ALD | ARCC Merger Update

Allied Capital's Board of Directors intends to declare a special dividend of $0.20 per share on the date the merger is approved, payable to Allied Capital shareholders of record on that date.

The 0.325 exchange ratio would currently result in $4.61 per share of merger consideration,⁽¹⁾ as compared to $3.47 per share on the date of the announcement⁽²⁾ and Allied Capital's closing price on October 23, 2009 of $2.73 per share. Total value to Allied Capital shareholders if the merger is approved and closes would currently be $4.81 per share, including the $0.20 dividend.⁽¹⁾

Fellow Shareholders,

We are writing to ask you to vote to approve the merger between Allied Capital and Ares Capital. The expected benefits of the merger are summarized below.

Your vote is extremely important. Approval of the merger requires the affirmative vote of at least two-thirds of Allied Capital's outstanding shares of common stock. The majority of Allied Capital's approximately 180 million shares outstanding are held by individual investors. It is crucial that all of our shareholders participate in this vote, and we ask that you vote your shares.

A proxy statement detailing the merger as well as a proxy supplement have been mailed to all shareholders of record and are available on our website at www.alliedcapital.com. Voting instructions are detailed on the last page of this letter. Every vote counts, no matter how many shares you own, and we ask that you contribute to this important decision.

The Special Stockholders' Meeting will take place on March 26, 2010. If approved, we expect the merger to close around the end of the first quarter.

We Believe Ares Capital is a Strong Partner

We believe Allied Capital shareholders will benefit from a combination with Ares Capital. The combined company will benefit from a well-capitalized balance sheet, access to capital for growth, an excellent middle market investment origination team and a proven asset management platform. Through this transaction we expect to create a company that is well-positioned for future growth in a market that presents attractive investment opportunities.

We believe the benefits of the merger with Ares Capital include:

Resumption of Dividend Payments. We believe our shareholders will benefit from the potential to receive dividend payments by taking advantage of Ares Capital's dividend, which has been consistently paid on a quarterly basis since its inception and in an amount of at least $0.35 per share since April 2006.

Improved Access to the Debt Capital Markets. We anticipate that the combined company will be able to access debt capital at a lower cost and with better terms than are available to Allied Capital on a stand-alone basis. Ares Capital currently has an investment grade rating from both Standard & Poor's and Fitch Ratings and recently renewed and expanded the total commitments under its credit facilities.

Improved Access to the Equity Capital Markets. Since the announcement of the merger agreement, Ares Capital's trading price has generally exceeded its net asset value per share and it has raised approximately $278 million in net proceeds from new equity above its net asset value. We believe the combined company should enjoy similar access to capital to facilitate its growth.

Increased Portfolio Diversity. The merger will increase portfolio diversity for the combined company.

Strategic and Business Considerations. Because Allied Capital's shareholders will be shareholders of Ares Capital following the merger, Allied Capital shareholders will benefit from the experience of Ares Capital's investment adviser and participate in any future growth of Ares Capital. Ares Capital is managed by Ares Management, an asset manager with approximately $33 billion of committed capital under management as of December 31, 2009 and a solid performance history.

Increased Liquidity and Flexibility. The merger would reduce the need to sell assets to retire debt and increase asset coverage. Allied Capital currently has limited liquidity, which has required and would continue to require it to sell assets. Sales of income producing assets could further reduce Allied Capital's earnings and future dividend potential.

Value Creation. The 0.325 exchange ratio would currently result in $4.61 per share of merger consideration,⁽¹⁾ as compared to $3.47 per share on the date of the announcement⁽²⁾ and Allied Capital's closing price on October 23, 2009 of $2.73 per share. Total value to Allied Capital shareholders if the merger is approved and closes would currently be $4.81 per share, including the $0.20 dividend.⁽¹⁾ We are hopeful that the combined company's growth prospects will continue to be reflected in increased value to shareholders over time.

In summary, we believe this transaction will create a stronger company that is well positioned for future growth in a market that presents excellent investment opportunities.

How to Vote Your Shares

For the merger to be approved, an affirmative vote is required from at least two-thirds of Allied Capital outstanding shares.
