Currently, we operate under three operating segments:

Activision Publishing, Inc.

Activision Publishing, Inc. (Activision) is a leading international developer and publisher of interactive software products and content. multiple-award winning Diablo® and StarCraft® franchises. In addition, Blizzard maintains a proprietary online-game related service, Battle.net®. Blizzard distributes its products and generates revenues worldwide through various means, including: subscriptions (which consist of fees from individuals playing World of Warcraft, prepaid cards and other value-added service revenues such as realm transfers, faction changes, and other character customizations within World of Warcraft gameplay); retail sales of physical boxed products; online download sales of PC products; and licensing of software to third-party or related party companies that distribute World of Warcraft and StarCraft II®.

Activision Blizzard Distribution

Activision Blizzard Distribution (Distribution) consists of operations in Europe that provide warehousing, logistical and sales distribution services to third-party publishers of interactive entertainment software, our own publishing operations, and manufacturers of interactive entertainment hardware.

Basis of Consolidation and Presentation

Activision Blizzard prepared the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements in accordance with the rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission for interim reporting. As permitted under those rules and regulations, certain notes or other information that are normally required by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP) have been condensed or omitted if they substantially duplicate the disclosures contained in the annual audited consolidated financial statements. The year-end condensed balance sheet data was derived from audited financial statements but does not include all disclosures required by U.S. GAAP. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements should be read in conjunction with the audited consolidated financial statements and notes thereto included in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2011. In the opinion of management, all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) considered necessary for fair statement of our financial position and results of operations in accordance with U.S. GAAP have been included in the accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements.

Table of Contents

The accompanying consolidated financial statements include the accounts and operations of the Company. All intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated. The consolidated financial statements have been prepared in conformity with U.S. GAAP. The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported in the consolidated financial statements and accompanying notes. Actual results could differ from these estimates and assumptions.

Certain reclassifications have been made to prior period amounts to conform to the current period presentation.

The Company considers events or transactions that occur after the balance sheet date, but before the financial statements are issued, to provide additional evidence relative to certain estimates or to identify matters that require additional disclosures.

At March 31, 2012, future amortization of definite-lived intangible assets is estimated as follows (amounts in millions):

2014		14
2015		7
2016		3
Thereafter		2
Total	$	85

4. Income taxes

The income tax expense of $130 million for the three months ended March 31, 2012 reflected an effective tax rate of 25.3%, which was consistent with the effective tax rate of 25.6% for the three months ended March 31, 2011. The effective tax rate of 25.3% for the three months ended March 31, 2012 differed from the statutory rate of 35.0%, primarily due to foreign income taxes levied at relatively lower rates, geographic mix in profitability, recognition of California research and development credits and federal domestic production deductions. As the federal research credit expired on December 31, 2011 and, as of March 31, 2012, an extension of the credit had not been signed into law, we have excluded the benefit from this tax credit in our income tax calculation for the three months ended March 31, 2012.

The overall effective income tax rate for the year could be different from the effective tax rate for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and will be dependent, in part, on our profitability for the remainder of the year. In addition, our effective income tax rates for the remainder of 2012 and future periods will depend on a variety of factors, such as changes in the mix of income by tax jurisdiction, applicable accounting rules, applicable tax laws and regulations, rulings and interpretations thereof, developments in tax audits and other matters, and variations in the estimated and actual level of annual pre-tax income or loss. Further, the effective tax rate could fluctuate significantly on a quarterly basis and could be adversely affected by the extent that income (loss) before income tax expenses (benefit) is lower than anticipated in foreign regions where taxes are levied at lower statutory rates and/or higher than anticipated in the United States where taxes are levied at higher statutory rates.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is currently examining the Company's federal tax returns for the 2009 tax year. The Company also has several state and non-U.S. audits pending. Although the final resolution of the Company's global tax disputes is uncertain, based on current information, in the opinion of the Company's management, the ultimate resolution of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, liquidity or results of operations. However, an unfavorable resolution of the Company's global tax disputes could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business and results of operations in an interim period in which the matters are ultimately resolved.

5. Software development and intellectual property licenses

The following table summarizes the components of our capitalized software development costs and intellectual property licenses (amounts in millions):

6. Fair value measurements

Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) literature regarding fair value measurements for financial and non-financial assets and liabilities establishes a three-level fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to measure fair value. This hierarchy requires entities to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. The three levels of inputs used to measure fair value are as follows:

- Level 1 Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.
- Level 2 Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in Level 1, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data.
- Level 3 Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities. This includes certain pricing models, discounted cash flow methodologies and similar techniques that use significant unobservable inputs.

We measure the fair value of certain assets on a non-recurring basis, generally annually or when events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amount of the assets may not be recoverable. For the three-month period ended March 31, 2012, there were no impairment charges related to assets that are measured on a non-recurring basis.

The table below segregates all assets that are measured at fair value on a recurring basis (which means they are so measured at least annually) and assets that are not subject to recurring fair value measurement into the most appropriate level within the fair value hierarchy based on the inputs used to determine the fair value at the measurement date (amounts in millions):

Fair Value Measurements at March 31, 2012 Using
March 31, 2012	Quoted Prices in Active Markets for Identical Assets (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable Inputs (Level 2)	Significant Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)	Balance Sheet Classification

Edgar Filing: Activision Blizzard, Inc. - Form 10-Q

Recurring fair value measurements:

	December 31, 2011	Quoted Prices in Active Markets for Identical Assets (Level 1)	Significant Other Observable Inputs (Level 2)	Significant Unobservable Inputs (Level 3)	Total Gains (Losses)	Balance Sheet Classification

Total non-recurring fair value measurements	$ 7,111	$	$	$ 7,111	$ (12)

(a) During our annual impairment review of goodwill performed as of December 31, 2011, we identified and recorded an impairment of $12 million in our Distribution segment. The decrease in fair value of the reporting unit was primarily due to the decrease of forecasted revenue from our Distribution segment in view of the industry trend towards digital distribution.

The following tables provide a reconciliation of the beginning and ending balances of our financial assets classified as Level 3 by major categories (amounts in millions) at March 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively:

	Level 3		Total financial assets at fair value

(a) Fair value measurements of the ARS have been estimated using an income-approach model

(specifically, discounted cash-flow analysis). When estimating the fair value, we consider both observable market data and non-observable factors, including credit quality, duration, insurance wraps, collateral composition, maximum rate formulas, comparable trading instruments and the likelihood of redemption. Significant assumptions used in the analysis include estimates for interest rates, spreads, cash flow timing and amounts, and holding periods of the securities. Assets measured at fair value using significant unobservable inputs (Level 3) represent less than 1% of our financial assets measured at fair value on a recurring basis at March 31, 2012.

