Section 1 Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Section 1.01 Conflict Minerals Disclosure

Based in Columbus, Georgia, and traded on the New York Stock Exchange under the symbol TSS, Total System Services, Inc. (TSYS or the Company) is a global payment solutions provider that provides services to financial and nonfinancial institutions. The services we provide are divided into four operating segments, North America Services, which accounted for 45% of our revenues in 2014, Merchant Services, which accounted for 21% of our revenues in 2014, NetSpend, which accounted for 19% of our revenues in 2014, and International Services, which accounted for 15% of our revenues in 2014.

Summary

Based on TSYS reasonable country of origin inquiry (RCOI) and the procedures described in this Form SD, TSYS has determined that, with respect to the products required to be reported by this Form SD for the period from January 1, 2014 to December 31, 2014 (the Reporting Period), the Company has no reason to believe that its necessary conflict minerals may have originated in the Democratic Republic of the Congo or an adjoining country (collectively the DRC), as those terms are defined by the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Reasonable Country of Origin Inquiry

TSYS follows a conflict minerals policy and related procedures focused on TSYS commitment to sourcing components and materials from suppliers that share its ethical values and that support compliance with the Securities and Exchange Commission's regulations as well as TSYS disclosure obligations related to conflict minerals. These policies and related procedures have guided TSYS continued development and deployment of internal systems, supply chain due diligence efforts and, ultimately, TSYS RCOI conducted in connection with this Form SD.

Throughout 2014, TSYS conflict minerals efforts, and RCOI process, were designed to confirm conflict mineral content in TSYS manufactured (or contracted to be manufactured) products, further obtain transparency into its product supply chain for such products, and, more generally, to increase engagement from its suppliers concerning conflict minerals issues. The specific goal of TSYS RCOI was to determine whether the conflict minerals in its relevant products originated in the DRC. In part, TSYS 2014 RCOI process included:

maintaining a long-term working group comprised of representatives from TSYS operational, legal and supply chain functions, as well as external advisors with conflict minerals expertise;

surveying TSYS suppliers to verify critical information about the presence and origin of conflict minerals contained in the products they supply to TSYS;

communicating diligently with any significant suppliers that did not timely respond to surveys or provided incomplete surveys; and analyzing supplier responses and evaluating information in a manner designed to provide the Company with a reasonable basis for its conclusions in this Form SD.

Specifically, TSYS arrived at the determination described in this Form SD by conducting, in good faith, its RCOI regarding the conflict minerals that (i) TSYS identified as necessary to the functionality or the production of its manufactured and contracted to be manufactured products and (ii) were subject to review in this Reporting Period. For purposes of TSYS' conflict minerals analysis in this Form SD, TSYS considered the specific products that TSYS manufactured or contracted to manufacture and delivered to its customers during the Reporting Period as completed. Therefore, in connection with this Form SD, the term Completed Products refers to the specific products that TSYS manufactured or contracted to manufacture and delivered to its customers during the Reporting Period.

As part of the RCOI, TSYS identified its suppliers that delivered products, materials, or supplies to TSYS from January 1, 2014 through December 31, 2014, and surveyed these suppliers soliciting information concerning the presence, if any, and source, of conflict minerals in the items supplied to TSYS. In connection with this process and pursuant to further inquiries by TSYS' internal working group, TSYS was able to determine that the great majority of suppliers whose products were included in the Company's Completed Products either did not provide conflict minerals or did not provide TSYS with a reason to believe that the conflict minerals contained in such products originated in the DRC. Upon further internal review, the small percentage of non-responsive suppliers likewise provided no reason to believe that any conflict minerals contained in their supplied products originated in the DRC.

Determination

Based on the results of TSYS RCOI, TSYS has determined that, with respect to necessary conflict minerals in its Completed Products, TSYS has no reason to believe that these conflict minerals may have originated in the DRC.
