MicroStrategy Announces First Quarter 2001 Results

Company Reports Revenue of $51.4 Million and a Reduction in Pro Forma Net
Operating Loss of 33 Percent

VIENNA, Va., April 30, 2001 - MicroStrategy(R) Incorporated (NASDAQ: MSTR), a leading worldwide provider of business intelligence software, today announced results for the three month period ended March 31, 2001, which was the first quarter of its 2001 fiscal year.

The Company reported revenues for the first quarter of 2001 of $51.4 million compared to $50.6 million in the first quarter of 2000. The Company reported a pro forma net operating loss, which excludes certain charges, for the first quarter of 2001 of $23.7 million, or $0.29 per share. This compares with a pro forma net operating loss, also excluding certain charges, for the first quarter of 2000 of $35.4 million or $0.45 per share.

"MicroStrategy is pleased to announce a 33 percent improvement in our pro forma operating results, while posting an increase in revenue from the first quarter of last year during a turbulent time in the technology industry," said Michael J. Saylor, chairman and CEO of MicroStrategy Incorporated. Eric F. Brown, president and chief financial officer of MicroStrategy Incorporated, added, "We have successfully taken steps to restructure our business and improve our operating cost structure. The Q1 2001 results reflect continued improvement in this area."

Highlights for the first quarter 2001 include:

Edgar Filing: MICROSTRATEGY INC - Form 8-K

Added 79 new customers

New customers include: Charter Communications, Chubb & Son, Deutsche Boerse, Federal Election Commission, Ford, Quintiles, Rite Aid and Unisys.

Signed agreements with 21 OEM's and systems integrators

Agreements include: Informatica, Annuncio, Fujitsu, Razorfish, Helix, Acumen, Orizon, Watlett, Novara Comp, Integrated Systems Management, Mascon IT, Tata Infotech Limited, RSI, Great Lakes Technology, eJiva, Iconnix, Performance Retail, Inc. and Conchango.

Informatica incorporated the MicroStrategy 7(TM) business intelligence platform as the front-end presentation layer of its newly released Informatica eMarketplace analytic application. Informatica eMarketplace helps operators of B2B marketplaces provide buyers and suppliers with insight into market dynamics, customer buying patterns and pricing trends.

Announced the beta version of MicroStrategy 7.1(TM)

This new release broadens the MicroStrategy 7 business intelligence platform into the mainstream query and reporting market. It enhances the platform's open, non-proprietary interfaces to permit developers to easily embed MicroStrategy-enabled intelligence into any solution or application.

- Enhanced web query & reporting: MicroStrategy 7.1 offers a full range of Web-based interfaces specifically designed for query and reporting. Companies can choose the interface that best fits their needs from three levels of functionality, from basic report interaction to the most advanced analysis. In addition, MicroStrategy 7.1 supports DHTML technology for web interfaces that are not only lightweight and browser independent, but also as interactive and powerful as traditional desktop applications.
- OLAP Provider: This component of the MicroStrategy 7.1 platform provides standards for third party tools such as Cognos(R) PowerPlay(R), Microsoft(R) Excel 2000 and ODBO-compliant software from companies such as Business Objects(R) and Brio(R), to access the scalable MicroStrategy 7 business intelligence platform. Users preferring third-party interfaces may now access the more robust MicroStrategy engine to answer questions other BI vendor tools cannot.
- Project Builder: The new Project Builder feature facilitates rapid and easy deployment of the MicroStrategy platform through a three-step wizard-driven setup process. Business intelligence application developers can now get from install to report faster than any other comparable business intelligence solution on the market.
- MicroStrategy -SDK(TM) 7.1 Java(TM) edition: MicroStrategy unveiled support for Java programming and Unix platforms with the MicroStrategy SDK(TM) 7.1 Java(TM) edition. MicroStrategy's comprehensive development environment for the MicroStrategy 7(TM) business intelligence platform provides integrated application development on multiple platforms, such as Unix and NT. The SDK is designed to seamlessly integrate with IBM WebSphere(R) Application Server, IBM's e-business application deployment environment built on open-standards based technology.

Released MicroStrategy CRM Applications(TM)

MicroStrategy's CRM applications provide the analytical backbone for operational CRM systems by integrating data contained in customer-facing systems. Through pre-packaged analytics, advanced segmentation capabilities and easy-to-use analytical workflows, corporations can derive deep insight to understand customer profiles and preferences and identify patterns of customer behavior.

MicroStrategy 7 demonstrated outstanding scalability in IBM tests

MicroStrategy 7 demonstrated a level of user scalability that allows companies to analyze and disseminate critical information to extremely large numbers of employees and partners. Conducted at the IBM Solution Partnership Center, the scalability tests showed MicroStrategy 7 supported up to 400,000 total users and 1200 concurrent users, with less than 30 seconds average response time per report.

Launched new alliance program

MicroStrategy launched a new set of alliance programs that provide companies with more tools for achieving success selling MicroStrategy's software. The new programs support a wider range of companies, provide more aggressive discounts, easy access to software, dedicated resources and free training.

Finance Commentary

Eric F. Brown, president and chief financial officer of MicroStrategy Incorporated, made the following remarks regarding the Company's first quarter results. "Our operating results improved as a result of several initiatives that we put in place. We reduced operating expenses by approximately $5 million versus the fourth quarter of 2000."

Outlook and Financial Guidance Information

The following statements are subject to risks and uncertainties described at the end of this press release.

Management offers the following guidance for consolidated operations of MicroStrategy, including its Strategy.com subsidiary, for the quarter ending June 30, 2001:

Revenue is expected to be in the range of $44 to $49 million. Pro forma results of operations, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $11 to $15 million. Pro forma earnings per share, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $0.15 to $0.19 per share. The Company expects to take a charge of $15 to $25 million as a result of the restructuring initiatives that were announced earlier in April 2001.

Management offers the following guidance for the operations of core MicroStrategy, excluding its Strategy.com subsidiary, for the quarter ending June 30, 2001:

Revenue is expected to be in the range of $42 to $46 million. Pro forma results of operations, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $5 to $7 million. Pro forma earnings per share, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $0.07 to $0.09 per share.

Management offers the following guidance for the standalone operations of the Strategy.com subsidiary for the quarter ending June 30, 2001:

Edgar Filing: MICROSTRATEGY INC - Form 8-K

Revenue is expected to be in the range of $2 to $3 million. Pro forma results of operations, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $6 to $8 million. Pro forma earnings per share, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $0.08 to $0.10 per share.

Management offers the following guidance for the full year 2001:

Consolidated revenue is expected to be in the range of $175 to $195 million. Pro forma earnings per share, excluding special charges, are expected to be a loss of approximately $0.57 to $0.63 per share. The Company expects to bring the core business results to breakeven by the end of 2001. The Company also expects that by the fourth quarter of 2001, the Strategy.com subsidiary will contribute, on a quarterly basis, a loss of approximately $0.05 per share or less to the consolidated earnings per share results.

The attached summary of financial highlights compares the 2001 first quarter results to the same period last year.