Foreign Currency Forward Contracts Not Designated as Hedges

We transact business in various currencies other than the U.S. dollar and have significant international sales and expenses denominated in currencies other than the U.S. dollar, subjecting us to currency exchange rate risks. To mitigate our risk from foreign currency fluctuations we periodically enter into currency derivative contracts, primarily swaps and forward contracts with maturities of twelve months or less, with Vivendi as our principal counterparty. We do not hold or purchase any foreign currency contracts for trading or speculative purposes and we do not designate these forward contracts or swaps as hedging instruments. Accordingly, we report the fair value of these contracts in our condensed consolidated balance sheet with changes in fair value recorded in our condensed consolidated statement of operations. The fair value of foreign currency contracts is estimated based on the prevailing exchange rates of the various hedged currencies as of the end of the period.

7. Operating segments and geographic region

Our operating segments are consistent with our internal organizational structure, the manner in which our operations are reviewed and managed by our Chief Executive Officer, who is our Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM), the manner in which operating performance is assessed and resources are allocated, and the availability of separate financial information. We do not aggregate operating segments.

The CODM reviews segment performance exclusive of the impact of the change in deferred net revenues and related cost of sales with respect to certain of our online-enabled games, stock-based compensation expense, restructuring expense, and amortization of intangible assets. The CODM does not review any information regarding total assets on an operating segment basis and, accordingly, no disclosure is made with respect thereto. Information on the operating segments and reconciliations of total segment net revenues and total segment income from operations to consolidated net revenues and income before income tax expense from external customers for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011 are presented below (amounts in millions):

8. Goodwill

Edgar Filing: Activision Blizzard, Inc. - Form 10-Q

The changes in the carrying amount of goodwill by operating segment for the three months ended March 31, 2012 are as follows (amounts in millions):

	Activision	Blizzard	Total
Balance at December 31, 2011	$ 6,933	$ 178	$ 7,111
Tax benefit credited to goodwill	(2)		(2)
Balance at March 31, 2012	$ 6,931	$ 178	$ 7,109

The tax benefit credited to goodwill represents the tax deduction resulting from the exercise of stock options that were outstanding and vested at the consummation of the Business Combination and included in the purchase price of the Company, to the extent that the tax deduction did not exceed the fair value of those options. Conversely, to the extent that the tax deduction did exceed the fair value of those options, the tax benefit is credited to additional paid-in capital.

9. Computation of basic/diluted earnings per common share

The following table sets forth the computation of basic and diluted earnings per common share (amounts in millions, except per share data):

	Three Months Ended March 31,
	2012	2011
Numerator:
Consolidated net income	$ 384	$ 503
Less: Distributed earnings to unvested stock-based awards that participate in earnings	(4)	(3)
Less: Undistributed earnings allocated to unvested stock-based awards that participate in earnings	(3)	(4)
Numerator for basic and diluted earnings per common share - net income available to common shareholders	377	496
Denominator:
Denominator for basic earnings per common share - weighted-average common shares outstanding	1,120	1,173
Effect of potential dilutive common shares under the treasury stock method:
Employee stock options	7	9
Denominator for diluted earnings per common share - weighted-average common shares outstanding plus dilutive effect of employee stock options	1,127	1,182
Basic earnings per common share	$ 0.34	$ 0.42
Diluted earnings per common share	$ 0.33	$ 0.42

Our unvested restricted stock rights are considered participating securities since these securities have non-forfeitable rights to dividends or dividend equivalents during the contractual period of the award. Since the unvested restricted stock rights are considered participating securities, we are required to use the two-class method in our computation of basic and diluted earnings per common share. For the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011, we had outstanding unvested restricted stock rights with respect to 19 million and 17 million shares of common stock on a weighted-average basis, respectively.

Potential common shares are not included in the denominator of the diluted earnings per common share calculation when inclusion of such shares would be anti-dilutive. Therefore, options to acquire 20 million and 32 million shares of common stock were not included in the calculation of diluted earnings per common share for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively.

Repurchase Program

On February 3, 2011, our Board of Directors authorized a stock repurchase program under which we were authorized to repurchase up to $1.5 billion of our common stock, on terms and conditions to be determined by the Company, until March 31, 2012. For the three months ended March 31, 2012, we repurchased 22 million shares of our common stock for an aggregate purchase price of $261 million pursuant to that stock repurchase program.

On February 2, 2012, our Board of Directors authorized a new stock repurchase program under which we may repurchase up to $1 billion of our common stock, on terms and conditions to be determined by the Company, during the period between April 1, 2012 and the earlier of March 31, 2013 and a determination by the Board of Directors to discontinue the repurchase program.

For the three months ended March 31, 2011, we repurchased 31 million shares of our common stock for an aggregate purchase price of $343 million pursuant to stock repurchase plans authorized in 2010 and 2011.

Dividend

On February 9, 2012, our Board of Directors declared a cash dividend of $0.18 per common share to be paid on May 16, 2012 to shareholders of record at the close of business on March 21, 2012. We have included $204 million of dividends payable in accrued expense and other liabilities in respect of this payment.

On February 9, 2011, our Board of Directors approved a cash dividend of $0.165 per common share to be paid on May 11, 2011 to shareholders of record as of March 16, 2011, and on May 11, 2011, we made a cash dividend payment of $192 million to such shareholders. On August 12, 2011, the Company made dividend equivalent payments of $2 million related to this cash dividend to the holders of restricted stock units.

11. Commitments and contingencies

At March 31, 2012, we did not have any significant changes to our commitments since December 31, 2011. See Note 17 of the Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements included in Item 8 of the Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2011 for more information regarding our commitments.

Legal Proceedings

The Company is subject to various legal proceedings and claims. FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 450 governs the disclosure of loss contingencies and accrual of loss contingencies in respect of litigation and other claims. The Company records an accrual for a potential loss when it is probable that a loss will occur and the amount of the loss can be reasonably estimated. When the reasonable estimate of the potential loss is within a range of amounts, the minimum of the range of potential loss is accrued, unless a higher amount within the range is a better estimate than any other amount within the range. Moreover, even if an accrual is not appropriate, the Company provides additional disclosure related to litigation and other claims when it is reasonably possible (i.e., more than remote) that the outcomes of such litigation and other claims include potential material adverse impacts on the Company. The outcomes of legal proceedings and other claims are subject to significant uncertainties, many of which are outside the Company's control. There is significant judgment required in the analysis of these matters, including the probability determination and whether a potential exposure can be reasonably estimated. In making these determinations, the Company, in consultation with outside counsel, examines the relevant facts and circumstances on a quarterly basis assuming, as applicable, a combination of settlement and litigated outcomes and strategies. Moreover, legal matters are inherently unpredictable and the timing of development of factors on which reasonable judgments and estimates can be based can be slow. As such, there can be no assurance that the final outcome of these matters will not materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, or liquidity.

