you should contact the institution holding your shares as to whether or not you wish to participate in the Plan. Participants in the Plan have their dividends automatically reinvested in additional shares of the Fund, and are kept apprised of the status of their account through quarterly statements.

MANAGERS' DIFFERING INVESTMENT STRATEGIES ARE REFLECTED IN PORTFOLIO CHARACTERISTICS

The portfolio characteristics table below is a regular feature of the Fund's shareholder reports. It serves as a useful tool for understanding the value of the Fund's multi-managed portfolio. The characteristics are different for each of the Fund's three investment managers. These differences are a reflection of the fact that each has a different capitalization focus and investment strategy. The shaded column highlights the characteristics of the Fund as a whole, while the first three columns show portfolio characteristics for the Russell Smallcap, Midcap and Largecap Growth indices. LIBERTY ALL-STAR® GROWTH FUND

MANAGER INTERVIEW

John F. Jostrand, CFA
Principal and Portfolio Manager
*William Blair &

William Blair looks for the big 3 great financials, sound business model and strong management

William Blair manages the portion of the Liberty All-Star Growth Fund that is allocated to large cap growth stocks. Chicago-based William Blair emphasizes disciplined, fundamental research to identify quality growth companies with the ability to sustain their growth over a long period of time. At the core of the firm is a team of analysts who perform research aimed at identifying companies that have the opportunity to grow in a sustainable manner. Recently, we had the opportunity to talk with Principal and Portfolio Manager John F. Jostrand, CFA. The Fund's Investment Adviser, ALPS Advisers, Inc., moderated the interview.

What's your take on the first half of the year? After a flattish first quarter (+0.6 percent for the S&P 500), the market posted a strong second quarter (+6.3 percent including a new record high for the same S&P 500).

I heard an analogy that seems to describe it: The first half of the year was kind of like a light switch, off and on off in the first quarter, on in the second. I think the reasons for that are pretty straightforward. In the first quarter, investors were worried about the slowdown in GDP and where that would take us. Then, there was the associated housing contagion would it spill over into other areas of the economy? In the second quarter investors felt much better about new ways to make money in the equity markets and I think you saw what did well and what didn't. There was definitely a shift in how investors were looking at the world and that's why I like the off/on switch analogy.

So really, then, it was a change in sentiment?

Some change in sentiment, but also changes in the real world. I think people got a pretty strong sense that corporate earnings were going to be okay despite problems in certain sectors. In addition, after six years of things going pretty much one way for the small cap and the value side of things, we saw large cap earnings doing better. The tightening in global credit impacted some of the value sectors, primarily utilities and financials, and legitimately better opportunities presented themselves in traditional growth sectors, such as technology.

One factor that influenced second quarter returns, particularly in April, was the extraordinary level of private equity activity. When you look at April, 10 of the top 25 stocks in terms of absolute performance were involved in some sort of corporate action. Some just accelerated share repurchases Home Depot and Expedia are examples but mainly there were outright takeovers and mergers.

The first half of the year was kind of like a light switch, off and on off in the first quarter, on in the second.

There were some fears about interest rates backing up the yield curve is no longer inverted. But people generally feel the Federal Reserve is doing a credible job.

Yes, higher rates are a global phenomenon. Since the beginning of the year, rates around the world have increased an average of about 65 basis points. Rates in the European Union are an example. In the U.S., rates on the benchmark 10-year Treasury Note are up a little less. So, in the rest of the world you've had rates tick up and in the U.S. we now have a positively sloped yield curve. A negatively sloped yield curve, which we had for about 18 months, usually presages a slowdown in the economy. I think the flip in the yield curve, even though rates are somewhat higher, signals a pretty good earnings outlook for 2008. At one time, we were a little worried about this global tightening cycle, but in the U.S. equity valuations remain reasonable. In addition, while there was some fear that core inflation rates were heading towards the 3 percent range, they're actually running closer to 2 percent. We feel that contained inflation, even more than the interest rate situation, presents a very solid underpinning for U.S. equity values.

You mentioned large cap growth leading the way this quarter and year to date. Has the long-awaited corner finally been turned that is, is growth replacing value as the style leader and is large cap seizing leadership, mainly from small caps? Do economic conditions and the business environment favor large cap growth right now?

It sure does feel that way, as both large caps and growth have been leading the way. We feel that large cap growth is priced, on a risk-adjusted basis, for continued outperformance relative to small caps and value stocks. Earnings growth is now slightly better. It's showing sustainable margin activity whereas there's some negative operating margin leverage in the small cap space, where revenues are growing faster than earnings. Additionally, I think large caps are in a stronger position, if the economic environment stays slow, to continue to perform better.

