FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WALTER HEWLETT RELEASES REPORT
RELATING TO EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION

Palo Alto, CA, February 26, 2002 Walter B. Hewlett, on behalf of The William R. Hewlett Revocable Trust and its trustees, today is filing with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) a Report Relating to Executive Compensation in connection with the proposed HP/Compaq merger.

Mr. Hewlett has repeatedly attempted to persuade HP to disclose the compensation packages that were contemplated at the time the transaction was announced for HP CEO Carly Fiorina and Compaq CEO Michael Capellas. Despite these attempts, HP has repeatedly refused to disclose such packages.

The report shows that by failing to disclose important aspects of the written record, and repeatedly changing the compensation-related disclosures contained in its own proxy statement, HP is attempting to "hide the ball" with respect to compensation packages.

Mr. Hewlett strongly believes that the details of the compensation packages contemplated for Ms. Fiorina and Mr. Capellas are material to an investor's consideration of the proposed HP/Compaq merger, and that HP's stockholders deserve to know this information. Under the terms of the compensation packages that were contemplated, Ms. Fiorina and Mr. Capellas would have received compensation packages valued at more than $115 million.<sup>1</sup> This is far in excess of the $8 million and $14.4 million retention bonuses that Ms. Fiorina and Mr. Capellas voluntarily declined, which HP touted and the press widely reported as being done in order to avoid the appearance of conflict.<sup>2</sup>

In a recent article, Graef Crystal, a recognized executive compensation expert, noted that: "Fiorina and Capellas have, graciously it seems, exempted themselves from the goodies. But they and other senior executives will receive brand-new employment agreements, no doubt stuffed with delicious morsels of pay. According to Mr. Crystal, [Walter] Hewlett's right, of course. Designing employment agreements isn't exactly rocket science, and shareholders ought not to be kept in the dark about potentially vast post-merger costs. (Bloomberg, Hewlett-Packard, Compaq Pay for Claque: Graef Crystal, February 5, 2002, emphasis added) We agree.

<sup>1</sup> In evaluating the compensation packages for Ms. Fiorina and other senior executives of HP and Compaq, the compensation committee, including Mr. Hewlett, recognized that if the proposed merger were to occur, it would present enormous integration challenges that would require a significant commitment of time from, and the substantial efforts of, senior management. With the help of expert employee benefits consultants, the compensation committee attempted to develop compensation packages that would likely result in the necessary commitment from senior management.