After concluding an internal human resources inquiry into breaches of contract and insubordination by two senior employees at Infinity Ward, the Company terminated its employment of Jason West and Vince Zampella on March 1, 2010. On March 3, 2010, West and Zampella filed a complaint against the Company in Los Angeles Superior Court for breach of contract and wrongful termination, among other claims. In their complaint, West and Zampella alleged damages, including punitive damages, in excess of $36 million, an amount they have since significantly increased during discovery to over $1 billion, as well as declaratory relief. On April 9, 2010, the Company filed a cross complaint against West and Zampella, asserting claims for breach of contract and fiduciary duty, among other claims. The Company is seeking damages and declaratory relief.

In addition, 38 current and former employees of Infinity Ward filed a complaint against the Company in Los Angeles Superior Court on April 27, 2010 (Alderman et al. v. Activision Publishing, Inc. et al.). An amended complaint was filed on July 8, 2010, which added seven additional plaintiffs. On October 5, 2010, five plaintiffs, all current employees of Infinity Ward, filed dismissals without prejudice. There are currently 40 plaintiffs in the case. The plaintiffs have asserted claims for breach of contract, violation of the Labor Code of the State of California, conversion and other claims. In their complaint, the plaintiffs claimed that the Company failed to pay bonuses and other compensation allegedly owed to them in an amount at least between $75 million to $125 million, plus punitive damages, an amount they have since increased in discovery to approximately $350 million, plus punitive damages. On October 12, 2010, the court consolidated this matter with the West and Zampella matter.

On January 18, 2011, the court granted the Company's motion to amend its cross complaint against West and Zampella to add allegations with respect to them and to add Electronic Arts, Inc. as a party. On January 31, 2011, the case was transferred to the complex division.

On March 5, 2012, the court ruled on a number of dispositive motions presented by the parties. Among them, the court granted the Company's motion to dismiss the Alderman plaintiffs' cause of action for conversion. The court denied, however, the Company's motion to dismiss West and Zampella's claim for promissory fraud and the Company's motion to dismiss the Alderman plaintiffs' claims for damages resulting from bonuses allegedly owed after the dates of their resignations from the Company.

Some of the parties have filed, and are likely to file, additional pre-trial motions and discovery is almost complete. The court has set a trial date of May 29, 2012.

The Company has accrued and will continue to accrue appropriate amounts related to bonuses and other monies allegedly owed in connection with this matter. Due to the inherent uncertainties of litigation, particularly with respect to matters tried before juries, other potential outcomes are reasonably possible, including outcomes which are above the amount of the accrual. In light of the plaintiff's claims, which exceed $1 billion, although the Company does not believe such a result would be justified, there is a range of reasonably possible outcomes that could have a material impact on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operation or liquidity in an interim period as well as in the full reporting year in which the lawsuit is ultimately resolved or in which an increase in the accrual occurs.

In addition, we are party to other routine claims and suits brought by us and against us in the ordinary course of business, including disputes arising over intellectual property rights, contractual claims, employment laws, regulations and relationships, and collection matters. In the opinion of management, after consultation with legal counsel, the outcome of such routine claims and lawsuits will not have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, or liquidity.

12. Related party transactions

Treasury

Our foreign currency risk management program seeks to reduce risks arising from foreign currency fluctuations. We use derivative financial instruments, primarily currency forward contracts and swaps, with Vivendi as our principal counterparty. The gross notional amount of outstanding foreign exchange swaps were $74 million and $85 million at March 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, respectively. A pre-tax net unrealized loss of less than a million for each of the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011, resulted from the foreign exchange contracts and swaps with Vivendi and were recognized in the condensed consolidated statements of operations.

Other

Activision Blizzard has entered into various transactions and agreements, including cash management services, investor agreement, and music royalty agreements with Vivendi and its subsidiaries and other affiliates. None of these services, transactions and agreements with Vivendi and its affiliates is material, either individually or in the aggregate, to the condensed consolidated financial statements as a whole.

13. Recently issued accounting pronouncements

Fair value measurements and disclosures

Effective January 1, 2012, we adopted an update to the accounting rules for fair value measurement. The new accounting principal establishes a consistent definition of fair value in an effort to ensure that the fair value measurement and disclosure requirements between U.S. GAAP and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) are comparable. This update changes certain fair value measurement principles and enhances the disclosure requirements for fair value measurements. This update does not extend the use of fair value accounting, but provides guidance on how it should be applied where its use was already required or permitted by other standards within U.S. GAAP or IFRS. This update is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2011 and is applied prospectively. The adoption of this pronouncement did not have a material impact on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements and accompanying disclosures.

Table of Contents

Statement of comprehensive income

Effective January 1, 2012, we adopted the FASB issued authoritative guidance on the presentation of comprehensive income. This update requires that all non-owner changes in stockholders' equity be presented either in a single continuous statement of comprehensive income or in two separate but consecutive statements. This update does not change the items that must be reported in other comprehensive income or when an item of other comprehensive income must be reclassified to net income. The adoption of this pronouncement did not have a material impact on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements and accompanying disclosures.

Goodwill impairment

Effective January 1, 2012, the Company adopted an update to the authoritative guidance related to goodwill impairment testing. This update gives companies the option to first perform a qualitative assessment to determine whether it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount before performing the two-step test mandated prior to the update. If, after assessing the totality of events and circumstances, a company determines it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount, then it must perform the two-step test. Otherwise, a company may skip the two-step test. Companies are not required to perform the qualitative assessment and may, instead proceed directly to the first step of the two-part test. The adoption of this updated guidance does not have a material impact on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

Activision Blizzard Distribution

Activision Blizzard Distribution (Distribution) consists of operations in Europe that provide warehousing, logistical and sales distribution services to third-party publishers of interactive entertainment software, our own publishing operations, and manufacturers of interactive entertainment hardware.

Business Highlights

For the three months ended March 31, 2012, Activision Blizzard had net revenues of $1.2 billion, as compared to net revenues of $1.4 billion for the same period in 2011, and earnings per diluted share of $0.33, as compared to earnings per diluted share of $0.42 for the same period in 2011.

According to The NPD Group, with respect to the U.S. market data, Charttrack and Gfk for Europe market data, for the first quarter of 2012, in the U.S. and Europe:

- Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 3 was the #2 best-selling console game overall.
- Skylanders Spyro's Adventure (including accessory packs and figures) was the #3 best-selling game overall in dollars across all platforms and the #1 selling kids title in dollars.
- Activision Blizzard had two top-10 PC titles, with Activision Publishing's Call of Duty: Modern Warfare 3, and with Blizzard Entertainment's StarCraft II: Wings of Liberty.

