Forward Looking Statement

This presentation and comments made during the associated conference call contain statements that express our opinions, expectations, beliefs, plans, objectives, assumptions or projections regarding future events or future results, in contrast with statements that reflect historical facts. In some cases, we have identified such forward-looking statements with typical conditional words such as "anticipate," "intend," "believe," "estimate," "plan," "seek," "project" or "expect," "may," "will," "would," "could" or "should," or other comparable terminology. Examples of forward-looking statements include our expectations regarding the and accretiveness to earnings. These forward-looking statements are not a guarantee of performance, and you should not place reliance on such statements. We have based these forward-looking statements largely on our current expectations and projections about future events. Forward-looking statements are subject to many uncertainties and other variable circumstances, such as de failures associated with the acquisitions and marketing agreement and their implementation; actions of regulators; failure to ma renew key business relationships; failure to maintain competitive offerings; failure to successfully integrate or otherwise achiev anticipated benefits from partnerships or acquired businesses; the impact of foreign exchange rates on operations, revenue and income; the effects of general economic conditions on workforce spending patterns and commercial activity, as well as the othe and uncertainties identified under the caption "Risk Factors" in our Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 2012. These factors could cause our actual results and experience to differ materially from any forward-looking statement. Giv risks and uncertainties, you are cautioned not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements. The forward-lookin statements included in this presentation are made only as of the date hereof. We do not undertake, and specifically decline, any obligation to update any such statements or to publicly announce the results of any revisions to any of such statements to refle events or developments.