One of the reasons for that is economic activity outside the U.S. has been stronger than that in the U.S. and large cap companies have better exposure globally. Secondly, I would say that the executive leaders of large cap companies are feeling very good about their superior cash flows and are beginning to put some of that cash to work. We have had lengthy conversations with CEOs about the rate of reinvestment back in their businesses. A few companies have been disciplined about that - one example being Cisco Systems. But other companies have been less focused on this issue. Now, however, stances on reinvestment are changing and I think this could drive sustained large cap performance. A third factor is the credit tightening cycle, which can pinch investments that are financially-related, such as banks. And most banks are traditional value plays. Utilities fall into the same camp.

after six years of things going pretty much one way for the small cap and the value side of things, we saw large cap earnings doing better.

William Blair searches for stocks with the potential to sustain above average growth over long periods of time. What elements are usually present in a company that offers the potential for sustainable growth?

Traditionally, we look for three broad factors: A sound business model, great financials and strong management. In the current environment, among those three broad categories the companies that have continued to emphasize innovation when others were somewhat conservative are better positioned for the future. In addition, I think some companies lost their way a little bit over the last few years with respect to customer service as a way to ensure customer loyalty.

We always look for companies with high reinvestment rates, but as free cash flow and profit margins in general are so high that is but one factor. So, what we're looking for now is companies that can sustain those high free cash flow levels and we feel that ability will depend on those two factors: investing in innovation and investing in customer service.

In the current environment companies that have continued to emphasize innovation when others were somewhat conservative are better positioned for the future.

One of the elements in that broad category of business model that's always important to us is recurring revenue. There are two key ways to generate recurring revenue: a business model that allows customers to come back to you on a frequent, regular basis or one that provides such good value to customers that they don't feel the need to shop for alternative products. That is business that is not done on price. Companies that have emphasized frequent customer interaction and good value are poised to do better over the next couple of years.

What's a stock that you recently added to the portion of the Liberty All-Star Growth Fund portfolio that you manage and why did you buy it? Likewise, what is a sale from the portfolio and the reasons for it?

We are traditionally low turnover investors but there were a couple of names on each side of that ledger this quarter.

The most interesting name on the buy side this quarter is a Swiss company called ABB Ltd. It used to be referred to as Asea Brown Boveri. ABB manufactures power products for transmitting and distributing electricity. Products include transformers, switchgear, circuit breakers, cables and associated equipment. It also offers all related services and support. This is a company that went through a management change a few years ago. We've been watching it over the course of that transition and we liked it because management has been focusing on core strengths by selling off unrelated businesses and emphasizing those factors of reinvestment, innovation and customer service.

A major external factor is the global trend toward improving the efficiency of electrical grids around the world. In North America and Europe there is a very significant network rebuilding trend. Most of those networks were built out in the 1960s and 1970s and that was well over 30 years ago. ABB is a leader in that business, and is well positioned to benefit from growing demand. We also like ABB because developing markets require a build-out of their infrastructure, and power transmission is certainly a core part of that economic development process. And ABB is an important player around the world.

What about a sale?

We sold Amgen this quarter. It had been a longtime holding but, frankly, we saw the growth engines running out of gas. We held on for a while on hopes for a couple of new products, particularly Vectibix, which is a cancer treatment. But, recently published studies did not support the view that it would generate significant growth. At that point, we knew it was time to move on. There is also pressure building on Amgen's core red blood cell treatment, EPO, from a competitive standpoint. Finally, the company is now entering that window when some patents will begin to run out.

Thanks for an interesting interview.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2007 (Unaudited)

NOTE 1. ORGANIZATION

Liberty All-Star Growth Fund, Inc. (the Fund) is a Maryland corporation registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the Act), as amended, as a diversified, closed-end management investment company.

Investment Goal

The Fund seeks long-term capital appreciation.

Fund Shares

The Fund may issue 60,000,000 shares of common stock at $0.10 par.

NOTE 2. SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (GAAP) requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, the disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates. The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements.

Security Valuation

Equity securities are valued at the last sale price at the close of the principal exchange on which they trade, except for securities listed on the NASDAQ which are valued at the NASDAQ official closing price. Unlisted securities or listed securities for which there were no sales during the day are valued at the closing bid price on such exchanges or over-the-counter markets.

Short-term debt obligations maturing in more than 60 days for which market quotations are readily available are valued at current market value. Short-term debt obligations maturing within 60 days are valued at amortized cost, which approximates market value.

Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith under consistently applied procedures approved by and under the general supervision of the Board of Directors.

Security Transactions

Security transactions are accounted for on the trade date. Cost is determined and gains (losses) are based upon the specific identification method for both financial statement and federal income tax purposes.