On March 20, 2012, Activision Publishing released the Call of Duty® Modern Warfare 3 Content Collection #1 for Xbox 360.

On March 20, 2012, Blizzard Entertainment announced that they renewed their license with NetEase for World of Warcraft in mainland China, adding an additional three years to the current license agreement. Further, Blizzard Entertainment launched the World of Warcraft: Mists of Pandaria beta on March 21, 2012.

On April 5, 2012, Activision Publishing expanded the reach of the Skylanders franchise with the debut of Skylanders Cloud Patrol, an entirely new gaming experience for iPhone, iPad and iPod touch users. Also, on April 24, 2012, the company released PROTOTYPE 2 for the Xbox 360, PS3 and PC.

Activision Publishing also expects to release two additional games during the second quarter of 2012, the Hasbro, Inc. branded game BATTLESHIP®, which is planned to launch in mid May 2012 timed to Universal Picture's upcoming feature film of the same name; and The Amazing Spider-Man video game, which is planned to launch in late June 2012 timed to Sony Picture Entertainment's upcoming feature film of the same name. Both games will be released on the Xbox 360, PS3, Wii, and NDS.

Additionally, Blizzard Entertainment expects to release Diablo III on May 15, 2012.

Management's Overview of Business Trends

We provide our products through both retail channels and digital online delivery methods. Many of our video games that are available through retailers as physical boxed software products such as DVDs are also available by direct digital download over the Internet (both from websites that we own and from others owned by third parties). In addition, we offer players downloadable content as add-ons to our products (e.g., new multi-player content packs). Such digital online-delivered content is generally offered to consumers for a one-time fee.

We also offer subscription-based services for World of Warcraft, which are digitally delivered and hosted by Blizzard's proprietary online game related service, Battle.net. In November 2011, we launched Call of Duty® Elite, a digital service that provides both free and paid subscription-based content and features for the Call of Duty franchise. Digital revenues have become an increasingly important part of our business, and we continue to focus on and develop products that can be delivered via digital online channels.

Net revenues from digital online channels represented 27% of the total consolidated net revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2012. Net revenues from digital online channels excluding the impact of the change in deferred net revenues (a non-GAAP financial measure), represented 51% of the total consolidated net revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2012. We currently define digital online channel-related sales as revenues from subscriptions and licensing royalties, value added services, downloadable content, digitally distributed products and wireless devices, which may differ from definitions used by our competitors or other companies.

Conditions in the retail channels of the video games industry have remained challenging and weakened during the first three months of 2012. In the U.S. and Europe, video game retail sales declined 24% as compared to the same period in 2011, according to The NPD Group, Chartrack and Gfk. The declines in the U.S. and European markets were driven by fewer releases in the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, as well as price declines experienced at the end of 2011. These factors have contributed to the Company's overall catalogue weakness in both U.S. and Europe for the three months ended March 31, 2012.

Operating Segment Results

Our operating segments are consistent with our internal organizational structure, the manner in which our operations are reviewed and managed by our Chief Executive Officer, who is our Chief Operating Decision Maker (CODM), the manner in which operating performance is assessed and resources are allocated, and the availability of separate financial information. We do not aggregate operating segments.

Edgar Filing: Activision Blizzard, Inc. - Form 10-Q

The CODM reviews segment performance exclusive of the impact of the change in deferred net revenues and related cost of sales with respect to certain of our online-enabled games, stock-based compensation expense, restructuring expense, and amortization of intangible assets. The CODM does not review any information regarding total assets on an operating segment basis and, accordingly, no disclosure is made with respect thereto. Information on the operating segments and reconciliations of total segment net revenues and total segment income from operations to consolidated net revenues and income before income tax expense from external customers for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011 are presented below (amounts in millions):

*Segment Net Revenues*Activision

Activision's net revenues decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily due to the later release and lower sales from downloadable content for Call of Duty®: Modern Warfare 3 (Content Collection #1) than for Call of Duty®: Black Ops (First Strike) in the same period of 2011. Also, lower catalogue sales from Call of Duty franchise titles, and fewer releases in 2012 than in the same period of 2011 resulted in lower net revenues. These decreases in net revenues were partially offset by the continued strong performance of Skylanders Spyro's Adventure™ (including toys and accessories associated with the Skylanders franchise), and revenues from Call of Duty® Elite memberships.

Blizzard

Edgar Filing: Activision Blizzard, Inc. - Form 10-Q

Blizzard's net revenues decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily due to lower World of Warcraft subscription revenues resulting from a lower number of subscribers, and lower catalogue revenues generated from World of Warcraft: Cataclysm, which was released in December 2010.

At March 31, 2012, the worldwide subscriber base for World of Warcraft was 10.2 million, compared to a subscriber base of 10.2 million at December 31, 2011, and 11.4 million at March 31, 2011. During the quarter there was a slight increase in subscribers in Asia. In general, the average revenue per subscriber is lower in Asia than in the U.S. and Europe. Looking forward, the company's objective is to deliver new game content for World of Warcraft in all regions to further appeal to the gaming community.

Distribution

Distribution's net revenues decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, which was largely due to the weak video games retail sales environment, particularly in the United Kingdom, as well as unfavorable movements in foreign exchange rates.

Segment Income from Operations

Activision

For the three months ended March 31, 2012, Activision's operating income decreased as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily driven by lower net revenues as previously described and higher sales and marketing costs related to the Skylanders and Call of Duty franchises. The decrease was partially offset by lower costs of sales (consistent with lower net revenues), and lower operating expenses resulting from the restructuring activities implemented in February 2011.

Blizzard

Blizzard's operating income decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily as a result of the decrease in net revenues previously described. The decrease was partially offset by lower cost of sales (consistent with lower net revenues), and lower product development expenses from capitalization of upcoming title releases.

Non-GAAP Financial Measures

The analysis of revenues by distribution channel is presented both on a GAAP (including the impact from change in deferred revenues) and non-GAAP (excluding the impact from change in deferred revenues) basis. We use this non-GAAP measure internally when evaluating our operating performance, when planning, forecasting and analyzing future periods, and when assessing the performance of our management team. We believe this is appropriate because this non-GAAP measure enables an analysis of performance based on the timing of actual transactions with our customers, which is consistent with the way the Company is measured by investment analysts and industry data sources, and facilitates comparison of operating performance between periods. In addition, excluding the impact from change in deferred net revenue provides a much more timely indication of trends in our sales and other operating results. While we believe that this non-GAAP measure is useful in evaluating our business, this information should be considered as supplemental in nature and is not meant to be considered in isolation from, as a substitute for, or as more important than, the related financial information prepared in accordance with GAAP. In addition, this non-GAAP financial measure may not be the same as any non-GAAP measure presented by another company. This non-GAAP financial measure has limitations in that it does not reflect all of the items associated with our GAAP revenues. We compensate for the limitations resulting from the exclusion of the change in deferred revenues by considering the impact of that item separately and by considering our GAAP, as well as non-GAAP, revenues.

