The following update was included in a press release issued by CVS Health Corporation (CVS Health) and filed as Exhibit 99.1 to the Current Report on Form 8-K filed by CVS Health with the Securities and Exchange Commission on August 8, 2018.

Aetna Transaction Progress

The previously announced acquisition of Aetna by CVS Health was approved by shareholders of both companies on March 13, 2018. The regulatory approval process is proceeding within a timeframe consistent with expectations. The companies received a second request for information from the U.S. Department of Justice on February 1, 2018 and are working cooperatively and productively with the Department of Justice on the approval process. All of the required change in control filings were submitted to 28 state insurance departments in January. To date, we have received approval from a substantial number of states and more are expected to approve this summer. Several additional states have already held or scheduled hearings. The transaction is expected to close during the third quarter or the early part of the fourth quarter of 2018.

To assure a smooth and successful integration, the companies are working together closely under an Integration Management Office (IMO) led by senior executives of both companies. A steering committee comprised of the executive leadership from both CVS Health and Aetna has also been established to oversee the work of the IMO and provide guidance and strategic direction to integration leaders, while also participating in the decision-making processes.

The following is an excerpt from a conference call and webcast for the investment community held by CVS Health on August 8, 2018 and made available on CVS Health's website at:

Larry J. Merlo CVS Health Corporation - CEO & Director:

Now let me provide an update on how we are moving forward on the regulatory pathway and integration planning for our proposed Aetna acquisition. On the regulatory front, we continue to make excellent progress. Our highly experienced legal and government affairs teams are working hard, ensuring that we provide all the additional information requested by state regulators and the Department of Justice. To date, a substantial number of states have approved and more are expected to approve this summer. In fact, several additional states have already held or scheduled hearings. You should also keep in mind that, as a matter of practice, some states prefer to wait for the DOJ decision before finalizing their approval. And as a result, we expect that a number of approvals will occur shortly after receipt of DOJ approval. And while I won't provide details on our interactions, I can tell you that we are having productive discussions with regulators. Now some of you may have seen our recent report concerning potential divestitures. And while I won't comment on the specifics of that report, you should keep in mind that when we announced the transaction last December, we contemplated a range of possibilities in the limited Med D PDP area, in which both CVS and Aetna offer plans. And we determined the impact of any divestitures would not be material to the deal model. And with all of that said, we currently expect the transaction to close late Q3 or the early part of Q4.