Repurchase Agreements

The Fund may engage in repurchase agreement transactions with institutions that the Fund's investment adviser has determined are creditworthy. The Fund, through its custodian, receives delivery of underlying securities collateralizing a repurchase agreement. Collateral is at least equal, at all times, to the value of the repurchase obligation including interest. A repurchase agreement transaction involves certain risks in the event of default or insolvency of the counterparty. These risks include possible delays or restrictions upon a Fund's ability to dispose of the underlying securities and a possible decline in the value of the underlying securities during the period while the Fund seeks to assert its rights.

Income Recognition

Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. Corporate actions and dividend income are recorded on the ex-date.

Federal Income Tax Status

Consistent with the Fund's policy to qualify as a regulated investment company and to distribute all of its taxable income to shareholders, no federal income tax has been accrued.

Distributions to Shareholders

The Fund currently has a policy of paying distributions on its common shares totaling approximately 10% of its net asset value per year. The distributions are payable in four quarterly distributions of 2.5% of the Fund's net asset value at the close of the New York Stock Exchange on the Friday prior to each quarterly declaration date. Distributions to shareholders are recorded on ex-date.

Indemnification

In the normal course of business, the Fund enters into contracts that contain a variety of representations and warranties and which provide general indemnities. The Fund's maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims against the Fund. Also, under the Fund's organizational documents and by contract, the Directors and Officers of the Fund are indemnified against certain liabilities that may arise out of their duties to the Fund. However, based on experience, the Fund expects the risk of loss due to these warranties and indemnities to be minimal.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In September 2006, Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 157, Fair Value Measurements (SFAS 157), was issued. SFAS 157 is effective for fiscal years beginning after November 15, 2007. SFAS 157 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value and expands disclosures about fair value measurements. Management has recently begun to evaluate the impact the application of SFAS 157 will have on the Fund's financial statement disclosures.

NOTE 3. FEDERAL TAX INFORMATION

The timing and character of income and capital gain distributions are determined in accordance with income tax regulations, which may differ from GAAP. Reclassifications are made to the Fund's capital accounts for permanent tax differences to reflect income and gains available for distribution (or available capital loss carryforwards) under income tax regulations.

For the year ended December 31, 2006, permanent book and tax basis differences resulting primarily from differing treatments for net operating losses and excess distributions were identified and reclassified among the components of the Fund's net assets as follows:

Accumulated Net Investment Loss		Accumulated Net Realized Loss	Paid-In Capital
$	1,146,920	$	5,291,118
			$ (6,438,038)

* Included in the amounts reclassified was a net operating loss offset to paid in capital of $1,146,967.

Net investment income and net realized gains (losses), as disclosed on the Statement of Operations, and net assets were not affected by this reclassification.

The tax character of distributions paid during the year ended December 31, 2006 was as follows:

	12/31/06
Distributions paid from:
Ordinary income	$ 5,291,071
Long-term capital gain	7,623,893
	11,767,997
Return of capital	3,126,568
	$ 16,041,532

Edgar Filing: LIBERTY ALL STAR GROWTH FUND INC. - Form N-CSRS

As of December 31, 2006, the components of distributable earnings on a tax basis were as follows:

Undistributed Ordinary Income	Undistributed Long Term Capital Gains	Net Unrealized Appreciation*
$ 0	$ 0	$ 28,062,842

* The differences between book-basis and tax-basis net unrealized appreciation are primarily due to deferral of losses from wash sales.

Capital loss carryforwards of $5,291,070 were utilized during the year ended December 31, 2006.

NOTE 4. FEES AND COMPENSATION PAID TO AFFILIATES

Investment Advisory Fee

Effective December 18, 2006, ALPS Advisers, Inc. (AAI), serves as the investment adviser to the Fund. AAI receives a monthly investment advisory fee based on the Fund's average daily net assets at the following annual rates:

Average Daily Net Assets	Annual Fee Rate
First $300 million	0.80 %
Over $300 million	0.72 %

Under Portfolio Management Agreements, AAI pays each Portfolio Manager a portfolio management fee based on the assets of the investment portfolio that they manage. The portfolio management fee is paid from the investment advisory fees collected by AAI and is based on the Fund's average daily net assets at the following annual rates:

Average Daily Net Assets	Annual Fee Rate
First $300 million	0.40 %
Over $300 million	0.36 %

Prior to December 18, 2006, Banc of America Investment Advisors, Inc. (BAIA), an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of Bank of America Corporation (BOA), served as the Fund's investment adviser. AAI became investment adviser when the Fund Management Agreement was approved by Fund shareholders at a Special Meeting of the Shareholders of the Fund on November 21, 2006.

The fee rates of BAIA's investment advisory agreement with the Fund and BAIA's agreements with the Portfolio Managers were the same as AAI's fee rates noted above, except that the investment advisory fee the Fund paid to BAIA and the portfolio management fee BAIA paid to the portfolio managers were calculated based on the Fund's average weekly net assets and were paid on a quarterly basis.