We currently define digital online channels-related sales as revenues from subscriptions and licensing royalties, value added services, downloadable content, digitally distributed products, and wireless devices.

The following table provides a reconciliation between GAAP and non-GAAP net revenues by distribution channel for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011 (amounts in millions):

(1) We have determined that some of our game's online functionality represents an essential component of gameplay and as a result a more-than-inconsequential separate deliverable. As such, we are required to recognize the revenues of these game titles over the estimated service periods, which may range from a minimum of five months to a maximum of less than a year. In the table above, we present the amount of net revenues for each period as a result of the accounting treatment.

(2) Total non-GAAP net revenues presented also represents our total operating segment net revenues.

The decrease in GAAP and non-GAAP net revenues from digital online channels for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011 was attributable to the decline in net revenues from subscriptions and value added services from World of Warcraft and lower net revenues from Call of Duty downloadable content. World of Warcraft subscription revenues were down due to a lower subscriber base year-over-year. Revenues from Call of Duty downloadable content decreased significantly, reflecting lower sales of Call of Duty®: Modern Warfare 3 Content Collection #1 in 2012 than Call of Duty®: Black Ops First Strike in 2011, partially driven by the later release of the downloadable content in 2012. The decrease was partially offset by revenues from Call of Duty® Elite memberships.

The decrease in GAAP and non-GAAP net revenues from retail channels for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011 was attributable to lower catalogue sales of Call of Duty franchise titles, lower revenues generated from World of Warcraft: Cataclysm, which was released in December 2010, lower catalogue revenues from StarCraft II: Wings of Liberty, which was released in July 2010, and fewer releases in 2012 than in the same period of 2011. The decrease was partially offset by revenues from Skylanders Spyro's Adventure (including toys and accessories associated with the Skylanders franchise).

As previously discussed, the Company's net revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2012 were negatively impacted by the lower Call of Duty catalogue and downloadable content sales, fewer releases and the lower World of Warcraft subscriber base year-over-year. These negative impacts were partially offset by the strong sales performance of *Skylanders Spyro's Adventure*TM (including toys and accessories associated with the Skylanders franchise), and revenues from Call of Duty® Elite memberships. These factors impacted net revenues in all regions. Furthermore, net revenue declined in Europe and Asia Pacific because we published Lego Star Wars III, on behalf of Lucas Arts in Europe and certain countries in Asia Pacific, in the first three months of 2011, while no comparable title was released in the first three month of 2012.

The decrease in deferred revenues recognized was primarily attributable to the lower revenues from our Call of Duty franchise titles and digital downloadable content, and lower Blizzard catalogue sales of World of Warcraft: Cataclysm and Starcraft II: Wings of Liberty. The decrease was partially offset by the recognition of deferred revenues from the initial launch of Call of Duty®: Modern Warfare® 3.

Foreign Exchange Impact

Changes in foreign exchange rates had a negative impact of approximately $17 million on Activision Blizzard's net revenues for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011. The change is primarily due to the strengthening of the U.S. dollar relative to the British pound, the Euro, and the Australian dollar in 2012 compared to 2011.

¹ Revenue from online subscriptions consists of revenue from all World of Warcraft products, including subscriptions, boxed products, expansion packs, licensing royalties, and value-added services, and revenues from Call of Duty® Elite memberships.

Net revenues from online subscriptions decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily as a result of lower subscription revenues due to a lower subscriber base year-over-year, and also as a result of lower Blizzard catalogue sales from World of Warcraft: Cataclysm, which was released in December 2010. The decrease was partially offset from revenues from Call of Duty® Elite memberships. Net revenues from PC and other increased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily as a result of the strong performance of Skylanders Spyro's Adventure™ (including toys and accessories associated with the Skylanders franchise). The increase was partially offset by the lower catalogue revenues from StarCraft II: Wings of Liberty, which was released in July 2010. Net revenues from PS3 and Xbox 360 decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily due to lower revenues from Call of Duty downloadable content and lower Call of Duty catalogue sales. Net revenues from Nintendo Wii decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily due to overall weaker catalogue sales and fewer releases.

The decrease in deferred revenues recognized for online subscriptions was primarily related to the recognition of deferred revenues in 2011 from World of Warcraft: Cataclysm, which was released in December 2010, and the impact of this decrease was partially offset by revenues from Call of Duty® Elite memberships in 2012. The decrease in deferred revenues recognized for PC and other was primarily related to the recognition of deferred revenues related to StarCraft II: Wings of Liberty in 2011, which launched in July 2010. The increase in deferred revenues recognized for PS3 and Xbox 360 primarily related to the strong initial launch performance of Call of Duty®: Modern Warfare® 3. The decrease in deferred revenues recognized for the Nintendo Wii primarily relates to overall weaker catalogue sales and fewer releases.

Table of Contents

Total cost of sales decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011 consistent with the lower net revenues. This was partially offset by the increased cost of sales resulting from a slight increase in the mix of revenues from retail channels than digital channels in the first quarter ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011.

Product development costs decreased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily due to the costs reduction from the restructuring activities implemented in February 2011, as well as the increased amount of capitalization for future titles as they reached technological feasibility.

On February 3, 2011, the Company's Board of Directors authorized a restructuring plan involving a focus on the development and publication of a reduced slate of titles on a going-forward basis, including the discontinuation of the development of music based games, the closure of the related business unit and the cancellation of other titles then in production, along with a related reduction in studio headcount and corporate overhead. The costs related to these activities included severance costs, facility exit costs, and exit costs from the cancellation of projects. Total charges related to the 2011 restructuring were $25 million, which is reflected in a separate caption Restructuring expenses on our consolidated statement of operations for the year ended December 31, 2011. All costs associated with the 2011 restructuring were incurred in 2011.

Three Months Ended	$ 130	25.3%	$ 173	25.6%	$ (43)

The income tax expense of $130 million for the three months ended March 31, 2012 reflected an effective tax rate of 25.3%, which was consistent with the effective tax rate of 25.6% for the three months ended March 31, 2011. The effective tax rate of 25.3% for the three months ended March 31, 2012 differed from the statutory rate of 35.0%, primarily due to foreign income taxes levied at relatively lower rates, geographic mix in profitability, recognition of California research and development credits and federal domestic production deductions. As the federal research credit expired on December 31, 2011 and, as of March 31, 2012, an extension of the tax credit had not been signed into law, we have excluded the benefit from this tax credit in our income tax calculation for the three months ended March 31, 2012.

