ITEM 8.01 OTHER ITEMS

On May 4, 2005, General Motors Acceptance Corporation (GMAC), a wholly owned subsidiary of General Motors Corporation (GM) issued a press release announcing the restructuring of its residential mortgage operations. A copy of the press release issued by GMAC follows:

GMAC CAPITALIZES NEW RESIDENTIAL MORTGAGE SUBSIDIARY;
ELECTS JACOB AND MELZER TO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

DETROIT - General Motors Acceptance Corporation (GMAC), the financial services subsidiary of General Motors Corporation (NYSE: GM), announced it has restructured its residential mortgage operations. GMAC transferred ownership of GMAC Mortgage Corporation and Residential Funding Corporation (GMAC-RFC) to Residential Capital Corporation (ResCap), its recently formed holding company, in a move to provide additional operational and financial flexibility and to enhance the liquidity of these operations. GMAC also contributed $2 billion of equity to ResCap in connection with this restructuring. The transaction had no cash impact on the entities involved, but did reduce ResCap's leverage ratio, as GMAC converted some of its inter-company debt to equity.

GMAC also announced new additions to the ResCap Board of Directors. Two independent directors have been named to the board, bringing the total number of ResCap directors to nine. They are Thomas Jacob, retired chairman and CEO of Chase Manhattan Mortgage Corporation, and Thomas Melzer, co-founder and managing director of RiverVest Venture Partners. Jacob was also appointed chairman of the Audit Committee of ResCap.

ResCap is seeking a stand-alone credit rating and expects to execute an operating agreement among itself, GM, and GMAC during the second quarter of 2005. The restructuring, separate capital structure, independent directors and other corporate governance arrangements are intended to facilitate enhanced liquidity and cost effectiveness of the financing of ResCap's mortgage operations. With separate liquidity and funding of ResCap, GMAC also benefits through reduced funding requirements for its residential mortgage operations.

ResCap is a wholly owned indirect subsidiary of GMAC and is separate from GMAC Commercial Mortgage Corporation. GM and GMAC have no intention of divesting, in whole or in part, their residential mortgage operations.

Thomas Jacob, 66, served as chairman and/or CEO of Chase Manhattan Mortgage Corporation (previously Chemical Mortgage Corporation), one of the largest real estate finance companies in the U.S., for the period between 1992 and 2002. Prior to that, he headed the Branch Banking and Credit Card businesses of Chemical Bank. Jacob has over 25 years of experience in banking, consumer credit, real estate finance and business integration. He received his M.B.A. from Columbia University, New York.

Thomas Melzer, 60, is co-founder and managing director of RiverVest Venture Partners in St. Louis. Prior to founding RiverVest, Melzer was president and CEO of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, where he directed its involvement in the formulation of monetary policy, the supervision of banks, and the provision of payments services to depository institutions. In addition, he served on the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC), the Federal Reserve System's chief monetary policymaking body. Before joining the Fed, Melzer was a managing director of Morgan Stanley & Co. Incorporated, where he spent 16 years. During his career, he was in corporate finance, real estate finance and investment, and eventually headed the U.S. Government Securities Department, overseeing the development of money market, financial futures and options groups. He received his M.B.A. and B.S. in electrical engineering from Stanford University.

Jacob and Melzer join the current board members: David M. Applegate, co-CEO of ResCap, Eric A. Feldstein, chairman of GMAC, Sanjiv Khattri, CFO of GMAC, Davee L. Olson, CFO of ResCap, Bruce J. Paradis, co-CEO of ResCap, David C. Walker, group vice president of GMAC, and Linda K. Zukauckas, corporate controller of GMAC.