Administration, Pricing and Bookkeeping Fees

ALPS Fund Services, Inc. (ALPS) provides administrative and other services to the Fund for a monthly administration fee based on the Fund's average daily net assets at the following annual rates:

Average Daily Net Assets	Annual Fee Rate
First $300 million	0.20 %
Over $300 million	0.18 %

In addition, ALPS provides pricing and bookkeeping services to the Fund for an annual fee consisting of: (i) $38,000 paid monthly plus an additional monthly fee based on the level of average daily net assets for the month; and (ii) a multi-manager fee based on the number of portfolio managers; provided that during any 12-month period, the aggregate amount of (i) shall not exceed $140,000 (exclusive of out-of-pocket expenses and charges).

The Fund also reimburses ALPS for out-of-pocket expenses and charges, including fees payable to third parties for pricing the Fund's portfolio securities and direct internal costs incurred by ALPS in connection with providing fund accounting oversight and monitoring and certain other services.

Prior to December 18, 2006, BAIA provided administrative and other services to the Fund under the same terms as ALPS noted above, except that BAIA's fee was based on average weekly net assets and was paid quarterly.

Further, prior to December 18, 2006, Columbia Management Advisors, LLC (Columbia), an indirect, wholly owned subsidiary of BOA and an affiliate of BAIA, was responsible for providing pricing and bookkeeping services to the Fund under a pricing and bookkeeping agreement. Under a separate agreement (the Outsourcing Agreement), Columbia delegated those functions to State Street Corporation (State Street). As a result, Columbia paid State Street the total fees collected under the pricing and bookkeeping agreement.

The terms of Columbia's pricing and bookkeeping agreement were the same as the ALPS terms noted above.

Custody Credits

The Fund has an agreement with its custodian bank under which custody fees may be reduced by balance credits. These credits are recorded as a reduction of total expenses on the Statement of Operations. The Fund could have invested a portion of the assets utilized in connection with the expense offset arrangement in an income-producing asset if it had not entered into such an agreement.

Fees Paid to Officers

All officers of the Fund are employees of AAI or its affiliates, and receive no compensation from the Fund. The Board of Directors has appointed a Chief Compliance Officer to the Fund in accordance with federal securities regulations.

Item 7. Disclosure of Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures for Closed-End Management Investment Companies.

The Fund has delegated to ALPS Advisors, Inc. (the Advisor) the responsibility to vote proxies relating to portfolio securities held by the Fund. In deciding to delegate this responsibility to the Advisor, the Fund's Board reviewed and approved the policies and procedures adopted by the Advisor. These included the procedures that the Advisor follows when a vote presents a conflict between the interests of the Fund and its shareholders and the Advisor, its affiliates, its other clients or other persons.

The Advisor's policy is to vote all proxies for Fund securities in a manner considered by the Advisor to be in the best interest of the Fund and its shareholders without regard to any benefit to the Advisor, its affiliates, its other clients or other persons. The Advisor or an affiliate examines each proposal and votes against the proposal, if, in its judgment, approval or adoption of the proposal would be expected to impact adversely the current or potential market value of the issuer's securities. The Advisor or an affiliate also examines each proposal and votes the proxies against the proposal, if, in its judgment, the proposal would be expected to affect adversely the best interest of the Fund. The Advisor or an affiliate determines the best interest of the Fund in light of the potential economic return on the Fund's investment.

The Advisor addresses potential material conflicts of interest by having predetermined voting guidelines. For those proposals that require special consideration or in instances where special circumstances may require varying from the predetermined guideline, a Proxy Committee determines the vote in the best interest of the Fund, without consideration of any benefit to the Advisor, its affiliates, its other clients or other persons. The Proxy Committee is composed of representatives of equity investments, equity research, compliance, legal and fund administration functions. In addition to the responsibilities described above, the Proxy Committee has the responsibility to review, on a semi-annual basis, the Advisor's proxy voting policies to ensure consistency with internal and regulatory agency policies and to develop additional predetermined voting guidelines to assist in the review of proxy proposals.

The Proxy Committee may vary from a predetermined guideline if it determines that voting on the proposal according to the predetermined guideline would be expected to impact adversely the current or potential market value of the issuer's securities or to affect adversely the best interest of the client. References to the best interest of a client refer to the interest of the client in terms of the potential economic return on the client's investment. In determining the vote on any proposal, the Proxy Committee does not consider any benefit other than benefits to the owner of the securities to be voted. A member of the Proxy Committee is prohibited from voting on any proposal for which he or she has a conflict of interest by reason of a direct relationship with the issuer or other party affected by a given proposal. Persons making recommendations to the Proxy Committee or its members are required to disclose to the Committee any relationship with a party making a proposal or other matter known to the person that would create a potential conflict of interest.

The Advisor has retained Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS), a third party vendor, to implement its proxy voting process. ISS provides proxy analysis, record keeping services and vote disclosure services.