The overall effective income tax rate for the year could be different from the effective tax rate for the three months ended March 31, 2012 and will be dependent, in part, on our profitability for the remainder of the year. In addition, our effective income tax rates for the remainder of 2012 and future periods will depend on a variety of factors, such as changes in the mix of income by tax jurisdiction, applicable accounting rules, applicable tax laws and regulations, rulings and interpretations thereof, developments in tax audits and other matters, and variations in the estimated and actual level of annual pre-tax income or loss. Further, the effective tax rate could fluctuate significantly on a quarterly basis and could be adversely affected by the extent that income (loss) before income tax expenses (benefit) is lower than anticipated in foreign regions where taxes are levied at lower statutory rates and/or higher than anticipated in the United States where taxes are levied at higher statutory rates.

The IRS is currently examining the Company's federal tax returns for the 2009 tax year. The Company also has several state and non-U.S. audits pending. Although the final resolution of the Company's global tax disputes is uncertain, based on current information, in the opinion of the Company's management, the ultimate resolution of these matters will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's consolidated financial position, liquidity or results of operations. However, an unfavorable resolution of the Company's global tax disputes could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business and results of operations in an interim period in which the matters are ultimately resolved.

Cash Flows Provided by Operating Activities

The primary drivers of cash flows provided by operating activities have typically included the collection of customer receivables generated by the sale of our products and our subscription revenues, partially offset by payments to vendors for the manufacturing, distribution and marketing of our products, payments to third-party developers and intellectual property holders, tax liabilities, and payments to our workforce. A significant operating use of our cash relates to our continued focus on customer service for our subscriber services, and investment in software development and intellectual property licenses. Cash flows provided by operating activities slightly increased for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011. The increase was primarily attributable to lower payment of taxes and operating expenses previously accrued than the amounts in the same period in 2011, which were partially offset by the decrease in overall net income for the period.

Cash Flows Used in Investing Activities

The primary drivers of cash flows used in investing activities have typically included capital expenditures, acquisitions and the net effect of purchases and sales/maturities of short-term investments. Cash flows related to investing activities during the three months ended March 31, 2012 mainly reflected the purchase of $187 million of short-term investments, capital expenditures of $9 million, primarily for property and equipment, and the receipt of $115 million in proceeds from the maturities of investments, the majority of which consisted of U.S. treasury and government sponsored agency debt securities. Cash flows used in investing activities were higher, when comparing the three months ended March 31, 2012 to the same period in 2011, primarily due to increased purchases of short-term investments and decreased proceeds from the maturities of our investments.

Cash Flows Used in Financing Activities

The primary drivers of cash flows used in financing activities have historically related to transactions involving our common stock, including the issuance of shares of common stock to employees, payment of dividends and the repurchase of our common stock. We have not utilized debt financing as a source of cash flows. Cash flows used in financing activities during the three months ended March 31, 2012 primarily reflected the repurchase of 22 million shares of our common stock for $261 million. The repurchases were partially offset by $13 million of proceeds from the issuance of shares of our common stock to employees in connection with stock option exercises. Cash flows used in financing activities were lower for the three months ended March 31, 2012 as compared to the same period in 2011, primarily due to the decrease in share repurchase activities.

Other Liquidity and Capital Resources

In addition to cash flows provided by operating activities, our primary source of liquidity was $3.5 billion of cash and cash equivalents and short-term investments at March 31, 2012. With our cash and cash equivalents and expected cash flows provided by operating activities, we believe that we have sufficient liquidity to meet daily operations in the foreseeable future. We also believe that we have sufficient working capital ($2.8 billion at March 31, 2012) to finance our operational requirements for at least the next twelve months, including purchases of inventory and equipment, the development, production, marketing and sale of new products, the provision of customer service for our subscribers, the acquisition of intellectual property rights for future products from third parties, and to fund our stock repurchase program and dividends.

As of March 31, 2012, the amount of cash and cash equivalents held outside of the U.S. by our foreign subsidiaries was $1.9 billion, compared with $1.6 billion as of December 31, 2011. If these funds are needed for our operations in the U.S., we would be required to accrue and pay U.S. taxes to repatriate these funds. However, our intent is to permanently reinvest these funds outside of the U.S. and our current plans do not demonstrate a need to repatriate them to fund our U.S. operations.

Table of Contents

Capital Expenditures

For the year ending December 31, 2012, we anticipate total capital expenditures of approximately $100 million, primarily for property and equipment. Through the first three months of 2012, we made aggregate capital expenditures of $9 million.

Off-balance Sheet Arrangements

At March 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, Activision Blizzard had no significant relationships with unconsolidated entities or financial parties, such as entities often referred to as structured finance or special purpose entities, established for the purpose of facilitating off-balance sheet arrangements or other contractually narrow or limited purposes, that have or are reasonably likely to have a material future effect on our financial condition, changes in financial condition, revenues or expenses, results of operation, liquidity, capital expenditures, or capital resources.

Financial Disclosure

We maintain internal controls over financial reporting, which generally includes those controls relating to the preparation of our financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP). We also are focused on our disclosure controls and procedures, which as defined by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the SEC) are generally those controls and procedures designed to ensure that financial and non-financial information required to be disclosed in our reports filed with the SEC is reported within the time periods specified in the SEC s rules and forms, and that such information is communicated to management, including our principal executive and financial officers, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure.

Our Disclosure Committee, which operates under the Board-approved Disclosure Committee Charter and Disclosure Controls & Procedures Policy, includes senior management representatives and assists executive management in its oversight of the accuracy and timeliness of our disclosures, as well as in implementing and evaluating our overall disclosure process. As part of our disclosure process, senior finance and operational representatives from all of our corporate divisions and business units prepare quarterly reports regarding their current quarter operational performance, future trends, subsequent events, internal controls, changes in internal controls and other accounting and disclosure relevant information. These quarterly reports are reviewed by certain key corporate finance executives. These corporate finance representatives also conduct quarterly interviews on a rotating basis with the preparers of selected quarterly reports. The results of the quarterly reports and related interviews are reviewed by the Disclosure Committee. Finance representatives also conduct reviews with our senior management team, our legal counsel and other appropriate personnel involved in the disclosure process, as appropriate. Additionally, senior finance and operational representatives provide internal certifications regarding the accuracy of information they provide that is utilized in the preparation of our periodic public reports filed with the SEC. Financial results and other financial information also are reviewed with the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors on a quarterly basis. As required by applicable regulatory requirements, the principal executive and financial officers review and make various certifications regarding the accuracy of our periodic public reports filed with the SEC, our disclosure controls and procedures, and our internal control over financial reporting. With the assistance of the Disclosure Committee, we will continue to assess and monitor, and make refinements to, our disclosure controls and procedures, and our internal controls over financial reporting.

Critical Accounting Policies and Estimates

Our condensed consolidated financial statements are prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America (U.S. GAAP). These accounting principles require us to make certain estimates, judgments and assumptions. We believe that the estimates, judgments and assumptions upon which we rely are reasonable based upon information available to us at the time that these estimates, judgments and assumptions are made. These estimates, judgments and assumptions can affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the periods presented. To the extent there are material differences between these estimates, judgments or assumptions and actual results, our financial statements will be affected. The accounting policies that reflect our more significant estimates, judgments and assumptions and which we believe are the most critical to aid in fully understanding and evaluating our reported financial results include the following:

- Accounting for Income Taxes

We record a tax provision for the anticipated tax consequences of the reported results of operations. In accordance with FASB income tax guidance (ASC Topic 740), the provision for income taxes is computed using the asset and liability method, under which deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the expected future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statement carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax bases and operating losses and tax credit carryforwards. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. We record a valuation allowance to reduce deferred tax assets to the amount that is believed more likely than not to be realized.

Management believes it is more likely than not that forecasted income, including income that may be generated as a result of certain tax planning strategies, together with the tax effects of the deferred tax liabilities, will be sufficient to fully recover the remaining deferred tax assets. In the event that all or part of the net deferred tax assets are determined not to be realizable in the future, an adjustment to the valuation allowance would be charged to earnings in the period such determination is made. The calculation of tax liabilities involves significant judgment in estimating the impact of uncertainties in the application of ASC Topic 740 and other complex tax laws. Resolution of these uncertainties in a manner inconsistent with management's expectations could have a material impact on our business and results of operations in an interim period in which the uncertainties are ultimately resolved.

Further, the Company's provision for taxes can fluctuate if estimated earnings are lower than anticipated in our foreign region with a lower tax rate and/or higher than anticipated in our domestic region with higher tax rates.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

Fair value measurements and disclosures

Effective January 1, 2012, we adopted an update to the accounting rules for fair value measurement. The new accounting principal establishes a consistent definition of fair value in an effort to ensure that the fair value measurement and disclosure requirements between U.S. GAAP and International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) are comparable. This update changes certain fair value measurement principles and enhances the disclosure requirements for fair value measurements. This update does not extend the use of fair value accounting, but provides guidance on how it should be applied where its use was already required or permitted by other standards within U.S. GAAP or IFRS. This update is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2011 and is applied prospectively. The adoption of this pronouncement did not have a material impact on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements and accompanying disclosures.

Statement of comprehensive income

Effective January 1, 2012, we adopted the FASB issued authoritative guidance on the presentation of comprehensive income. This update requires that all non-owner changes in stockholders' equity be presented either in a single continuous statement of comprehensive income or in two separate but consecutive statements. This update does not change the items that must be reported in other comprehensive income or when an item of other comprehensive income must be reclassified to net income. The adoption of this pronouncement did not have a material impact on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements and accompanying disclosures.

Goodwill impairment

Effective January 1, 2012, the Company adopted an update to the authoritative guidance related to goodwill impairment testing. This update gives companies the option to first perform a qualitative assessment to determine whether it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount before performing the two-step test mandated prior to the update. If, after assessing the totality of events and circumstances, a company determines it is more likely than not that the fair value of a reporting unit is less than its carrying amount, then it must perform the two-step test. Otherwise, a company may skip the two-step test. Companies are not required to perform the qualitative assessment and may, instead proceed directly to the first step of the two-part test. The adoption of this update guidance does not have a material impact on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures about Market Risk

Market risk is the potential loss arising from fluctuations in market rates and prices. Our market risk exposures primarily include fluctuations in interest rates, foreign currency exchange rates and market prices.

Foreign Currency Exchange Rate Risk

We transact business in many different foreign currencies and may be exposed to financial market risk resulting from fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates. Revenues and related expenses generated from our international operations are generally denominated in their respective local currencies. Primary currencies include euros, British pounds, Australian dollars, South Korean won, and Swedish krona. Currency volatility is monitored throughout the year. To mitigate our foreign currency exchange rate exposure resulting from our foreign currency-denominated monetary assets, liabilities and earnings, we periodically enter into currency derivative contracts, principally swaps and forward contracts with maturities of twelve months or less. Vivendi is our principal counterparty and the risks of counterparty non-performance associated with these contracts are not considered to be material. We expect to continue to use economic hedge programs in the future to reduce foreign exchange-related volatility if it is determined that such hedging activities are appropriate to reduce risk. We do not hold or purchase any foreign currency contracts for trading or speculative purposes. All foreign currency economic hedging transactions are backed, in amount and by maturity, by an identified economic underlying item. Our foreign exchange forward contracts are not designated as hedging instruments and are accounted for as derivatives whereby the fair value of the contracts are reported as other current assets or other current liabilities in our condensed consolidated balance sheets, and the associated gains and losses from changes in fair value are reported in investment and other income (expense), net and general and administrative expense in the condensed consolidated statements of operations.

The gross notional amount of outstanding foreign exchange swaps was $74 million and $85 million at March 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, respectively. A pre-tax net unrealized loss of less than a million for each of the three months ended March 31, 2012 and 2011, resulted from the foreign exchange contracts and swaps with Vivendi and were recognized in the condensed consolidated statements of operations.

The consolidated statements of operations are translated into U.S. dollars at exchange rates indicative of market rates during each applicable period. To the extent the U.S. dollar strengthens against foreign currencies, the translation of these foreign currency-denominated transactions results in reduced revenues, operating expenses, and net income from our international operations. Similarly, our revenues, operating expenses, and net income will increase for our international operations if the U.S. dollar weakens against foreign currencies. In the absence of the hedging activities described above, as of March 31, 2012, a hypothetical adverse foreign currency exchange rate movement of 10% would have resulted in potential declines in our net income of approximately $24 million. This sensitivity analysis assumes a parallel adverse shift of all foreign currency exchange rates against the U.S. dollar; however, all foreign currency exchange rates do not always move in such manner and actual results may differ materially.

Interest Rate Risk

Our exposure to market rate risk for changes in interest rates relates primarily to our investment portfolio. We do not use derivative financial instruments to manage interest rate risk in our investment portfolio. Our investment portfolio consists primarily of debt instruments with high credit quality and relatively short average maturities and money market funds that invest in securities issued by governments with highly rated sovereign debt. Because short-term securities mature relatively quickly and must be reinvested at the then current market rates, interest income on a portfolio consisting of cash, cash equivalents or short-term securities is more subject to market fluctuations than a portfolio of longer term securities. Conversely, the fair value of such a portfolio is less sensitive to market fluctuations than a portfolio of longer term securities. At March 31, 2012, our $3.05 billion of cash and cash equivalents were comprised primarily of money market funds. At March 31, 2012, our $427 million of short-term investments included $415 million of U.S. treasury and government sponsored agency debt securities and $12 million of restricted cash. We had $17 million in auction rate securities at fair value classified as long-term investments at March 31, 2012. The Company has determined that, based on the composition of our investment portfolio as of March 31, 2012, there was no material interest rate risk exposure to the Company's consolidated financial position, results of operations or cash flows as of that date.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

Definition and Limitations of Disclosure Controls and Procedures.

Our disclosure controls and procedures (as such term is defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) under the Exchange Act) are designed to reasonably ensure that information required to be disclosed in our reports filed under the Exchange Act is (i) recorded, processed, summarized, and reported within the time periods specified in the SEC's rules and forms and (ii) accumulated and communicated to management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, as appropriate, to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosures. A control system, no matter how well designed and operated, can provide only reasonable assurance that it will detect or uncover failures within the Company to disclose material information otherwise required to be set forth in our periodic reports. Inherent limitations to any system of disclosure controls and procedures include, but are not limited to, the possibility of human error and the circumvention or overriding of such controls by one or more persons. In addition, we have designed our system of controls based on certain assumptions, which we believe are reasonable, about the likelihood of future events, and our system of controls may therefore not achieve its desired objectives under all possible future events.

Edgar Filing: Activision Blizzard, Inc. - Form 10-Q

Evaluation of Disclosure Controls and Procedures.

Our management, with the participation of our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, has evaluated the effectiveness of our disclosure controls and procedures at March 31, 2012, the end of the period covered by this report. Based on this evaluation, the principal executive officer and principal financial officer concluded that, at March 31, 2012, our disclosure controls and procedures were effective to provide reasonable assurance that information required to be disclosed by the Company in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is (i) recorded, processed, summarized, and reported on a timely basis, and (ii) accumulated and communicated to management, including our principal executive officer and principal financial officer, as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosures.

Changes in Internal Control Over Financial Reporting.

There have not been any changes in our internal control over financial reporting during the most recent fiscal quarter that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, our internal control over financial reporting.

PART II. OTHER INFORMATION

Item 1. Legal Proceedings

Legal Proceedings

The Company is subject to various legal proceedings and claims. FASB Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 450 governs the disclosure of loss contingencies and accrual of loss contingencies in respect of litigation and other claims. The Company records an accrual for a potential loss when it is probable that a loss will occur and the amount of the loss can be reasonably estimated. When the reasonable estimate of the potential loss is within a range of amounts, the minimum of the range of potential loss is accrued, unless a higher amount within the range is a better estimate than any other amount within the range. Moreover, even if an accrual is not appropriate, the Company provides additional disclosure related to litigation and other claims when it is reasonably possible (i.e., more than remote) that the outcomes of such litigation and other claims include potential material adverse impacts on the Company. The outcomes of legal proceedings and other claims are subject to significant uncertainties, many of which are outside the Company's control. There is significant judgment required in the analysis of these matters, including the probability determination and whether a potential exposure can be reasonably estimated. In making these determinations, the Company, in consultation with outside counsel, examines the relevant facts and circumstances on a quarterly basis assuming, as applicable, a combination of settlement and litigated outcomes and strategies. Moreover, legal matters are inherently unpredictable and the timing of development of factors on which reasonable judgments and estimates can be based can be slow. As such, there can be no assurance that the final outcome of these matters will not materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, or liquidity.

After concluding an internal human resources inquiry into breaches of contract and insubordination by two senior employees at Infinity Ward, the Company terminated its employment of Jason West and Vince Zampella on March 1, 2010. On March 3, 2010, West and Zampella filed a complaint against the Company in Los Angeles Superior Court for breach of contract and wrongful termination, among other claims. In their complaint, West and Zampella alleged damages, including punitive damages, in excess of $36 million, an amount they have since significantly increased during discovery to over $1 billion, as well as declaratory relief. On April 9, 2010, the Company filed a cross complaint against West and Zampella, asserting claims for breach of contract and fiduciary duty, among other claims. The Company is seeking damages and declaratory relief.

In addition, 38 current and former employees of Infinity Ward filed a complaint against the Company in Los Angeles Superior Court on April 27, 2010 (Alderman et al. v. Activision Publishing, Inc. et al.). An amended complaint was filed on July 8, 2010, which added seven additional plaintiffs. On October 5, 2010, five plaintiffs, all current employees of Infinity Ward, filed dismissals without prejudice. There are currently 40 plaintiffs in the case. The plaintiffs have asserted claims for breach of contract, violation of the Labor Code of the State of California, conversion and other claims. In their complaint, the plaintiffs claimed that the Company failed to pay bonuses and other compensation allegedly owed to them in an amount at least between $75 million to $125 million, plus punitive damages, an amount they have since increased in discovery to approximately $350 million, plus punitive damages. On October 12, 2010, the court consolidated this matter with the West and Zampella matter.

On January 18, 2011, the court granted the Company's motion to amend its cross complaint against West and Zampella to add allegations with respect to them and to add Electronic Arts, Inc. as a party. On January 31, 2011, the case was transferred to the complex division.

On March 5, 2012, the court ruled on a number of dispositive motions presented by the parties. Among them, the court granted the Company's motion to dismiss the Alderman plaintiffs' cause of action for conversion. The court denied, however, the Company's motion to dismiss West's and Zampella's claim for promissory fraud and the Company's motion to dismiss the Alderman plaintiffs' claims for damages resulting from bonuses allegedly owed after the dates of their resignations from the Company.

Some of the parties have filed, and are likely to file, additional pre-trial motions and discovery is almost complete. The court has set a trial date of May 29, 2012.

The Company has accrued and will continue to accrue appropriate amounts related to bonuses and other monies allegedly owed in connection with this matter. Due to the inherent uncertainties of litigation, particularly with respect to matters tried before juries, other potential outcomes are reasonably possible, including outcomes which are above the amount of the accrual. In light of the plaintiff's claims, which exceed $1 billion, although the Company does not believe such a result would be justified, there is a range of reasonably possible outcomes that could have a material impact on the Company's business, financial condition, results of operation or liquidity in an interim period as well as in the full reporting year in which the lawsuit is ultimately resolved or in which an increase in the accrual occurs.

In addition, we are party to other routine claims and suits brought by us and against us in the ordinary course of business, including disputes arising over intellectual property rights, contractual claims, employment laws, regulations and relationships, and collection matters. In the opinion of management, after consultation with legal counsel, the outcome of such routine claims and lawsuits will not have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, or liquidity.
